ON THE MEND: Three of the four Major League rehabbers currently on the Sounds roster all got work during the doubleheader for Nashville on Wednesday night. DL Hall struck out a season-high six over his three relief innings of Brandon Woodruff in game one. Through his first two rehab appearances with the Sounds, Hall has pitched 5.2 IP and allowed three hits, has seven strikeouts, and four walks. He earned his first win since game two of a doubleheader on August 30, 2024, with the Brewers on the road in Cincinnati. Making his seventh rehab start (fifth with Nashville), Brandon Woodruff worked four scoreless innings while tossing 59 pitches. He's got a 2.25 ERA through his five starts with Nashville and has 21 strikeouts in 20.0 IP. After his four scoreless, he has not allowed more than three earned in any of his rehab starts this season. Aaron Ashby worked a scoreless inning in game two. Through four games with Nashville during his rehab stint, Ashby has posted a 1.50 ERA, allowing one run in his first appearance before three straight scoreless outings.

THROUGH THE QUAD: Jimmy Herron was one of two Nashville players (Adam Hall) to have a hit in both games against the RailRiders on Wednesday night, finishing the day 2-for-6 with a RBI. Herron's six-game hitting streak is the second-longest active streak by a Sounds player behind Anthony Seigler (12 G) and the new season-high for Herron who had a five-game hitting streak earlier in the season. Over his last six games, Herron is hitting .300 (6-for-20) with a home run, double, four RBI, two walks, five runs, and has just one strikeout.

BLANK CHECK: The 3-0 shutout of the RailRiders in game one was the seventh shutout win of the season for Nashville. The Sounds have the most shutouts in Triple-A and are tied for second in the minors along with High-A Quad Cities (Kansas City). Double-A Erie (Pittsburgh) has the most shutouts by a minor league team on the season with eight. In four total doubleheaders that the Sounds have played this year, the 3-0 shutout in game one was their third shutout win to start a twinbill.

FIVE OR LESS: Both games saw the two teams held to five or fewer hits. Despite the two wins, Nashville was out-hit in both games by the RailRiders who finished with 10 total hits compared to the seven hits for Nashville. The Sounds improved to 9-15 on the season when being out-hit by their opponent. It was the ninth and 10th times this season in which Nashville and their opponent had five or fewer hits in the same game. After losing the first three games when that happened, the Sounds have now won each of their last seven pitching duels.

YARD WORK: Jorge Alfaro swatted his ninth home run of the season and his second in his last three games played. He now sits tied for fifth in the International League with his nine round trippers and leads the club with 26 RBI. Alfaro's nine home runs add to the most he has ever hit in a Triple-A season and are tied for the most home runs he has had in a season overall since 2019. He also had nine in 2022 when he hit seven with the San Diego Padres (82 G) and two with Triple-A El Paso (4 G). Wednesday's solo shot was his 96th career minor league home run in his 757th game (incl. Postseason) and his 144th career home run including his big-league service time.

MR. 300: Jacob Misorowski picked up his 300th career strikeout to start off his night in game two against the RailRiders. He finished with four total to get to 303 through his first 65 games as a professional and owns a 12.3 K/9 for his career. Since making his debut Misorowski's 303 strikeouts rank third in the Brewers farm system behind Carlos Rodriguez (465) and Alexander Cornielle (370) but ranks 10th in the Brewers farm system in IP over the same span (222.2). Rodriguez (411.0 IP) and Cornielle (349.2) are 1-2 in IP for the Brewers since Misorowski made his debut. Misorowski leads all Triple-A in strikeouts with 63 on the season and owns the best ERA among qualified arms at 1.55 despite seeing it rise after his one earned run allowed on Wednesday.

ANOTHA ONE: Craig Yoho (12 G) and Tyler Jay (11 G) each extended their current stretch without allowing an earned run in game two of the doubleheader on Wednesday night. Yoho is one behind Durham's Joey Gerber for the longest active streak in the IL while Jay is tied with Charlotte's Dan Altavilla for the third-longest streak going. Yoho continues his domination over Triple-A hitters, having not allowed an earned run in 20 straight games with Nashville dating back to August 29, 2024. Jay collected his seventh hold of the year to lead all Triple-A pitchers.
