TONIGHT'S GAME

Hill City can earn its first 5-1 series win with one today, keeping the team hot on Fredericksburg's tail for the top spot in the Carolina League North. The Howlers currently sit two games back of the Nats and a win today would go a long way, with Chase Mobley getting the ball in the series finale.

LAST GAME

Last night yielded similar results to the series opener against Delmarva, in that it was another double-digit run beatdown. The Howlers won 17-1 on Tuesday, and won 13-4 last night. Hill City benefitted from the top of the lineup doing its thing. The first five hitters in the order combined for 10 hits, seven RBIs, three walks and five extra-base hits. The Howlers only needed two arms to get the job done as well, with Harrison Bodendorf and Will McCausland striking out 12 combined with only a single walk issued.

WEEK OF THE HOWLERS

Anthony Martinez and Harrison Bodendorf swept last week's Carolina League Player of the Week honors. Martinez carried a .438 batting avg with three homers in the week, and Bodendorf went 5.2 no-hit innings with 6 Ks vs Hickory.

RING EM UP

Despite an up-and-down start, Hill City's pitching staff has punched tickets regardless of result. 301 strikeouts through 26 games is by far the Carolina League lead, 22 Ks more than second place Salem.

THE HITTERS

Hill City enters 2026 with 13 position players, six of them new to the team and seven of them returning. The group has put together solid results through 26 games, collecting 219 hits, good for second in the league and picked up double-digit hits in each of its first two games. The bats will look to stay hot tonight on the road.

THE ARMS

The 2026 Howlers pitching staff is strong, featuring 16 pitchers including 12 donning a championship ring from last year's run. So far, the staff ranks first in the Carolina League in strikeouts with 301.

STAR STUDDED SQUAD

The Howlers enter 2026 with five top 30 Guardians prospects per MLB.com, with Joey Oakie and Juneiker Caceres leading the group as the #9 and #10 prospects in the Cleveland system. Gabriel Rodriguez, Robert Arias and Dauri Fernandez also made the cut.

BROADCAST INFORMATION

All 66 Howlers home games can be heard on the home of the Howlers, the Hill City Howlers Radio Network. Fans can also watch all Howlers games with a valid MiLB.tv login. Jason Prill and Connor Schuh handle play-by-play and color
