LAST GAME

The Baysox fell back into the loss column on Saturday night, dropping the fifth game of their series with Hartford 4-3. Each side relied on home runs early, as Hartford used three solo home runs, including two by Ezequiel Tovar, while Bowie got their offense from a two-run home run by Maverick Handley, and a solo shot to center field by Shayne Fontana. Garret Stallings spun six innings in a quality start, striking out seven batters and not surrendering any walks. Hartford broke the 3-3 tie in the eighth inning by capitalizing on one of three Bowie errors, scoring an unearned run the proved to be the difference maker.

TODAY'S OPPONENT

Hartford and Bowie have settled to some very similar numbers over the first six weeks of the season. Entering the series, both teams have scored exactly 155 runs, while Bowie does have a slightly higher ERA, compared to Hartford's 4.40. Hartford has relied plenty on their speed, as they lead the league with 62 stolen bases, despite only having two players with double-digit steals so far this year. Hartford has had to coast on their early offense this season, as their starting pitchers have the third-highest ERA in the league, while their bullpen arms have the second-lowest ERA in the league.

TODAY'S OPPOSING STARTER

Right-hander Noah Davis, a top Rockies prospect and member of the Colorado 40-man roster, had been off to a tough start to the season, but spun seven strong innings against Bowie in the first game of this series. While he did go 3-1 with a 3.60 ERA in six starts with Hartford at the tail end of 2021, his seven starts in 2022 have lead to an 1-3 record with a 6.89 ERA. While he has allowed multiple home runs in three separate starts, including two to Gunnar Henderson on Tuesday, the issue for Davis has been in the walks in the past. Over his last three starts, Davis has walked 12 batters, while striking out only 11. Traded to Colorado from Cincinnati, Davis features a mid-90s fastball, a high-80s slider, as well as a curveball and a changeup.

SUGAR SHAYNE

Bowie outfielder Shayne Fontana has broken through for consistent contact at the plate after a slow start to 2022. While Fontana did open the year on an 0-for-11 stretch, things turned around halfway through April. Since April 17th, Fontana is hitting 25-for-74 (.338) at the plate with three doubles, four home runs, 13 RBI, and 16 runs scored. Over the span, Fontana has drawn 16 walks, and only struck out 20 times. In a span from 5/10-5/20, Fontana drew a walk in 10-consecutive games, the longest streak in the Eastern League, and tied for the longest streak in all of baseball.

SLIM MARGINS

Bowie had an early handle on one-run games this season, as they opened the season at an even 3-3 in games decided by one run. However, since the start of their first full series in May, the Baysox have been on the wrong end of six-of-seven one-run games. Bowie is 4-9 in one run games in total, the lowest winning percentage in the Eastern League, while tied for the third most games decided by one run in the league this season.

POWER PACKED

Bowie has been relying on their home runs recently. In their last seven games, Bowie has scored 15 of their 29 runs on home runs. Bowie has scored about 35% of their runs on home runs this season, sitting in the middle of the league.

THE UPPER HALL

Following a stint on the Injured List that lasted just over two weeks, outfielder Adam Hall has returned to his normal spot at the top of the Baysox lineup. After batting sixth on Opening Day, Hall took over the top spot of the lineup, and lead the Eastern League with eight hits at the start of an inning before he hit the IL. Hall is ranked as the Orioles #28 prospect entering the 2022 season according to MLB Pipeline, #27 according to Baseball America. Also listed as the fastest baserunner in the organization by Baseball America.

QUICK HITS

TODAY'S STARTING PITCHER- Ryan Watson allowed a career-high nine hits and six runs in previous start to open this series. See Page 2 for more.

Player Notes

Fired a perfect seventh inning to finish the 11th No-Hitter in Baysox history on 5/8 against Harrisburg to open a doubleheader. Worked two flyouts and a groundout in relief of Garrett Stallings. // Took a blown save, but earned the Baysox first win of the season in their third game, thanks in part to a six-run seventh inning for Bowie. // In 2021, appeared in eight games for Bowie, and 22 games for Aberdeen. // His 30 appearances in 2021 were the seventh-most in the Orioles organization. // Prime numbers came after his promotion to Bowie, as he only allowed runs in one of his eight outings, and collected 12 strikeouts against no walks over his last six appearances. // Spent his freshman year at Wake Forest in the bullpen, but transitioned to a starting role for his sophomore and junior seasons before being drafted.

Player Notes

Began the season with High-A Aberdeen, appearing in seven games. He allowed five earned runs in 7.1 innings (6.14 ERA), struck out eight and walked five. // Baltimore is the third Major League organization that he has been part of. Was originally signed as an undrafted free agent from Washington College by the Texas Rangers in 2017. Cincinnati claimed him off of waivers in December of 2020. Was released after the end of the 2021 season, and signed by Baltimore. // His first dance with Double-A batting was not memorable. Player Notes

Missed three games after being hit by a pitch early in Bowie's 4-3 win at Binghamton on 4/13. Returned on 4/19 to go 3-for-5 at the plate against Akron with a career-high six RBI and a grand slam, his fourth home run, and the first grand slam of the season for the Baysox. // After the first weekend of the season, Haskin led all of Minor League Baseball with a slugging percentage of 1.583, thanks to a career-high three doubles on Opening Day, and a historic three home run day on the third day of the season. // Haskin's three home runs were just the sixth time in franchise history that a Baysox player collected three home runs in a game, and the first since Tucker Nathans on 5/13/17. // Haskin joked that the meal he had with infielder Gunnar Henderson at Olive Garden the night before was the lone difference in his usual routine, mentioning they shared a cheesecake. // Ranked as the Orioles #16 prospect entering the 2022 season according to MLB Pipeline, #22 according to Baseball America. // Named the Orioles Organization All-Star in the outfield by MLB.com for his 2021 season. // Did not get to see the full season due to a thumb fracture in late August. // Played 26 games at Aberdeen, 57 at Delmarva. // Despite only playing 83 games, his 22 steals were good for fifth-most in the organization while his .381 OBP was fourth-best among qualified hitters. // Split his power over the two halves of his season. He hit all five of his home runs in his first 41 games of the season, and none in the remaining 42 games, including his entire stint with Aberdeen. // Previously drafted by Oakland in the 2018 draft out of high school, but elected not to sign. // Graduated from Avon Old Farms School, a notable all-male boarding school in Connecticut with many notable alumni, including 2017 World Series MVP George Springer, World Series-winning pitching coach Juan Nieves, and Hockey Hall of Famer and Stanley Cup Champion Brian Leetch. // Broke Springer's school record for stolen bases at Avon Old Farms. // Swing draws comparisons to Hunter Pence, but eliminated a leg kick from his swing that was used throughout his time at Tulane.

Moore signed as a non-drafted free agent with the Orioles in 2010 after playing collegiately at the University of Alabama. As a high schooler, he starred at Edgewood Academy (AL), where he won three AISA state baseball championships. Kyle, his wife Whitney and their daughter Madilyn reside in Sarasota, FL.
