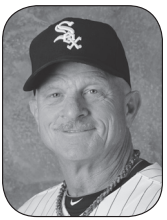
IN MEMORIAM

KEVIN HICKEY
1956-2012



Kevin Hickey, who served as a Chicago White Sox pre-game instructor since 2004 and pitched for the club from 1981-83, passed away on May 16, 2012 at the age of 56.

Hickey pitched six seasons in the major leagues with the White Sox (1981-83) and Baltimore (1989-91), going 9-14 with a 3.91 ERA (114 ER/232.2 IP) and 17 saves in 231 relief appearances. The left-hander went 5-8 with a 3.52 ERA (56 ER/143.0 IP) and 14 saves in 124 games with the Sox, with his best season coming in 1982 when he was 4-4 with six saves and a 3.00 ERA (26 ER/78.0 IP) in 60 games.

"Kevin was the ultimate long-shot, the classic underdog," said former White Sox general manager Roland Hemond, who signed Hickey in 1978. "You couldn't help but root for him. Kevin did the absolute most with every single opportunity he received and earned every bit of his success."

"Ask anyone in our clubhouse, every person here appreciated what Kevin did to help the White Sox win baseball games," said White Sox first baseman Paul Konerko. "No one wanted to win more, no one was more optimistic, no one cared more and no one took more pride in his job. He made all of us better."

A native of Chicago's Brighton Park neighborhood, Hickey attended St. Rita High School and Kelly High School. He took a unique route to the major leagues. He did not play high school baseball. Following a successful run as a 16-inch softball player – he helped lead his team, the Bobcats, to the 1976 World 16-inch Championship – and a stint with the Markham Cardinals semipro baseball team, he was invited to a summer tryout at Comiskey Park.

He was the only one of 250 players at the tryout to sign a contract. Following three seasons in the Sox farm system, Hickey made his major-league debut on April 14, 1981 and was a member of the 1983 "Winning Ugly" club which won the American League West Division title.

BILL "MOOSE" SKOWRON

Bill "Moose" Skowron, a five-time World Series champion who played for the White Sox from 1964-67, passed away on April 27, 2012 at the age of 81.

Best known as a member of the great New York Yankees teams of the late 1950s and early 1960s, Skowron played for five teams over the course of a 14-year career that spanned from 1954-67. He won four World Series titles with the Yankees (1956, 1958, 1961-62) and another with the Los Angeles Dodgers (1963), playing in eight World Series overall. Skowron spent nine seasons with the Yankees (1954-62) prior to stints with the Dodgers (1963), Senators (1964), White Sox and Angels (1967).

Skowron worked for the White Sox since 1999, when he joined the community relations department as part of the speakers bureau, making appearances and greeting fans on behalf of the team.

"We all have lost a dear, dear friend," said White Sox chairman Jerry Reinsdorf. "While Moose may have become a star in New York with the Yankees, he was a Chicagoan through and through. I certainly will miss his priceless stories about Casey Stengel, Roger Maris, Hank Bauer and of course, his good friend, Mickey Mantle.

"A few years ago, we started a tradition of holding monthly lunches here at the ballpark, and the laughter and conversation always centered around Moose. My guess is that right now Mickey, Roger, Hank and Moose are enjoying a good laugh together."

Skowron hit more than 20 home runs four times in his career, batted over .300 in five of his first seven seasons and was an eight-time All-Star. A career .282 hitter, he hit 211 homers and drove in 888 runs in his career. Skowron hit eight home runs in 39 World Series games, including the game-winner in Game 7 of the 1958 Fall Classic.

OFFICERS

JERRY REINSDORF, CHAIRMAN

During his 30-plus year tenure as chairman of the Chicago White Sox, Jerry Reinsdorf's two professional sports teams – the White Sox and Chicago Bulls of the NBA – have delivered seven World Championship titles to the city of Chicago and its sports fans.

Fulfilling a dream that began as a baseball fan growing up in Brooklyn during the 1930s and 1940s, Reinsdorf accepted the Commissioner's Trophy from Bud Selig on October 26, 2005, after the White Sox swept their way to the team's first World Series Championship since 1917.

The championship was the first by a Chicago baseball team in 88 years and was celebrated by a ticker-tape parade, attended by nearly 2 million Chicagoans, that ran from U.S. Cellular Field through many of the city's neighborhoods and finished in downtown Chicago. At the rally, first baseman Paul Konerko presented Reinsdorf with the ball from the final out of Game 4 of the World Series.

The White Sox have reached the postseason five times during Reinsdorf's tenure, most recently in 2008 when they captured the American Central Division title in a one-game playoff. The Sox also claimed division titles in 1983, 1993, 2000 and 2005.

Reinsdorf begins his 33rd season as chairman of the White Sox in 2013, having matched club founder Charles Comiskey (1900-31) for the longest ownership tenure in franchise history. The Sox have gone 2,613-2,445 (.517) during Reinsdorf's 32 seasons, and every one of the club's Top 20 single-season attendance totals have come during Reinsdorf's tenure, including a franchise-record 2.95 million fans in 2006.

Reinsdorf and the White Sox have received four prestigious honors over the past two years in recognition of the franchise's ongoing commitment to giving back to the community. In June 2011, Reinsdorf travelled to Washington D.C. to accept the Jefferson Award, one of the nation's top honors for community service and volunteerism, known as the "Nobel Prize for Public Service." In August 2011, Reinsdorf received the Barnes and Thornburg Jackie Robinson Award for diversity in the workplace, and in November 2011, Reinsdorf and the White Sox were honored by Commissioner Bud Selig with the Commissioner's Award for Philanthropic Excellence for the club's Volunteer Corps. In September 2012, Reinsdorf and the White Sox were again recognized nationally, receiving the Steve Patterson Award for Excellence in sports philanthropy for the team's Volunteer Corps program.

In response to President Barack Obama's inauguration-day call to service, Reinsdorf and the White Sox created the White Sox Volunteer Corps in 2009 to support the Chicagoland community through service. The Corps, now consisting of staff, players and over 5,700 fan volunteers, has mobilized to provide more than 25,000 hours of community service during its four years of existence, including work renovating Chicago Public Schools, remodeling local Boys & Girls Clubs and donating time at the Greater Chicago Food Depository.

Both of Reinsdorf's sports franchises have donated millions of dollars to causes in the Chicago community through a variety of efforts, including Chicago White Sox Charities and CharitaBulls. Chicago White Sox Charities has donated more than $6.5 million to Chicagoland organizations in the past five years, moving the team's non-profit arm beyond $18 million in cumulative giving since its inception.

In July 2013 at U.S Cellular Field, the White Sox will host the sixth annual "Double Duty Classic," a high school baseball All-Star Game featuring many of the nation's top inner-city baseball players. The Classic, named for Negro League great Ted "Double Duty" Radcliffe, celebrates the community's pride in the Negro League East-West All-Star Games, held annually at Comiskey Park in Chicago from the 1930s until the 1960s, while a symposium before the game teaches the players about the game's history and importance.

During his career in professional sports, Reinsdorf has been responsible for the construction of two new sports facilities in Chicago, Comiskey Park (1991), now U.S. Cellular Field, and the United Center (1994). The White Sox and Los Angeles Dodgers opened a state-of-the-art spring training complex, named Camelback Ranch — Glendale, in Phoenix in 2009. For much of the past decade, Reinsdorf, the White Sox and the Illinois Sports Facilities Authority have undertaken dramatic offseason renovations to U.S. Cellular Field with the goal of improving the ballpark experience for White Sox fans.

Since heading the limited partnership that purchased the Sox in January 1981, Reinsdorf has been involved in Major League Baseball initiatives at an industry-wide level. Currently, he is a member of Major League Baseball's Executive Council and serves on the Boards of Major League Baseball Advanced Media, MLB Network, Major League Baseball Enterprises, Inc. and Major League Baseball Properties, Inc. He also serves on the Equal Opportunity, Labor Policy and New Media committees.

In the past he has served on many other committees, including Ownership, Player Relations, Relocation, Legislative and Long-Range Labor Planning. He was instrumental in the formation of the Diverse Business Partners (DBP) Program in 1998. Since then, Major League Baseball and its clubs have purchased hundreds of millions of dollars in goods and services from minority and women-owned businesses, and the White Sox annually rank among baseball's leaders in the DBP program. In 2008, his long history of donating time to Major League Baseball led to Reinsdorf being asked to serve on the Board of The Baseball Hall of Fame.

