TRIO OF YOUNG ARMS LEADING EARLY SEASON PITCHING SUCCESS

3 RIGHT-HANDED STARTERS DOMINATING OUTINGS TO START THE YEAR

As the GreenJackets slowly knock the rust off at the beginning of the 2024 season, it's been the pitching that has been head and shoulders above the rest. Augusta's starters have kept the team in the game regardless of the opponent, while the bullpen has been sharp more often than not and locked up the back end.

The rotation, despite matching up with top offenses such as the league-leading Carolina Mudcats, have dimmed the opposing stars at every opportunity. As a pitching staff, the GreenJackets are second in the Carolina League in ERA, with a mark of 3.05. They have allowed less than five runs in 12 of their first 13 games, and the three-headed monster at the top of the rotation is the catalyst.

The triumvirate of Garrett Baumann, Adam Maier, and Cade Kuehler have been dynamic through their first seven combined starts. The three righties were the most intriguing arms in a young stable on Augusta's Opening Day roster, and they have been more than up to the task. So far, the trio is a combined 3-1 with an ERA of 1.04. The GreenJackets are 5-2 in games where they get a start from one of the aforementioned.

What makes the numbers that much more impressive is the lack of professional experience from those finding the most success. Garrett Baumann and Cade Kuehler had a combined three games and nine innings of professional experience after they were drafted in the 4th and 2nd rounds respectively of the 2023 Draft. Adam Maier had not thrown a competitive pitch in two years when he took the ball on Opening Weekend, but looks as though he's never missed a beat.

Kuehler has the only losing decision of the three righties, but it came in a game where he did not allow an earned run. Kuehler has now thrown seventeen professional innings, and his ERA remains at a perfect 0.00. The 70th overall pick out of Campbell has dazzled against both righties and lefties, and seems in line for a promotion soon.

Baumann drew the Opening Day nod on the mound and has rewarded the organization's faith in him by posting three respectable starts, with opponents hitting just .113 against him. Still just 19 years old, Baumann set career highs in his most recent home appearance against Carolina with 6 scoreless innings and 7 strikeouts.

Maier, the elder statesmen of the group, was drafted in the 7th round back in 2022 after needing Tommy John surgery. Now healthy and with something to prove, he's 1-0 in two early starts, allowing 2 earned runs in 9 innings, both of which came in his first frame of the year.

The nature of Minor League Baseball means all of these powerful arms are unlikely to remain in Augusta long-term. That being said, their early season success and contributions can't be overstated, and will serve as a strong foundation for the rest of the year.
