The loss snapped a four-game winning streak for the Braves over the Yankees dating to last season, their longest winning run over New York in history...They had won back-to-back games five times previously.

A Atlanta is just 20-27 (.426) all-time against New York since the advent of interleague play in 1997, its worst record against any AL team in that span... The Braves and Yankees have met four times in the World Series, with Atlanta going 1-3 in these sets...The Milwaukee Braves won the title in 1957, before the Yankees won in 1958, 1996 and 1999.

A The Braves' 18 homers over their last eight games match their total from the previous 21 contests, May 22 to June 14...Atlanta ranks tied for 12th in the majors with 84 homers on the season, one year after leading baseball and tying the single-season major league record with 307 homers in 2023.

A All three of Atlanta's runs last night scored via home run, and 70.5% of the Braves' runs dating to June 14 have come from the longball...That percentage is highest in the majors...Through Atlanta's first 66 games of the season, just 38.0% of its runs came via homer, 11th most in baseball...The Braves were the only team in baseball to score over half of its runs (51.7%) from the home run last season.

A Atlanta and New York combined to hit four home runs last night, and none of them would have been out in all 30 major league parks...Aaron Judge's first-inning homer would have also been out in just eight other parks around the league...Per Baseball Savant, Yankee Stadium is ranked as the sixth most homer-friendly park in the majors with a home run mark of 114, meaning that of batters and pitchers who played at both Yankee Stadium and elsewhere, 14% more home runs occurred in New York...Atlanta's Truist Park ranked 23rd with a home run mark of 90.