Reinsdorf expanded his involvement in professional sports in March 1985 by purchasing controlling interest in the Chicago Bulls. During his tenure as chairman of the Bulls, the team has captured six World Championships (1991-93, '96-98). In addition to initiating the building of new Comiskey Park, Reinsdorf spearheaded construction of two major facilities for the Bulls. The United Center, home for the Bulls and Chicago Blackhawks, opened for the 1994-95 season, and the Bulls began using the Sheri L. Berto Center, their training facility, in 1992.

Reinsdorf has played a critical role in the development of the west side area surrounding the United Center and was responsible for introducing an innovative reading program to the Chicago Public Schools. Through the Chicago Bulls/Sox Training Academy, which opened in 2001, and outreach efforts such as White Sox Training Centers and Chicago Bulls Basketball Schools, Reinsdorf's franchises promote sports to thousands of youth each year while instilling a love of the game in future fans. Reinsdorf's life-long support for charitable and community organizations has resulted in numerous other awards and recognitions.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y. on February 25, 1936, Reinsdorf graduated from George Washington University in Washington D.C. and earned a law degree from Northwestern University after moving to Chicago in 1957. Reinsdorf and his wife, Martyl, have four children and eight grandchildren.

EDDIE EINHORN, VICE CHAIRMAN

Eddie Einhorn, who celebrated his 30th season in baseball in 2010, begins his 23rd year as vice chairman of the Chicago White Sox in 2013. Einhorn is in his sixth decade in the sports and broadcasting industry, having started broadcasting games 60 years ago at age 17.

Einhorn continues his long-term involvement with chairman Jerry Reinsdorf and the White Sox while also devoting time to his multiple global sports and television interests. Prior to becoming vice chairman, Einhorn, who also serves on the board of directors of the Chicago Bulls, was the White Sox president and chief operating officer for 10 years.

During his 30-plus year career in baseball, Einhorn has been a member of Major League Baseball's Schedule Format Committee, the Professional Baseball Association Committee, Player Development Committee and was a member of the Television Committee from 1992-95. He was one of the key architects of The Baseball Network, Major League Baseball's joint broadcasting venture. Einhorn's successful Cooperstown Baseball World, a sports camp complex for kids in Oneonta, N.Y., is in its 14th summer in 2013.

An advocate of youth baseball, Einhorn has been responsible for developing the National Youth Baseball Championship, a tournament featuring 12-year-old national champions from the major youth travel baseball organizations. In its sixth year in 2013, the National Youth Baseball Championship takes place in Memphis, Tenn., at the end of August and will be televised by CBS Sports Network.

Einhorn was the founder and chairman of TVS Television Network, a leader of sports programming in the 1970s that celebrated its 45th anniversary in 2010. The TVS telecast of college basketball's "Game of the Century" between Houston and UCLA from the Astrodome in 1968 is credited for the growth in popularity of college basketball on television.

The National Collegiate Basketball Hall of Fame in Kansas City inducted Einhorn as a contributor in the Class of 2011 for his vision in founding TVS in 1965 and for his role in catapulting college basketball into national prominence. Presented by Dick Enberg, Einhorn was joined in the class by players James Worthy, Ralph Sampson, Cazzie Russell and Chris Mullin; coaches Bob Knight and Eddie Sutton; and fellow contributor Joe Vancisin.

Einhorn has written a book, available in bookstores nationally, on the evolution of the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament. The book, entitled "How March Became Madness," traces Einhorn's early days of televising college basketball in the 1960s to the present through interviews with over 50 people responsible for the game's growth, including John Wooden, Elvin Hayes, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Digger Phelps and Enberg.

Recognized as the architect of baseball's first billion-dollar television contract, Einhorn was instrumental in negotiating Major League Baseball's 1990 deal with CBS-TV and ESPN. In 1989, Einhorn was appointed television consultant to the United States Olympic Committee and was responsible for a 200-hour Olympic television package that debuted in 1990. He currently is the television consultant for the United States Figure Skating Association. In 2007, Einhorn completed an agreement between Major League Baseball Advanced Media and the Ice Network to create and maintain the website www.icenetwork.com.

Prior to joining law school classmate Jerry Reinsdorf in 1981 to head the limited partnership that purchased the White Sox, Einhorn was the executive producer of the "CBS Sports Spectacular." At CBS, he was responsible for over 100 hours of programming per year and won an Emmy Award for "The Gossamer Albatross, Flight of Imagination," in 1980.

Einhorn has received many awards over the years, most notably being honored recently by his hometown of Paterson, N.J. with the Mayor's Award for civic contribution. He currently serves on the board of the Kidney and Urology Foundation, a project close to his heart.

Einhorn was born on January 3, 1936 in Paterson, N.J. and holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Pennsylvania. A graduate of the Northwestern University School of Law, Einhorn worked as a vendor at Comiskey Park from 1959-60. Einhorn and his wife, Ann, have two children: Jennifer, who is manager of special events for Major League Baseball, and Jeff, who works in the entertainment industry in Los Angeles and produced "Winning Ugly: Twenty Years Later," a retrospective DVD about the 1983 American League West Champion White Sox. The Einhorns have one grandchild.

HOWARD PIZER, SENIOR EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Howard Pizer begins his 33rd season with the Chicago White Sox after being promoted to the position of senior executive vice president by Jerry Reinsdorf on October 26, 2012.

Pizer, who celebrated his 30th season in Major League Baseball in 2010, has primary responsibility for the business and administrative operations of the White Sox as well as continuing his oversight of the club's legal matters and governmental relations. The 40-year business associate of Jerry Reinsdorf joined the White Sox in 1981 to handle the club's transition from former owner Bill Veeck to the Reinsdorf-Einhorn group. He served as the club's executive vice president from 1981-2012.

During his 32-year tenure with the White Sox, Pizer has supervised the franchise's hosting of two Major League All-Star Games (1983 and 2003), the team's five postseason appearances (1983, 1993, 2000, 2005 and 2008), and the 2005 World Series, the first won by a Chicago baseball team in 88 years.

Prior to its opening on April 18, 1991, Pizer's primary focus was on the necessary steps to create new Comiskey Park, now U.S. Cellular Field. He utilized this experience in connection with the development and operation of the United Center, the state-of-the-art facility which opened for the 1994-95 Chicago Bulls and Chicago Blackhawks season. Pizer also played a key role in negotiating the White Sox partnership with U.S. Cellular and remains the team's chief liaison with the Illinois Sports Facilities Authority (ISFA), the state agency that serves as owner of U.S. Cellular Field.

Pizer is responsible for the overall relationships between the White Sox and their concessionaires, Illinois Sportservice, and Levy Restaurants, and he annually has spearheaded the club's ongoing efforts to improve the ballpark experience for fans attending games at U.S. Cellular Field.

Pizer lends his organizational ability to the board of directors of Chicago Baseball Cancer Charities; Special Children's Charities, the fundraising arm of Chicago Special Olympics; Local Initiatives Support Corporation/Chicago Board of Advisors; and Near West Side Community Development Corp., which is working to spur affordable housing and economic development on Chicago's near west side. The Chicago native also is an active participant in White Sox Volunteer Corps community service events, as well as the club's support of community efforts to develop the Wentworth Gardens and Bronzeville areas near U.S. Cellular Field. Pizer also serves as vice president and secretary for Chicago White Sox Charities.

Born on October 23, 1941, in Chicago, Ill., Pizer is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. He is also a magna cum laude graduate of the Northwestern University School of Law. Pizer and his wife, Sheila, have two children: Jacqueline and Rachel; and four grandchildren.

KEN WILLIAMS, EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Ken Williams begins his 32nd season in baseball in 2013 and his first as the Chicago White Sox executive vice president after being promoted to the position on October 26, 2012. In his new role, Williams will increase the scope and range of his involvement with the club while also continuing to maintain oversight and final approval on major baseball decisions.

Williams spent the previous 12 seasons (2001-12) as the White Sox general manager, producing the best winning percentage by any general manager in club history. The White Sox claimed a World Series Championship in 2005 – the franchise's first in 88 years – two division titles (2005 and 2008), five second-place finishes and four third-place finishes. The club finished .500 or better nine times, going 1,014-931 (.521) over his 12 seasons. Williams celebrated his 1,000th victory as a general manager on August 26, 2012 (a 4-3 win over Seattle). He was the fourth-longest tenured general manager in baseball at the time of his promotion when he was succeeded as general manager by longtime assistant Rick Hahn.

