William H. Shea, Jr.
Majority Owner/Managing Partner

William H. Shea, Jr., better known as Bill, is the majority owner of the Lexington Legends, the Single-A affiliate of the Houston Astros, and is managing partner of the Omaha Storm Chasers, the Triple-A affiliate of the Kansas City Royals.

Shea has been a baseball fan for many years, spending his family vacations touring major and minor league parks throughout the country. In 2005, he entered the sports entertainment industry when he became the majority owner of the Lexington Legends, then-Applebee's Park and the Southwest Michigan Devil Rays. With his history of enhancing profitable franchises in strategic geographic locations, Bill envisions similar results in minor league sports - continuing to grow the company while maintaining the appropriate risk profile that investors desire.

Outside of baseball, Shea is the CEO of Penn Virginia Resource Partners, L.P. (PVR) and Penn Virginia GP Holdings L.P. (PVG) , both NYSE listed public companies. PVG is the General Partner of PVR. PVR is a coal royalty and natural gas midstream business with coal royalty interests in Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Illinois and New Mexico. The natural gas midstream business is based in Dallas, TX with operations in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Pennsylvania.

In addition, he serves on the Board of Trustees of the Franklin Institute and the Philadelphia Free Library. He is also a director of the Kayne Anderson MLP Income Fund (KYN), Kayne Anderson Total Energy Return Fund (KYE), Niska Gas Storage Partners (NKA) and Gibson Energy LLC.

Shea currently lives in the suburbs of Philadelphia, Pa.

2011 YEAR in REVIEW

Omaha Chases Down PCL Crown

2011 campaign dotted by team, individual and organizational success stories

by Mike Feigen

Rarely in sports do things go according to plan. Decisions are made, battles are waged, and teams overcome adversity (or don't). For the 2011 Omaha Storm Chasers, a "perfect storm" of a season unfolded, one that won't be forgotten for a long, long time.

Before the season even began, there was the rebranding of the franchise and the move to brand-new Werner Park. Both changes, while met with initial skepticism, would be recognized with resounding applause by season's end. The new moniker and logos became some of the most widely-recognized and widely-sought after in all of Minor League Baseball, while Werner Park became an industry gold-standard for medium-sized, family-friendly ballparks.

On the field, the Chasers evolved from a collection of hot-shot prospects to a close-knit team that brought home the Pacific Coast League Championship, the franchise's first league title since 1990. Nine young stars made the leap to the Kansas City Royals during the season, including middle-of-the-order bats Eric Hosmer, Mike Moustakas and Johnny Giavotella. Still, the team grew closer together, led by a veteran manager in Mike Jirschele - who won his 1,000th game as a manager on May 23 - and his coaching staff of pitching coach Doug Henry and hitting coach Tommy Gregg.

The team won 85 games in all, 79 in the regular season and six in the postseason. The Chasers held off the hard-charging Memphis Redbirds to win the division, knocked off the Round Rock Express in the first round of the PCL playoffs and swept the Sacramento River Cats in the PCL Championship. It was the first playoff series sweep in franchise history.

Eric Hosmer became an instant star for the Storm Chasers, hitting .439 in just 26 Triple-A games.

Along the way there were memorable moments, from the Opening Night victory on April 16 over Nashville to the near-no hitter by Luis Mendoza to the clutch walk-off home runs by Kila Ka'aihue. There was the early-season dominance of Louis Coleman, the unbridled speed of Jarrod Dyson, the big bat of Clint Robinson and the veteran presence of Jeff Suppan. To a man, every player on the roster contributed to the title, whether it was a star-turning performance by Danny Duffy in April, a cycle with seven RBI by Lorenzo Cain in May or clutch hitting by Manny Pina and Lance Zawadzki in September.

With great success on the field came a procession of individual accolades as well. Mendoza was honored as a PCL mid-season All-Star, a post-season PCL All-Star, PCL Pitcher of the Year and PCL Playoff MVP. Giavotella also received honors as mid-season and post-season All-Star and won the PCL Player of the Month for June. Robinson was a mid-season and post-season All-Star and was August's Player of the Month. Duffy and Mendoza were each given Pitcher of the Week awards as well.

Omaha's brilliant play was also recognized by the parent club in Kansas City. The Royals honored Giavotella and Mendoza with its Omaha Hitter and Pitcher of the Year and Giavotella with its George Brett Minor League Hitter of the Year Award. Reliever Kelvin Herrera won the Kansas City organization's Paul Splittorff Minor League Pitcher of the Year, then made his Major League debut September 21 after successfully closing out the PCL Championship Series.

The awards were not limited to the on-field performers. Storm Chasers Vice President and General Manager Martie Cordaro was voted the PCL Executive of the Year by his peers, and, along with Storm Chasers President Alan Stein, was named the national baseball Co-Executive of the Year by Ballpark Digest. Cordaro and Stein's leadership helped bring 425,742 fans through the Werner Park turnstiles this season, including the 12 millionth fan since the franchise began play in 1969.

The 12 millionth fan in franchise history was honored with a Storm Chasers jersey, prize pack and season tickets for the 2012 season.

After the season concluded, Jirschele was given Minor League Baseball's highest honor for a coach, the fourth-annual Mike Coolbaugh award. Named for the former player and coach who was killed by a line drive while coaching first base in 2007, the Coolbaugh award is given to an individual who has shown an outstanding baseball work ethic, knowledge of the game and skill in mentoring young players on the field. The award had even greater meaning for Jirschele, who served as Coolbaugh's final manager during the 2006 season in Omaha.

It was the final capstone on a season for the record books, one that solidified the Storm Chasers as the most successful Minor League Baseball team in the entire country in 2011. Jirschele, Cordaro and the rest of the Storm Chasers organization can only hope another "perfect storm" is in store for us all in 2012.

Mike Jirschele accepts a framed 1,000th win jersey from President/General Manager Martie Cordaro on May 23 following the Chasers' victory over Tucson.

Behind the Scenes: An Insiders Look at the Making of the Storm Chaser's 2011 Pacific Coast League Championship Rings.

It was something that had been on the minds of both players and front office personnel alike. Once the final out was made in Sacramento against the River Cats in game three of Pacific Coast League Championship Series, it was all anyone could think about it; the satisfaction of earning a championship ring.

So with the championship won, the Storm Chasers reached out to Borsheims Fine Jewelry and Gifts and their partner, the Insignia Collection, to commemorate the 2011 season with special PCL Championship Rings.

"We were privileged to share in this special moment for the Storm Chasers," said Sue Otto, who works in Corporate Sales for Borsheims. "We wanted to treat this opportunity with the respect and importance that it deserved."

So in January, the order was placed. The Storm Chasers needed 150 rings and 10 ladies' pendants. Over 220 molds, that help shape the ring and its design were created, thanks to Insignia Design who ran two mills non-stop for nearly three weeks.

Each ring and pendant was constructed with 1.3 ounces of sterling silver and features 42 stones that were hand-set into each ring and pendant. After setting stones for all 160 pieces of jewelry, that adds up to a total of 6,720 hand-set stones!

A typical order of this size normally takes eight months to complete but thanks to the hard work of Borsheims Fine Jewelry and Gifts and Insignia Collection, the rings and pendants were finished in just 12 weeks.
