Major League Baseball today announced the broadcast schedule for the 2025 World Series presented by Capital One. The World Series will feature the National League Champion Los Angeles Dodgers and the American League Champions – either the Toronto Blue Jays or the Seattle Mariners, to be decided in tonight's decisive Game Seven of the American League Championship Series at 8:10 p.m. (ET) on FOX, Sportsnet TV in Canada and ESPN Radio. All games of the 2025 Fall Classic will be scheduled for 8:00 p.m. (ET)/5:00 p.m. (PT), with FOX's national pregame show beginning at 7:00 p.m. (ET)/4:00 p.m. (PT).

If the Blue Jays win ALCS Game Seven and advance to the World Series for the first time since 1993, then the World Series will begin at Toronto's Rogers Centre. If the Mariners win ALCS Game Seven and reach the World Series for the first time in franchise history, then the Fall Classic will begin at Dodger Stadium. In either case, this will be a first-time World Series matchup as the Dodgers will vie for their second consecutive World Series crown and their third of the last six seasons.

FOX will combine with FOX Deportes, the FOX Sports App and FOX One to cover the World Series. All World Series games telecast on FOX will be available to MLB.TV subscribers who are authenticated subscribers to the applicable network through a participating pay TV provider.

Live national radio coverage of all 2025 World Series games will be provided by ESPN Radio in English and Univision Radio in Spanish. MLB Network will air extensive studio coverage throughout the Fall Classic across the Emmy Award-winning MLB Tonight, the Emmy-nominated MLB Central, MLB Now and Intentional Talk.

In Canada, Sportsnet TV and Radio will continue to provide live national coverage of the entire 2025 World Series. The 2025 World Series will be broadcast to 203 countries by 44 media partners in 16 languages around the globe.