Williams named former Sox third baseman Robin Ventura as the team's 39th manager on October 6, 2011, beginning a trend in the industry of hiring managers with no prior coaching or managerial experience. Ventura was a finalist for American League Manager of the Year in his first season when the Sox went 85-77 to finish in second place in the American League Central in 2012, 3.0 games behind the Detroit Tigers.

Chicago was in first place 117 days in 2012 and led its division 624 days over the last 12 years, second-most in the division behind the Minnesota Twins.

Williams celebrated his fifth season as general manager in 2005 by winning the third World Series title in the franchise's history and the club's first since 1917. The 2005 World Champion White Sox, built around pitching, defense and timely power, became just the second team in major-league history to lead its division wire-to-wire and sweep the World Series in four games. The other was the 1927 New York Yankees. The Sox were 11-1 in postseason play, winning their final eight games.

Following the 2005 World Series Championship, the 2006 White Sox posted a 90-72 record, winning 90 or more games in back-to-back seasons for just the fifth time in franchise history and first since 1963-65. The White Sox won 200 regular season and postseason games from 2005 to 2006, and the 189 combined regular-season wins from 2005-06 are the highest total in back-to-back campaigns by a Sox team since winning 193 in 1964-65.

The 2008 White Sox became the second team to capture an AL Central division title during Williams' tenure. The 2008 Sox went 89-74 (.546) to win the AL Central title by defeating the Twins in a tiebreaker on September 30. The 1-0 victory over Minnesota was the third of three straight must-win games against three different teams to end the regular season. The White Sox 17-game improvement from 2007 (72-90) to 2008 was the franchise's best since 2000, and the Sox finished the decade with eight winning seasons, the most since also posting eight during the 1960s.

Since becoming the franchise's 11th general manager on October 24, 2000, Williams annually made aggressive moves impacting the major-league roster. He acquired 10 players at the July trade deadline during his 12-year career.

Prior to the 2005 championship season, the White Sox signed five free agents – OF Jermaine Dye, RHP Dustin Hermanson, RHP Orlando Hernandez, Japanese INF Tadahito Iguchi and Pierzynski – and each played a key role in helping the team to the World Series title. The Sox also acquired OF Scott Podsednik and RHP Luis Vizcaino in a December 13 trade with the Brewers. In 2004, Williams signed RHP Shingo Takatsu, Japan's all-time saves leader, who was the first Japanese player for the White Sox. In 2003, the Sox signed free agent RHP Esteban Loaiza, who went on to win 21 games and started the 2003 All-Star Game at U.S. Cellular Field.

During his tenure, Williams acquired 171 players in 72 trades involving the major-league roster, adding notables such as Hall-of-Fame INF Roberto Alomar (2003-04), Jose Contreras (2004-09), Carl Everett (2003-05), Freddy Garcia (2004-06, '10), Ken Griffey Jr. (2008), Jim Thome (2006-09), Kevin Youkilis (2012) and Brett Myers (2012). His teams also included four Cuban players, Contreras, Orlando Hernandez (2005), Alexei Ramirez (2008-present) and Dayan Viciedo (2010-present), and two Japanese players (Iguchi and Takatsu).

Williams was the first African-American general manager in Chicago sports history and the third in major-league history, following Bill Lucas (Atlanta, 1979) and Bob Watson (Houston, 1994-95/Yankees, 1996-97). From 2001-03, Williams and Jerry Manuel formed the first African-American general manager/manager tandem in major-league history.

Williams has spent 32 seasons in baseball in a variety of capacities, including player, scout and special assistant to the chairman. Williams joined the club in November 1992 as a scout, specializing in the inner cities, and was named special assistant to Jerry Reinsdorf in 1994. He also worked at SportsChannel in 1995 as a studio analyst on Sox telecasts.

He served as the club's director of minor-league operations from 1995-96 and was promoted to vice president of player development for four additional seasons (1997-2000). Under his direction, the White Sox were named 2000 Organization of the Year by Baseball America and USA Today.

Active in the organization's community outreach programs, Williams takes part in the annual "Double Duty Classic" at the ballpark, speaking to young amateur baseball players about their role in the history of the sport. Williams actively supports the team's Amateur City Elite (ACE) youth baseball program, which in 2012 had 12 players sign Division I scholarships to play baseball.

A former outfielder with the White Sox (1986-88), Detroit (1989-90), Toronto (1990-91) and Montreal (1991), Williams appeared in 451 career major-league games. Williams originally was selected by the Sox in the third round of the June 1982 free agent draft.

Born on April 6, 1964, in Berkeley, Calif., Williams attended Stanford University, where he played football. Sons Kenny Jr. (Rockies) and Tyler (White Sox) play professional baseball, while Kyle is a wide receiver for the San Francisco 49ers.

RICK HAHN, SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT/GENERAL MANAGER

Rick Hahn, a Chicago native who has been with the Chicago White Sox since October 2000 and helped build the 2005 World Series Champion and 2008 postseason teams, was promoted by the club to senior vice president/general manager on October 26, 2012.

Hahn, the 12th general manager in White Sox history, replaced Ken Williams, who owns the best winning percentage of any general manager in franchise history and was the fourth-longest tenured in baseball in 2012.

Prior to being promoted, Hahn completed 12 seasons in the White Sox front office as vice president/assistant general manager, and his wide-ranging responsibilities have included working with Williams to determine the club's roster composition, player acquisitions, talent evaluations and contract negotiations.

In his new role, Hahn's duties have been expanded to include oversight of all player personnel matters, coaching staff decisions and the club's player development and scouting operations. This winter, the White Sox expanded their amateur and international scouting staffs, and Hahn promoted Buddy Bell to assistant general manager.

Hahn's first move as general manager was to re-sign RHP Jake Peavy to a two-year, $29-million contract with an option for 2015. He acquired OF Blake Tekotte from San Diego on November 7, 2012, in his first trade. The Sox selected INF Angel Sanchez from the Angels in the December Rule 5 Draft, and Hahn signed INF Jeff Keppinger to a three-year contract on December 10. After avoiding arbitration by signing both INF Gordon Beckham and OF Alejandro De Aza to 2013 contracts, Hahn signed free agent reliever Matt Lindstrom on January 25.

Hahn and Manager Robin Ventura have continued the White Sox organization's tradition of bringing former players back as coaches at the major league level. Record-setting reliever Bobby Thigpen (bullpen coach) and Daryl Boston (first base coach) have been added to the staff in 2013, joining Harold Baines and Mark Salas as former Sox players who now also coach for the team.

Since joining the organization, Hahn has negotiated several multiyear player contracts, including agreements with current White Sox players John Danks, Gavin Floyd, Paul Konerko, Jake Peavy and Alexei Ramirez. Hahn has been credited with playing a key role in moves such as signing eventual Cy Young Award runner-up Esteban Loaiza to a minor-league deal prior to the 2003 season, the waiver claim of Bobby Jenks prior to the 2005 World Series championship season, the 2007 acquisition of Most Valuable Player-candidate Carlos Quentin, the evaluation and signing of 2009 Rookie of the Year Gordon Beckham, the waiver claim of De Aza in October 2009, and the signing of 2010 first-round pick Chris Sale.

In midsummer 2011, Hahn ranked first in SI.com's survey of the top general manager candidates in baseball. In March 2010, Baseball America ranked Hahn No. 1 on its list of "Top GM Prospects" in Major League Baseball.

Prior to joining the White Sox, Hahn spent two years as an associate at Steinberg, Moorad & Dunn, a sports agency based in Newport Beach, Calif., representing more than 150 athletes from Major League Baseball, the National Football League and the National Basketball Association.

Hahn is a native of Winnetka, Ill. and a graduate of New Trier High School, the University of Michigan, Harvard Law School, and Northwestern's Kellogg Graduate School of Management. He and his wife, Jean, have two children, Jacob and Charlie.

ROGER BOSSARD, HEAD GROUNDSKEEPER

The man responsible for building and maintaining U.S Cellular Field's highly regarded playing field is head groundskeeper Roger Bossard, now in his 47th season with the White Sox.

