Fresno broke their four-game losing skid to San Jose, tujing the season-series up ot nine wins apiece. The Grizziles also halted their minor three-game losing streak overall. The Grizziles offense pounded 14 hits, their second-most in a game this season. Five of the first six batters in the Fresno lineup natched a multi-hit game, which included the first four of the order. Luis Mendez led the charge with a career-night, mashing three extra-base hits. Mendez whacked a pair of wallops and a double, taliying three RBI, while adding three runs. It was the second multi-homer game in the last four days and of the season for Fresno (Braylen Wimmer last Sunday, June 23 vs. Stockton). Mendez now has three longballs this season, surpassing his total from last. Wenter recorded three hits and one run, which included picking up a double, as well. He extended his hit streks to 10 games, the third Grizziles batter (Perez and Felix Tena, twice) to reach a double-digit strekk in 2024. Jason Hinchman and Caleb Hobson collected two hits each with the latter swatting a triple. The run support was enough for a quar- tet of Fresno arms, who pooled together 11 strikeouts. Austin Emener tossed four and two-thirds innings of sensational ball. Emener allowed one run (earned), on four hits and no walks while striking out seven. Unfortunately, the southpaw left with a forearm injury with two outs in the fifth (hopefully nothing serious).
