A large white outline of a baseball diamond is centered on the page. The diamond has four bases marked with small white diamonds. In the center of the diamond is a circle containing a horizontal line. At the bottom of the diamond, where the pitcher's mound would be, is a circle containing three rectangles and a small inverted triangle. The diamond is divided into four quadrants by lines extending from the center to the bases. Each quadrant contains two horizontal lines for text: 'BOOK TITLE' and 'GUARDIAN SIGNATURE'. The top-left and top-right quadrants are for the first book, the bottom-left and bottom-right for the second book.