Groundskeeping is a Bossard family tradition, with six members combining for more than 250 years of experience in the business. Roger's grandfather, Emil, served as head groundskeeper with the Cleveland Indians from 1932-68, while his father, Gene, was in charge with the White Sox from 1940-83. Roger joined the Sox in 1967 as an assistant to his father before taking over following Gene's retirement in 1983.

Bossard designed and built the playing fields for Camelback Ranch — Glendale, the White Sox state-of-the-art spring training complex that opened in 2009. He designed and built new playing fields at Wrigley Field (2007 offseason) after performing the same task at the new Busch Stadium in St. Louis (2005) and at Boston's Fenway Park and Washington's RFK Stadium (2004). Among the highlights of Bossard's resume, he is a consultant for 14 Major League Baseball teams and four NFL teams.

In addition to U.S. Cellular Field, Bossard has designed and built major-league fields in Arizona, Boston, Detroit, Milwaukee, St. Louis (both old and new Busch Stadium), Seattle and Washington, as well as spring training complexes for Cincinnati, Montreal, the Yankees, St. Louis, Arizona, the White Sox and Dodgers.

In 1984-85, Bossard designed and built the first natural turf soccer fields in Saudi Arabia for the Royal Family, where he continues to serve as a consultant. Nineteen of 30 major-league teams use a patented drainage system that he developed specifically for the opening of U.S Cellular Field in 1991. As part of the ballpark's 2000 offseason renovation, he built new bullpens and also reconfigured the outfield grass, irrigation and drainage systems.

Bossard and his wife, Geri Lynn, have two children: Brandon and Brittany. The family resides in Lemont, Ill.

Roland Hemond Award

In 2003, the Chicago White Sox created the Roland Hemond Award to honor those special people who better the lives of others through extraordinary personal sacrifice. Though not awarded every season, the White Sox have presented the honor on seven different occasions since 2003.

The first recipient of the award was Dr. Julian Lopez, who donated a kidney to club vice chairman Eddie Einhorn, after having served as his doctor and recognizing the struggles he was enduring in finding a donor.

The second presentation of the award went to Bill and Bonnie Cartwright in 2004. The Cartwrights cared for a high-school age foster child and helped him succeed in school and sports, to become the first member of his family to graduate from high school.

The recipients in 2005 were Sean Carey and Danny O'Hearn, two boys from Oak Lawn, who spent their summers hosting a 'lemon-aid' stand to raise money for patients at Advocate Hope Children's Hospital.

In 2006, Sox season ticket holder Ryan Devlin of Tinley Park won the Hemond Award. A lifelong fan, Devlin sold his 2005 World Series tickets to pay for his own trip to New Orleans to provide supplies for hurricane relief.

Ana Sherony, co-founder of the Wounded Heroes Foundation, a Chicago-based non-profit that provides support to men and women of the armed forces who have made sacrifices for the good of their country, received the honor in 2008.

In 2010, the Hemond Award went to White Sox franchise legend Billy Pierce, who has been at the forefront of raising money for cancer patient care, education and research programs at Northwestern Memorial Hospital and Children's Memorial Hospital through Chicago Baseball Cancer Charities.

In 2011, the Sox presented former Chicago Mayor Richard M. Daley with the Roland Hemond Award. Mayor Daley was recognized for his 22 years of service and his tireless work to improve the city and the lives of its residents.

"The Roland Hemond Award was created to celebrate the man's lifetime commitment to the community," said Jerry Reinsdorf, White Sox chairman. "Roland has dedicated himself for more than half a century to bettering the lives of those around him. He is a true inspiration, and the award acknowledges others who have taken this same spirit to heart."

Protecting Their Turf

The White Sox went 7-0 on their homestand vs. Kansas City (3-0) and Minnesota (4-0) on June 3-9, 2008, just the fourth undefeated homestand of seven games or more in franchise history and first since September 5-11, 1983 (7-0 vs. Oakland and California). The Sox outscored the Royals and Twins by a 61-26 margin. According to the Elias Sports Bureau, only two other teams in major-league history have produced as many runs (61), hits (91) and home runs (19) during a seven-game winning streak as the White Sox: Oakland in 2000 and Atlanta in 2006. The Sox also posted their first four-game sweep at home vs. Minnesota since July 1-3, 1977.

