Springfield Clinches First-Half Crown for Second Consecutive Season

The Springfield Cardinals are headed back to the Texas League Playoffs after securing First-Half North Division Champions on Thursday, June 19 at Hammons Field. The Cardinals took down the Corpus Christi Hooks in a 7-1 victory, guaranteeing that playoff baseball returns to the Ozarks for the third consecutive season. Springfield has now won the first-half title in back-to-back years.

Springfield handled business in the victory. Joshua Baez launched two home runs in the game. It was his third two-homer game this season, his second with Springfield. Pete Hansen tossed six innings of one-run baseball. He struck out six batters en route to his fourth win.

After the game, the Cardinals celebrated inside the Bill Rowe Training Facility beyond the right field fence. Third-year Cardinal Noah Mendlinger led the celebration with his teammates, bringing a pair of goggles to shield his eyes from the sparkling cider sprayed through the air. First-year Springfield Manager Patrick Anderson couldn't escape two ice water baths from his players. The Birds danced the night away, celebrating a hard-fought first-half title that didn't come without adversity. At one point, the team had dropped ten of thirteen games in the second half of April before exploding in May and June.

Thanks to their efforts, the Cardinals will host games two Thursday, September 18 and three (if necessary) Friday, September 19 of the North Division Championship round. Should they advance, they would host game one Sunday, September 21 of the Texas League Championship. Three-game playoff packs are available for fans to purchase on SpringfieldCardinals.com.

Cardinals Make Strange History in Franchise's First Nine-Inning No-Hitter

Mark it down: June 20, 2025, the Springfield Cardinals no hit the Corpus Christi Hooks at Hammons Field in a 1-0 victory. Tink Hence, Zane Mills, Austin Love and Sean Harney completed the feat as a unit on that Friday night. But what's the strange history? It occurred exactly one year to the day that the day the Cardinals threw the first-ever no-hitter (seven innings) in franchise history. Against the exact same opponent as well (June 20, 2024 at Corpus Christi).

"It's hard to put into words. I just wanted to come out and do what I could do," Hence expressed in a postgame interview. The fourth-ranked prospect in the St. Louis system threw 4.1 innings while striking out eight batters on 66 pitches. The righty had been working his way back from a rib injury, which he sustained at the end of Spring Training. He's anticipated to pitch for Triple-A Memphis when he's fully healthy and stretched out. June 20th happened to be Hence's first start back with Springfield after winning Texas League Pitcher of the Year in 2024.

"The guys behind me: Mills comes in and shuts them down, Sean [Harney], Love, it was an all-around job," Hence continued. "From defense, we end up scratching one, and tonight it was all we needed."

The Cardinals pitching staff struck out a combined 13 Hooks in the game. Mills made clean work in 2.2 innings, Love pitched a perfect eighth while Harney gathered the final three outs and started the party in the center of the infield. The only Springfield run scored on an infield single from Darlin Moquete in the bottom of the fifth inning.

It was a Thursday night in South Texas when the Cardinals made history in 2024. Cooper Hjerpe fired five innings, followed by Andrew Marrero's two that completed the first no-hitter in team history. It was game one of a doubleheader that the Cardinals won 5-0. They would end up sweeping the doubleheader and clinching the first half divisional crown that Sunday.

According to Minor League Baseball, the same Major League team has never thrown a no-hitter on the same calendar day in back-to-back years in MLB history.

It ended up being an eventful ending to the longest homestand of the year. The Cardinals had clinched a playoff spot with a victory on Thursday night, threw the no-hitter on Friday, then came back and threw a one-hitter on Sunday led by Hancel Rincon's career-best 11 strikeouts. All told, Springfield won 11 of 12 games over the Tulsa Drillers and Corpus Christi Hooks, one of the most successful homestands in franchise history. Picking a standout moment? Near impossible. Maybe if you asked the 22-year-old Hence he might have an answer.

"A no-hitter? It's just unbelievable."
