TODAY'S HEADLINES

That Was Last Night - The Saints made a late charge to battle back from down three runs in the eighth inning to force extras against Indianapolis last night. Jimmy Kerrigan hit a game-tying, two-run homer in the bottom of the eighth, and then made a game-saving catch on a dive in right field to keep the game tied, but Kevin Kramer hit a two-run homer with two outs in the 10th to put the game out of reach.

Today's Game - The Saints have yet to lose three straight games this season, and will need to win the next two to split the series. The Saints will march Jhoan Duran out to the mound to make his Triple-A debut. Duran is currently ranked the fifth-best prospect in the Twins system by MLB.com.

Keeping it in the Park - Despite a team ERA of 4.65, the Saints have not been damaged by round-trippers. St. Paul's pitching staff has given up just nine homers, which is the second-best mark in all of Triple-A, and top in the Triple-A East.

Saints Dig the Long Ball - The Saints' offense has come in bunches through 15 games this season, because nearly half of it has come from home runs. Of the 58 runs that St. Paul has scored this season, 24 (41%) of them have been accounted for by home runs. Brent Rooker and Ryan Jeffers are tied for the team lead in homers.

No Save is Safe - Danny Coulombe recorded the first save of the season for the Saints on May 14th, in the tenth game of the year. The first nine games of the season for St. Paul did not see a save recorded by either team. That is the longest such streak for the Twins' Triple-A affiliate since at least the 2005 season, as far back as minor league stats are available. It still stands as the only save recorded in any game the Saints have played in this season.

Rooker's Good Reads - OF Brent Rooker is currently the league leader in walks in the Triple-A East, drawing 17 this season. He's gotten on base in 13 of the last 14 games, with a on-base percentage of .407 in that stretch. Rooker has two games with three walks this season.

Trying to get them over and in- The Saints batters this year have had some issues stringing hits together through the first week of the season. When there are runners on base, St. Paul is batting .185 so far, while their opponents are hitting .264 with men on.

Roster Notes - The Minnesota Twins optioned C Ben Rortvedt and RHP Bailey Ober back to the Saints on Friday.

Twins Update - The Twins got six shutout innings from Randy Dobnak, fresh off his recall from St. Paul. Minnesota's offense exploded for 10 runs against Cleveland last night, putting up nine runs in the fourth inning. Alex Kirilloff also picked up two hits in his return from his rehab assignment.