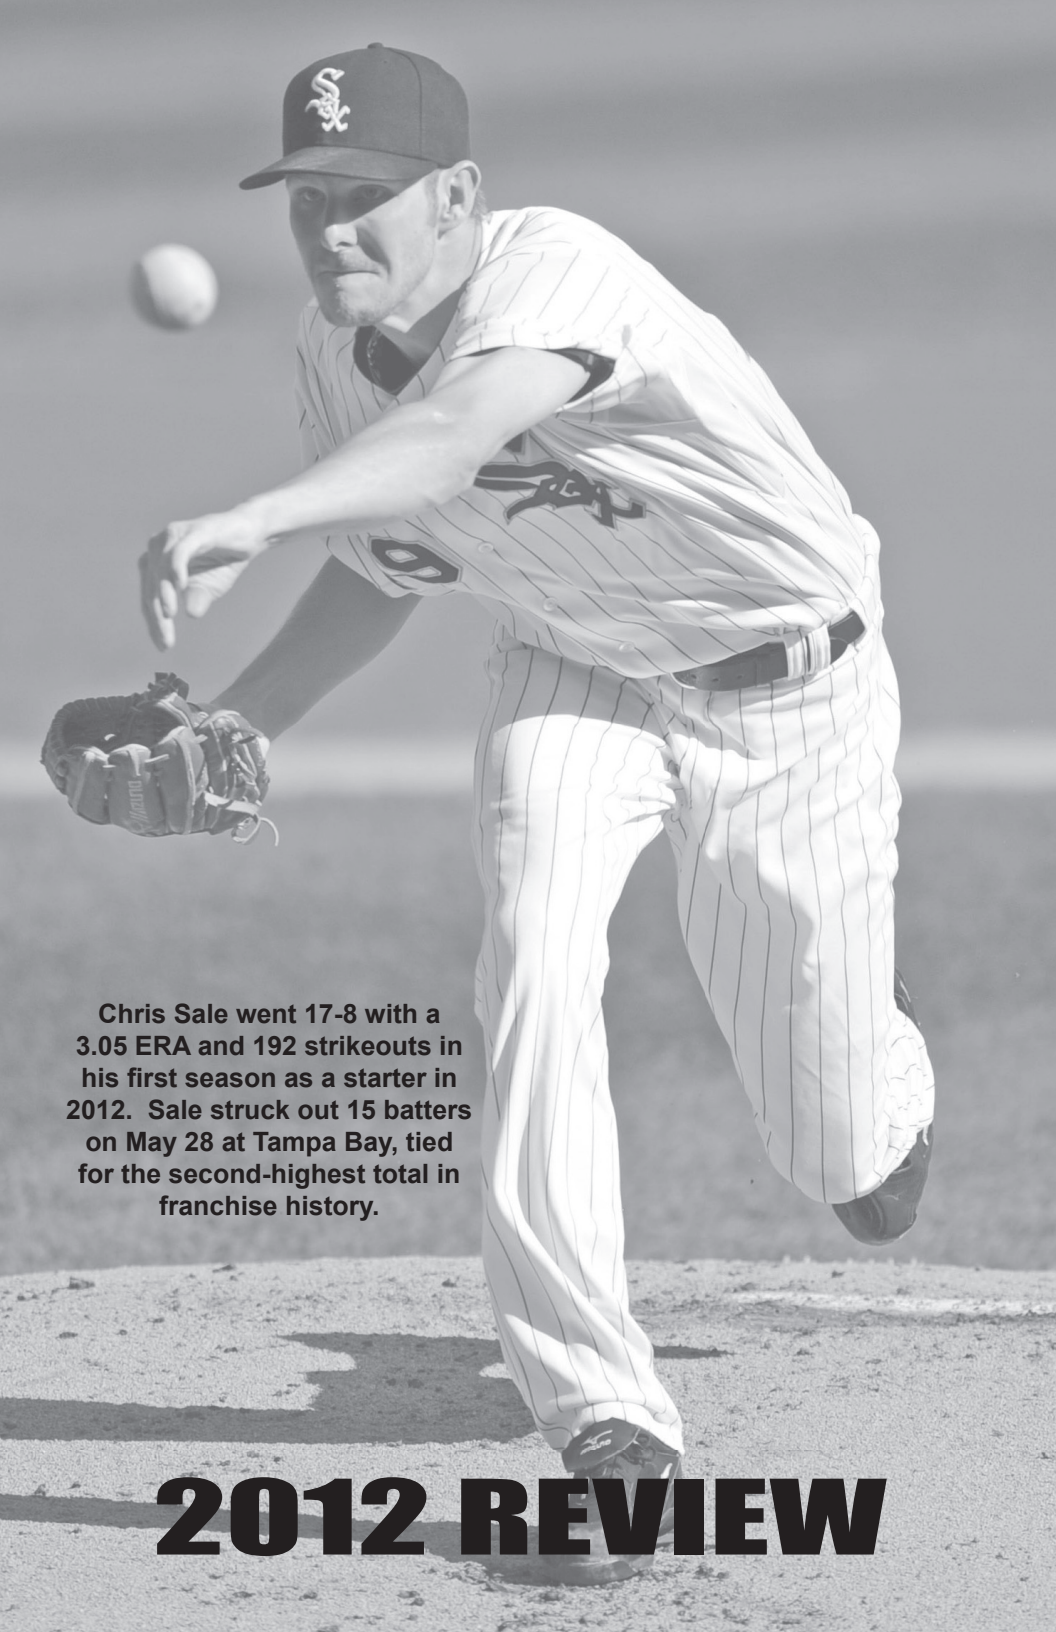
Haven't Seen That Before

Kansas City and the White Sox both hit leadoff home runs in the first and second innings on August 17, 2006 at U.S. Cellular Field, which according to the Elias Sports Bureau was the first time in major-league history that feat has been accomplished. David DeJesus and Emil Brown homered leading off the first two innings for the Royals, while Pablo Ozuna (first) and Jermaine Dye (second) went deep for the Sox. The previous time a White Sox game featured leadoff home runs in the first inning was on June 13, 2001 vs. Cincinnati (Brady Clark and Ray Durham).



Chris Sale went 17-8 with a 3.05 ERA and 192 strikeouts in his first season as a starter in 2012. Sale struck out 15 batters on May 28 at Tampa Bay, tied for the second-highest total in franchise history.

Orlando "El Duque" Hernandez threw 3.0 scoreless IP in relief in Game 3 of the ALDS at Fenway Park. With Chicago holding a 4-3 lead in the seventh inning, Hernandez inherited a bases-loaded, no-out situation but worked out of the jam by retiring Jason Varitek and Tony Graffanino on popups before striking out Johnny Damon on a 3-2 count to end the threat. The White Sox went on to post a 6-3 victory and complete the three-game sweep of the defending World Champion Red Sox.

GAME 1: ANGELS 3, WHITE SOX 2

Notes: Despite playing in three time zones in three straight nights, the Angels received a solid outing by Paul Byrd and a solo home run by Garret Anderson to take a 1-0 advantage in the ALCS … Byrd, pitching on three days rest, allowed two runs on six hits in 6.0 IP … Jose Contreras (3 ER/7.0 IP) saw his nine-game winning streak come to an end … Joe Crede hit his first home run of the playoffs, a solo shot in the third inning … Neal Cotts retired both batters faced, the only appearance by a Sox reliever in the series … the White Sox fell to 0-6 in the ALCS at home.

GAME 4: WHITE SOX 8, ANGELS 2

Pierzynski homered for the White Sox, his third of the postseason, and Joe Crede added a two-run single in the eighth off Esteban Yan … Paul Konerko homered in the first inning for the second straight game … Chicago scored seven runs in the first innings of the series.

The White Sox eliminated the Los Angeles Angels in five games to advance to their first World Series since 1959. Mark Buehrle, Jon Garland, Freddy Garcia and Jose Contreras threw four consecutive complete-game victories to end the series, the first team to accomplish that feat since the 1928 New York Yankees.

2005 WORLD SERIES

GAME 1: WHITE SOX 5, ASTROS 3

Notes: In the first World Series game held in Chicago since 1959, the White Sox posted a 5-3 victory vs. Houston … Jermaine Dye hit an opposite-field home run off Roger Clemens in the first inning … the Sox added a pair of runs in the second on A.J. Pierzynski's RBI groundout and Juan Uribe's RBI double … Lance Berkman evened the game with a two-run double in the third, but Joe Crede put the Sox ahead for good with a solo home run off Wandy Rodriguez in the fourth … Houston put runners on first and third with no outs in the eighth, but Neal Cotts (two strikeouts) and Bobby Jenks (one strikeout) combined to end the Astros threat … Clemens left after 2.0 IP with a sore left hamstring … Jose Contreras, the sixth Cuban pitcher to ever start a World Series game, earned the victory despite tying a Fall Classic record by hitting three batters.

GAME 2: WHITE SOX 7, ASTROS 6

Notes: Paul Konerko hit the 18th grand slam in World Series history, and Scott Podsednik hit a game-ending home run as the White Sox won Game 2, 7-6 … with the Sox trailing, 4-2, in the seventh inning, Konerko homered on Chad Qualls' first pitch to put the Sox in front, 6-4 … Houston tied the game in the ninth when pinch-hitter Jose Vizcaino laced an opposite-field, two-run single off Bobby Jenks with two outs to set up Podsednik's heroics … Podsednik, who went homerless in the regular season, hit a 2-1 pitch from Brad Lidge over the right-center field fence for the 14th game-ending homer in World Series history … the game was delayed seven minutes by rain, the first in a World Series since Game 3 in 1993 at Philadelphia (1:12) … each Sox player collected at least one hit.

Paul Konerko connected on a seventh-inning grand slam to give the Sox a 6-4 lead in Game 2.

GAME 3: WHITE SOX 7, ASTROS 5 (14)

Notes: For the second straight game, an unlikely hero came to the forefront for the White Sox as Geoff Blum hit a solo home run in the 14th inning to break a 5-5 tie … Blum, who had one prior postseason at-bat, entered the longest game in World Series history in the 13th and lined a 2-0 pitch over the right-field wall to give the Sox the lead … Chicago added an insurance run on Chris Widger's bases-loaded walk … Houston put runners on the corners in the 14th, but Game 2 starter Mark Buehrle came on to retire Adam Everett on a popout to shortstop Juan Uribe to end the game … the Astros left the winning run at third base in the ninth and at second in the 10th and 11th … Jon Garland allowed four runs in the first 4.0 IP but retired 12 of his last 13 batters faced … Chicago overcame a 4-0 deficit by scoring five runs in the fifth off Roy Oswalt, highlighted by Joe Crede's solo homer and A.J. Pierzynski's two-run double that put the Sox ahead, 5-4 … Jason Lane's double off Dustin Hermanson in the eighth tied the game at 5-5 … the 43 players used by both teams was a World Series record, and it marked the first Series game played in Texas.

GAME 4: WHITE SOX 1, ASTROS 0

Notes: The White Sox captured their first World Series title since 1917 with a 1-0 victory over the Astros at Minute Maid Park … Jermaine Dye, the eventual Most Valuable Player of the series, drove in the only run with an eighth-inning single off Brad Lidge that scored Willie Harris … Harris led off the eighth with a single, moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Scott Podsednik and to third on Carl Everett's ground out … Bobby Jenks pitched a scoreless ninth inning for the save with help from Juan Uribe, who dove into the stands down the left-field line to record the second out of the final frame before retiring Orlando Palmeiro on a grounder to end the game … starters Brandon Backe and Freddy Garcia each tossed 7.0 scoreless IP … the Astros were 0-11 with runners in scoring position and were held without a run in the final 15 innings of the World Series … Chicago went 11-1 in the postseason, tied for the second-best playoff record since 1969 (minimum seven games).

Follow The Leader

The White Sox set a major-league record by holding the lead in each of their first 37 games in 2005, breaking the previous mark of 25 straight held by the 1955 Brooklyn Dodgers. The Sox 37-game streak also tied for the third-longest in major-league history, trailing only the 1998 Yankees (48) and 1932 Yankees (40).

#Tied For League Lead

30/30/30/30 Club

The 2006 White Sox are one of four teams in major-league history to feature four players with 30 or more home runs in one season, joining the 2000 Anaheim Angels, 2000 Toronto Blue Jays and 2009 Philadelphia Phillies. Jermaine Dye (43), Jim Thome (42), Paul Konerko (35) and Joe Crede (30) each hit 30-plus homers for the Sox in 2006.

