

Road to the Show

Player Development Facility

Producing future big league players is the primary goal of every Minor League Baseball club, including the RockHounds.

Our Player Development Facility ... with indoor batting cages, weight room & training area ... is located on the first base / right field concourse.

The front of the facility features a mural celebrating some of our most notable alumni who have reached the Major Leagues.

The facility ... and it's accompanying artwork ... are in a high traffic area of the ballpark, with the sponsor logo in the center of the mural.

The sponsorship space on the sign is 3½ feet high x 12 feet wide
(Approximate size, shown, above & below, as Midland Health)

"Road to the Show"
Player Development Facility
$8,500 per season

Jacob Wilson

Two of the latest RockHounds alums to reach The Show are also two of the top American League Rookies in 2025:

Jacob Wilson and Nick Kurtz (the odds-on favorite to win the AL Rookie of the Year Award) both played here in 2024.

Nick Kurtz

