INDY BITS

ABOUT YESTERDAY: Cam Allred impressed with four one-run innings in his fourth spot-start of 2023, but the Indianapolis Indians could not overcome three late-inning runs by the Toledo Mud Hens in a Thursday night loss at Victory Field, 4-1. The Mud Hens took an early lead in the second inning via an RBI single off the bat of nine-hitter Jermaine Palacios. The advantage didn't last long, however, and Indianapolis tied the game with an RBI single by Jared Triolo in the third. A two-out double by Palacios in the seventh inning marked Toledo's first extra-base hit of the game and resulted in the go-ahead run crossing home plate against John O'Reilly. Two pitches later, Justyn-Henry Malloy drove him in with a line-drive single to center field. The Mud Hens then tacked on two more runs via a Michael Papiersji two-run double in the eighth.

RIBBIES FOR TRIOLO: Jared Triolo has driven in a run in each of his last three games. Since May 24, he has hit safely in seven of eight games and is hitting .357 (10-for-28) with eight runs, two doubles, six RBI, nine walks and .514 on-base percentage. During this span, he's improved his season average .194 to .266. The 25-year-old is currently rated Pittsburgh's No. 15 prospect by Baseball America. He was selected by Pittsburgh in the second round (72nd overall) of the 2019 First-Year Player Draft out of the University of Houston.

SPOT-START SPECIALIST: Southpaw Cam Allred made his fourth spot start of the season last night, tossing 4.0 one-run innings. He has been most effective in his role the Indians go-to spot starter this season. In his four starts, he owns a 3.00 ERA (5er/15.0ip) with 17 strikeouts, 1.13 WHIP and .170 average against. He has two starts where he punched out a career-high six batters this season. In eight relief appearances, he's allowed seven runs in 12.2 innings with 12 strikeouts, 1.66 WHIP and .308 average against. Allred was a key piece to Indianapolis' bullpen last season, he had a 4.07 ERA (30er/66.1ip) in 42 appearances. Pittsburgh selected his contract on May 11, 2022 and made his major league debut the following night vs. Cincinnati, pitching a scoreless frame.

ENDY IS HEATING UP: Switch-hitting catcher Endy Rodríguez is starting to heat up, as he is 6-for-13 with four runs, a triple, RBI and two walks in three games this week. After finishing last week 0-for-21, he bounced back with his first four-hit performance in Triple-A on Monday night. It was his first four-plus hit performance since tallying a career-high five on Aug. 3, 2022, with High-A Greensboro at Bowling Green. He is hitting .266 (17-for-64) with a double, three triples, three home runs, eight RBI and .840 OPS in 15 games at Victory Field this season.

MIGGY CAN'T BE STOPPED: Miguel Andújar is riding a seven-game hitting streak with Indy since being outrighted by Pittsburgh on May 22. Last night, he tallied four hits, tying his career high for the first time since May 6, 2021 with Triple-A Scranton Wilkes-Barre at Syracuse. He has registered five multi-hit games during this span. During his seven games since returning to Indy, he is 14-for-32 with seven runs scored, three doubles, two home runs and seven RBI. In 30 games with Indy, he is hitting .325 (39-for-120) with 18 runs, 11 doubles, a triple, five homers and 22 RBI.

SHACK NAMED MAY POTM: The Indianapolis Indians today named infielder Aaron Shackelford as their May Player of the Month after he led the team in home runs, slugging percentage and OPS and tied for the lead in extra-base hits in 22 games. Shackelford, 26, boasted a .416 on-base percentage in May while reaching base safely in 18 of his 22 games. He belted seven home runs, tied for the eighth-most in a single month by an Indians batter since 2005, and currently leads the team with eight dingers this season. His month featured a torrid stretch in Columbus where he hit four home runs in three games from May 25-27, highlighted by his third career two-homer game. He also ranked among International League qualifiers in May in both slugging percentage (.8th, .653) and OPS (9th, 1.069).

TONIGHT: The Indians and Mud Hens will continue their six-game set at Victory Field tonight at 7:05 PM ET. Toledo snapped their seven-game losing streak to the Indians on Thursday night after the Indians took the first two games of the series. During the Indians seven-game winning streak against the Mud Hens, they outscored them 63-18. This week is the Indians and Mud Hens second meeting of the season, their first meeting came at Fifth Third Field from May 3 (1)-7. Tonight, Pittsburgh's top pitching prospect Quinn Priester (5-3, 4.96) will take the hill against Toledo's left-hander Jack O'Loughlin (0-0, ---), who will be making his Triple-A debut.

QUALITY QUINN: Quinn Priester will take the hill today for his 11th start of the season vs. the Mud Hens. Pittsburgh's top pitching prospect according to MLB Pipeline is coming off his best month of baseball in Triple-A. The 22-year-old earned three quality-start wins in his five starts in May, going 4-0 with a 2.81 ERA (8er/24.2ip) and 22 punchouts. Priester finished last season with a 3.29 ERA (33er/90.1ip) overall between Double-A Altoona and a short stint with Indy en route to being honored as the Young Bucs Bob Friend Pitcher of the Year, given to the top-performing minor league pitcher in Pittsburgh's organization.

THIS DATE IN 2012: When Jeff Clement went up to the plate against Syracuse in the bottom of the seventh inning, a triple to center field secured a cycle for the Indy first baseman, just the third recorded by an Indian in the Victory Field era. His night started in the second inning with a double to center off Syracuse starting pitcher Tanner Roark. In his second at-bat, he stroked a soft line drive to center field for a single. Clement's sixth home run of the season came in the sixth inning to left field, putting him a triple shy of the cycle. The fly ball to center not only recorded Clement's cycle, it also extended the Indians lead over Syracuse and led to their 7-3 win.