20/20/20/20/20/20 Vision

The White Sox featured a franchise record six players with 20 or more home runs in 2004. Paul Konerko hit a career-best 41 home runs, tied for the fourth-highest total in club history. Carlos Lee's 31 homers matched his career best (2003), while Jose Valentin (30), Aaron Rowand (24), Juan Uribe (23) and Joe Crede (21) each established personal bests.

The Big Hurt

With a .347 average in 1997, Frank Thomas became just the second player (third time) in White Sox history to win the American League batting title. Luke Appling won batting crowns for the Sox in 1936 (.388) and 1943 (.328). At 6-foot-5 and 275 pounds, Thomas also became the largest player ever to win a batting title. Dave Parker (1978-79) and John Olerud (1993) each were listed at 6-foot-5 when they led the league in average, while Miguel Cabrera (2012) was listed at 240 pounds.

U.S. CELLULAR FIELD

U.S. Cellular, a Chicago-based wireless service provider, the White Sox and the Illinois Sports Facilities Authority entered into a naming rights agreement in January 2003 that re-named the former Comiskey Park. Terms of the 23-year agreement, which included $68 million paid over 20 years, allowed the White Sox, ISFA and U.S. Cellular to pursue dramatic, fan-focused ballpark renovations and improvements designed to enhance the fan experience at U.S. Cellular Field. A breakdown of the ballpark renovations since 2001:

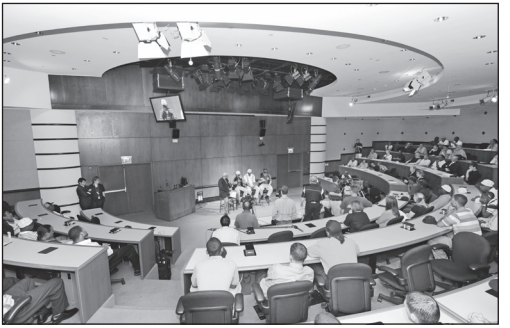
Artwork leading into the Magellan Scout Seats and exhibits in the Scout Lounge area will showcase the charities.

U.S. CELLULAR FIELD

CONFERENCE AND LEARNING CENTER



Since its opening in 2001, the Conference & Learning Center at U.S. Cellular Field has been the site of hundreds of conferences and seminars, while also serving as a meeting location for civic and charity functions, and as the site for all White Sox press conferences and media events.

The facility, a joint partnership between Illinois Sports Facilities Authority and the White Sox, was designed by Campbell Tiu Campbell, Inc. and built by the joint venture of Walsh/Riteway. Audio/visual consultation and implementation was handled by Swiderski Electronics, Inc.

The CLC, which features the latest in communication and presentation technology, offers users full-service catering by Levy Restaurants and on-site parking. It is available year-round for half- and full-day rentals. In addition to Chicago Public School programs, the center is available for use by local non-profit organizations, businesses and community groups. Non-profit, civic and municipal organizations can use the CLC for reduced or no cost.

Beyond the entertainment provided by baseball's on-the-field activities, the facility allows ISFA and the Chicago White Sox to offer students unique educational opportunities that will allow them to benefit from the experience and knowledge of the organization, its staff and its supporters.

The CLC features a large amphitheater-style auditorium with a seating capacity of 130 and a meeting room that seats 60. The large auditorium features individual consoles at each seat, providing direct audio and data connections, an advanced overhead document display system and computer signal inputs for projection or plasma display.

CHAMPIONS PLAZA AND CHAMPIONSHIP MOMENTS

"Champions Plaza" and "Championship Moments" monument is a diamond-shaped plaza featuring a prominent bronze and granite monument celebrating the 2005 World Series championship.

The brick plaza, located at U.S. Cellular Field's main entrance at Gate 4, was unveiled during the first week of the 2008 season and is comprised of "legacy bricks" inscribed with personal messages from fans and features a historic timeline highlighting franchise milestones.

The large monument is made of a combination of white bronze and black granite and was designed by the same studio (The Fine Art Studio of Rotblatt-Amrany) that developed the popular sculptures of Charles Comiskey, Minnie Minoso, Carlton Fisk, Luis Aparicio, Nellie Fox, Billy Pierce, Harold Baines and Frank Thomas, which are located on the outfield concourse at U.S. Cellular Field.

WHITE SOX SCULPTURES

Frank Thomas became the eighth White Sox great immortalized in bronze at U.S. Cellular Field on July 31, 2011. Thomas was a career .301 hitter with 521 home runs and 1,704 RBI during his 19-year career, 16 of which he spent with the Sox. Thomas is the franchise leader in virtually every offensive category, and his uniform No. 35 was retired by the club on August 29, 2010. He hit 448 of his 521 career home runs with the White Sox and was a two-time American League MVP. CR-G FACTS AND FIGURES

A true oasis of baseball, Sonoran desert-inspired Camelback Ranch-Glendale (CR-G) offers fans more than the convenience and comfort of the largest stadium in the Cactus League. The site also features unique grounds that include picturesque walking trails, immaculate landscaping and an orange grove. The Dodgers and White Sox training grounds are separated by a flowing water feature that cuts across the five-acre lake.

Awards

- Athletic Business Magazine 2010 Facility of Merit Award in the "Pro Facilities" category.
- 2010 WESTMARC Best of the West Award in "Attractions, Entertainment & Destinations" category.
- 2009 BallparkDigest.com Editor's Choice Award.
- 2009 Phoenix New Times' Best of 2009.

Attendance

- Camelback Ranch-Glendale (CR-G) has hosted six of the 10 largest crowds in Cactus League history.
- Largest crowd: 13,655, March 17, 2012, Giants vs. Dodgers (Cactus League record).

Firsts

- First game: White Sox vs. Dodgers, March 1, 2009.
- First pitch: Hiroki Kuroda, Dodgers, March 1, 2009.
- First hit: Jayson Nix, White Sox, double, second inning, March 1, 2009.
- First home run: Gordon Beckham, White Sox, ninth inning, March 1, 2009.

Campus

- The Dodgers, White Sox and City of Glendale partnered to develop the distinctive complex that covers 141 acres, making CR-G the largest campus in the Cactus League.
- CR-G rests on land owned by the City of Glendale but within the limits of the City of Phoenix. Glendale originally purchased the land to protect Glendale Municipal Airport from encroachment.
- The five-acre water feature (connected lake, river and pond) divides the campus into east (Dodgers) and west (White Sox) and provides irrigation for fields and landscaping plus aesthetic enhancement. It utilizes reclaimed water from the City of Glendale water treatment plant. The water system is "green." Its run-off returns to the natural water table under the dry bed of the Aqua Fria River to the west.
- Over 40,000 tons of sand, close to 10,000 tons of infield clay, more than 1,100 irrigation heads and 1.3 million square feet of Bermuda sod were used to build the stadium playing field, 12 practice diamonds and three practice infields.
- An orange grove, a touch of Dodgertown, southern California and Arizona, is located beyond the left-field wall of replica Dodger Stadium. Grapefruit and lemon trees also adorn the campus.

CR-Glendale, the state-of-the-art spring training facility shared by the White Sox and Dodgers, opened in 2009.

- Landscaping includes approximately 5,000 plants and trees.
- Site work (mass excavation) began November 5, 2007. Building construction started in April, 2008. The complex was completed in approximately 13 months. More than 5,000 workers contributed to the effort. Local workers comprised 95–98 percent of the work force.

Stadium

- The stadium, largest in the Cactus League, offers more than 10,300 fixed seats and grass seating for over 3,000-plus fans. There also are 4 large suites, 8 mini-suites, 1 press box, 1 suite-level Legends Deck, and an outfield All-You-Can-Eat area that sits perched above the Dodgers dugout
- Architects (HKS, Dallas) designed CR-G with sweeps and angles to avoid a big-box look. Natural materials — real stone veneer, architectural metal panels ("rusty panels" or aged CORE 10) and three-tone faux painting — were used for external finishes to blend into the desert surroundings. Caramel-colored stadium seats and stone retaining walls further the natural look. The Gabion retaining walls of stone entrapped in wire mesh required five to 10 trucks per day to haul rock onto the site for months to provide material to build the walls.
- Most fans enter CR-G's stadium through the main gates in center field (Center Field Courtyard) after walking through the campus from the parking lots.
- The hitters' background in center field is framed by Afghan pine trees.
- The stadium playing field is 12 feet below grade, stadium seating is elevated 12 feet above grade and the surrounding stadium buildings are elevated around the main field for unobstructed views.
- Prior to the 2012 season, a shading project was completed that added an additional 800 shaded seats to the stadium.

Team Facilities

- The Dodgers separate their major and minor leaguers in two buildings beyond the stadium's left-field wall; one building beyond the right-field wall combines White Sox major and minor leaguers.
- The baseball buildings contain more than 118,000 square feet of major and minor league clubhouse space.
- Two of the 12 practice fields (four major league, eight minor league) replicate the Dodger and White Sox home ballparks with exact dimensions of Dodger Stadium and U.S. Cellular Field, respectively. Three additional infields also were created.

WHITE SOX IN THE COMMUNITY

Following is a recap of the efforts made in 2012 by the Chicago White Sox Community Relations Department and Chicago White Sox Charities (CWSC):

■ Since it was founded in 2009, the White Sox Volunteer Corps has brought together over 5,661 volunteers and has logged more than 17,000 hours of service. In 2012, 1,037 corps members, along with 30 White Sox team members contributed 5,162 service hours over the course of 27 volunteer projects designed to give back to the greater Chicago community. The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation named the Chicago White Sox as a recipient of the 2012 Steve Patterson Award for Excellence in Sports Philanthropy for the Volunteer Corps program. The award celebrates and promotes those who are improving lives of others by leveraging the unique influence of sports. It was the second national award given to the Volunteer Corps in as many years, as the program also was recognized with the Commissioner's Award for Philanthropic Excellence in 2011.

■ Thirty-three White Sox team members (including manager, coaches, players and broadcasters) made 90 appearances throughout the Chicagoland area in support of the club's various outreach initiatives.

■ All team members took part in pre-game, on-field "meet and greets" with guests from non-profit and community partners.

■ Seven formers players (Minnie Minoso, Bill Melton, Ron Kittle, Carlton Fisk, Frank Thomas, Dan Pasqua and Carlos May) made more than 120 appearances serving as ambassadors for the organization in the community.

■ The White Sox donated over 80,000 tickets utilizing tickets from both the MLB's Commissioner's Initiative and Players Give Back programs. Tickets were donated to community and youth groups in the Chicagoland area that would not have otherwise been able to afford to attend a White Sox game. The tickets were valued at over $1.1 million.

■ Chicago White Sox Charities (CWSC) raised more than $1.4 million in 2012. Fundraising events like Family Field Day and Picnic in the Park, programs like the Sox Split Raffle, Smart Car Raffle and scoreboard messages, and the annual CWSC Week help high fundraising goals become realities.

■ The Chicago White Sox Community Fund, a McCormick Foundation Fund, awarded $610,000 to 30 Chicagoland nonprofit organizations. The Chicago White Sox Community Fund is supported through a major grant from CWSC and matching funds provided by the Robert R. McCormick Foundation.

■ In addition to the Chicago White Sox Community Fund donations, Chicago White Sox Charities awarded $114,500 to seven agencies providing services throughout the community. White Sox Charities also made donations totaling nearly $700,000 to support the White Sox urban youth baseball initiatives and to fund non-profit organizations such as Working in the Schools and the Jackie Robinson Foundation.

■ CWSC invested an additional $300,000 in the White Sox youth baseball programs, reaching 900 inner-city youths on 60 teams. In 2012, 12 players from the White Sox Amateur City Elite team signed letters of intent and received athletic aid at the universities of their choice.

WHITE SOX ETHNIC INITIATIVES

The Chicago White Sox have a long, distinguished history of being one of the most active and aggressive teams in Major League Baseball in the area of community outreach in both the Latino and African-American communities.

Every season, the White Sox participate in community events such as: El Dia del Nino, which hosted the National Museum of Mexican Art; Fiesta Back of the Yards; and The Bud Billiken Parade & Family Picnic in Washington Park.

The Sox also host events such as Noche del Trabajador (Hispanic Business Night), Cinco de Mayo Night, Latino College Night and Noche de Herencia Hispana (Hispanic Heritage Night).

The White Sox activity in the Latino and African-American communities is focused on partnering with and supporting organizations, such as the Boys & Girls Clubs and the Salvation Army, that promote youth academic and athletic programs.

In 2010, Chicago White Sox Charities donated $1 million to the Salvation Army Chicago Metropolitan Division to help build the Ray and Joan Kroc Corps Community Center in Chicago's West Pullman neighborhood. Today, the Kroc Center boast a facility that includes baseball and softball diamonds, where the White Sox Amateur City Elite (ACE) youth baseball program plays and trains. Chicago Bulls Charities also donated $1 million to help build the center, and the main basketball court features the unmistakable Bulls logo at center-court.

The White Sox will host the fifth annual Double Duty Classic on July 9, 2012 continuing the club's effort to grow the game and develop inner-city baseball talent.

Over the past five years, the White Sox have brought together many of the best inner-city high school baseball players from across the country to play in the Double Duty Classic, named after Negro League legend Ted "Double Duty" Radcliffe and commemorating the East-West All-Star game, the historic Negro Leagues All-Star game played at Old Comiskey Park. Players suit up in uniforms similar to those of the original Negro Leagues and play a game at U.S. Cellular Field.

In the past, participating players have attended a special symposium prior to the game, where they learn about the original East-West game and have the opportunity to ask questions and interact with dignitaries from Major League Baseball and the media world. Past symposium participants have included Sharon Robinson (daughter of Jackie Robinson), Scoop Jackson and Michael Wilbon of ESPN, White Sox assistant hitting coach Harold Baines, Sox legend Frank Thomas and the team's executive vice president Ken Williams.

Gordon Beckham and Alexei Ramirez meet and read with groups of kids at the Little Village Boys & Girls Club, located in the South Lawndale neighborhood of Chicago

BASEBALL TERMINOLOGY

Disabled Lists

There are two disabled lists — the 15-day DL and the 60-day DL. Players on the 60-day DL do not count against a club's 40-man roster limit. Players may be placed on either disabled list starting with the day following the last day on which they appeared in a game and may be placed on the DL retroactively, up to a maximum of 10 days. While on the DL, players may be assigned to a minor league club for the purposes of an injury rehabilitation assignment for a maximum of 20 days (30 days for pitchers).

Options

When a player is on a club's 40-man roster and assigned to the minor leagues (except for while on an injury rehabilitation assignment), a player is on "optional assignment." In most cases, a player has three options, which means the player can be on optional assignment during three different seasons (under certain limited circumstances, some players may be eligible for a fourth option). Regardless of how many times a player is optioned and recalled during a single season, the player is only charged with one option during that season — that is, there is no limit on how many times a player may be optioned during a given option year. Once all of a player's options have been used, the player must clear irrevocable waivers before being sent to the minors at any subsequent point in their career.

Waivers

Fundamentally, waivers are permission from the other major league clubs for a requesting club to make a specific roster move. The type of waiver requested by a club depends upon the type of move the club wishes to undertake.

Option Waivers (Revocable): Required any time a club wishes to option a Player for whom at least three years has passed since that player made his major league debut. Option waivers are "revocable", which means if another club enters a claim on a Player, the requesting club may either (i) revoke the request and not make the contemplated roster move or (ii) allow the claiming club to receive the player in exchange for the waiver claim fee (either $20,000 or $25,000 depending upon the Player).

Trade Waivers (Revocable): Required any time a club wishes to assign a Player to another major league club following the July 31 non-waiver trade deadline and before the end of the regular season. Trade waivers are "revocable" which means if another club enters a claim on a Player, the requesting club may either (i) revoke the request and not make the contemplated roster move or (ii) allow the claiming club to receive the player in exchange for the waiver claim fee (either $20,000 or $25,000 depending upon the Player).

Unconditional Release Waivers (Irrevocable): Required any time a club wishes to release a player from his contract. The affected player is removed from the 40-man roster at the time of the request and may be claimed by any club willing to assume the player's contract for a $1.00 waiver claim fee. Unconditional release waivers are "irrevocable" which means should another club claim the player, the club who requested the waivers loses the player to the claiming club. If the player is unclaimed, the player becomes a free agent eligible to sign with any other club and the requesting club owes the player termination pay as mandated by the terms of the player's contract and/or the collective bargaining agreement.

Outright Waivers (Irrevocable): Required any time a club wishes to (i) assign a player to the minors who is out of options or (ii) remove a player from their 40-man roster. These waivers are "irrevocable" which means should another club claim the player, the club who requested the waiver loses the player to the claiming club. If the player is unclaimed, the requesting club may "outright" the affected player to the minors which removes the player from the club's 40-man roster and assigns the player's contract to a minor league affiliate. Under certain limited circumstances, a player who has been outrighted may declare free agency in lieu of accepting assignment to the minor league club.

Designated For Assignment

When the active roster limit and/or the 40-man roster limit of a particular club have been reached, and the club wishes to add an additional player to either the active or the 40-man roster, the club may designate for assignment a player currently on the 40-man roster. The club then has 10 days to either trade, outright to the minors or release the designated player. Once designated, the player no longer counts against the club's active or 40-man roster limits.

Recalled vs. Contract Purchased From Minor Leagues

If a player is on the 40-man roster, he is recalled. If not, then his contract is purchased from the minor-league team. A player must be added to the 40-man roster when his contract is purchased.

Rule 5 Draft

A player not on the major-league 40-man roster is eligible for the Rule 5 Draft if:

1. The player was 18 or younger when he first signed a pro contract and this is the fifth Rule 5 Draft since he signed.
2. He was 19 or older when he first signed a pro contract and this is the fourth Rule 5 Draft since he signed.

HOW TO FIGURE

Batting Average

Divide the number of at-bats into the number of hits (H/AB).

Earned Run Average

Multiply the number of earned runs by nine; take the number and divide it by the number of innings pitched (ERx9/IP)

Slugging Percentage

Divide the total bases of all safe hits by the total times at-bat. At-bats do not include walks, sacrifices, hit by pitcher or times awarded first base because of interference of obstruction (TB/AB).

On-Base Percentage

Add the total of hits, walks and hit by pitches and divide by the total of at-bats, walks, hit by pitches and sacrifice flies (H+BB+HBP/AB+BB+HBP+SF).

Fielding Percentage

Divide the total number of putouts and assists by total chances (putouts, assists and errors; PO+A/PO+A+E).

Magic Number

Determine the number of games yet to be played, add one, then subtract the number of games ahead in the loss column of the standings from the closest opponent.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Roster Limits

A team may have 40 players on its roster until Opening Day, when the number of active players must be reduced to 24 or 25 (not including disabled players) until September 1, at which time the roster again increases to the maximum of 40.

Consecutive Game Hitting Streak

A consecutive game hitting streak shall not end if all the players's plate appearances (one or more) result in a base on balls, hit by pitch, defensive interference of a sacrifice bunt. The streak shall end if the player has a sacrifice fly and no hit.

Major League Service

A full year of service in the major leagues constitutes 172 days.

Day/Night Game

Any game scheduled to start after 5:00 p.m.will be considered a night game. If a game is scheduled to start at or before 5:00 p.m. and is delayed by rain or for any other reason it shall still be considered a day game. However, both games of a twi-night doubleheader shall be considered night games. When afternoon and night games are played on the same day and separate admissions are charged, they will be counted as one day and one night game and will not be considered as a doubleheader.

Rookie Qualifications

A player shall be considered a rookie, if:

1. He has less than 130 at-bats or 50.0 innings pitched in the major leagues during a previous season or seasons, and
2. He has not accumulated more than 45 days on a major league roster during the 25-player limit (excluding time in the military or on the disabled list).

Save Rule

A pitcher shall be credited with a save when he meets the following three conditions:

1. He is the finishing pitcher in a game won by his club, and
2. He is not winning pitcher, and
3. He qualifies under one of the following conditions:
   a. he enters the game with a lead of no more than three runs and pitches for at least one inning, or
   b. he enters the game with the potential tying run either on base, at bat or on deck, or
   c. he pitches effectively for at least three innings.

Batting Championship Qualifications

To qualify a player must have a minimum of 502 plate appearances (3.1 for each of the 162 scheduled games). If however, there is any player with fewer than the required number of plate appearances whose average would be the highest if he were charged with the required number of official at-bats, then the player shall be awarded the batting championship.

ERA Championship Qualifications

To qualify a pitcher must have at least 162.0 innings pitched and have the lowest ERA.

MEDICAL GLOSSARY

AC Joint — Acromioclavicular joint; joint of the shoulder where acromion process of the scapula and the distal end of the clavicle meet; most shoulder separations occur at this point.

Anterior Cruciate Ligament (ACL) — A primary stabilizing ligament within the center of the knee joint that prevents hyperextension and excessive rotation of the joint. A complete tear of the ACL necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 months of rehabilitation.

Arthroscopy — A surgical examination of the internal structures of a joint by means of viewing through an arthroscope. An arthroscopic procedure can be used to remove or repair damaged tissue or as a diagnostic procedure in order to inspect the extent of any damage or confirm a diagnosis.

Bone Scan — An imaging procedure in which a radioactive-labeled substance is injected into the body to determine the status of a bone injury. If the radioactive substance is taken up by the bone at the injury site, the injury will show as a "hot spot" on the scan image. The bone scan is particularly useful in the diagnosis of stress fractures.

Cartilage — Smooth, slippery substance preventing two ends of bones from rubbing together.

CAT Scan — Use of a computer to produce a cross-sectional view of the anatomical part being investigated from x-ray data.

Concussion — Jarring injury of the brain resulting in dysfunction. It can be graded as mild, moderate or severe depending on loss of consciousness, amnesia and loss of equilibrium.

Debridement — Removal of non-healthy tissues and foreign material from a wound or burn to prevent infection and permit healing.

Disc — A flat, rounded plate between each vertebrae of the spine. The disc consists of a thick fibering which surrounds a soft gel-like interior. It functions as a cushion for the spinal column.

Gadolinium MRI — The chemical gadolinium is injected into the joint so as to enhance the diagnosis of the structure under investigation.

Hematoma — Tumor-like mass produced by an accumulation of coagulated blood in a cavity.

Hyperextension — Extreme extension of a limb or body part.

Impingement Syndrome — Pinching together of the supraspinatus muscle and other soft tissue in the shoulder. The most common (throwing) arm injury, which represents many pathologies and generally involves supraspinatus overuse.

Labrum (Labrum Glenoidule) — The cartilage of the glenoid cavity in the shoulder. A lip-edge or lip-like structure.

Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) — Imaging procedure in which a radio frequency pulse causes certain electrical elements of the injured tissue to react to this pulse and through this process a computer display and permanent film establish a visual image. MRI does not require radiation and is very useful in the diagnosis of soft tissue, disc and meniscus injuries.

Medial Collateral Ligament (MCL) — Ligament of knee along the medial aspect that connects the femur to the joint.

Meniscus — Crescent shaped cartilage, usually pertaining to the knee joint; also known as "cartilage." There are two menisci in the knee, medial and lateral. These work to absorb weight within the knee and provide stability.

Posterior Cruciate Ligament (PCL) — A primary stabilizing ligament of the knee that provides significant stability and prevents displacement of the tibia backward within the knee joint. A complete tear of this ligament necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 months of rehabilitation.

Rotator Cuff — Comprised of four muscles in the shoulder area that can be irritated by overuse. The muscles are the supraspinatus (most commonly injured), infraspinatus, teres minor and subscapularis.

Rotator Cuff Impingement Syndrome — A microtrauma or overuse injury caused by stress. The four stages are: 1) tendenitis with temporary thickening of the bursa and rotator cuff 2) fiber dissociation in the tendon with permanent thickening of the bursa and scar formation 3) a partial rotator cuff tear of less than 1 cm and 4) a complete tear of 1 cm or more.

Sprain — Injury resulting from the stretch or twist of the joint and causes various degrees of stretch or tear of a ligament or other soft tissue at the joint.

Strain — Injury resulting from a pull or torsion to the muscle or tendon that causes various degrees of stretch or tear to the muscle or tendon tissue.

Stress Fracture — A hairline-type break in a bone caused by overuse.

Tendon — Tissue that connects muscle to bone.

Ulnar Nerve — Nerve in the elbow commonly irritated from excessive throwing.

Ultrasound — An electrical modality that transmits a sound wave through an applicator into the skin to the soft tissue in order to heat the local area for relaxing the injured tissue and/or disperse edema.
