LETTER from the FOUNDER

Turn 2 Foundation, Inc.

Dear friends,

During this year's Annual Dinner, two of our Jeter's Leaders conducted red carpet interviews with guests, and when they asked me what makes me most proud of Turn 2 after all these years, the answer was easy – it's them, and all of the young people we've served.

I love hearing directly from our students, and one of my favorite parts about this magazine is that there's a section dedicated to our graduating class of Jeter's Leaders, who share what they gained from this program. Their responses blow me away, and as you read through them, you'll notice there's a common sentiment echoed among the entire class. They describe this group as their second family; a safe space where they've been given opportunities to grow and share their opinions without being judged. Often we hear that they don't know where they'd be without this second family.

We see this impact across our programs – in the students who receive mental health support through Turn 2 Us, and the young people who are overcoming struggles with substance abuse at the Derek Jeter Center at Phoenix House. When young people are surrounded by a strong supporting cast, they gain the confidence to push through challenges, develop goals, and lead paths to healthy, successful futures.

I recently had an opportunity to reflect on my career, and the moments and people that shaped my life. Moments with my parents, who taught both Sharlee and me important life values and inspired us to pursue our dreams; the day my friend and brother, Gerald Williams, took me under his wing when I was struggling as a rookie with the Yankees; experiences on and off the field with teammates and coaches who became family; the day I met my wife, and the moments our three beautiful daughters were born.

We all have people in our lives who played key roles that led to where we are today. For the hundreds of young people we serve, those people are the individuals they are surrounded by through our programs.

Your support helps to create these lifechanging moments and connections for so many young people, and I am grateful to each of you for playing a part in changing their lives: our partners and sponsors, who help us to provide invaluable experiences and opportunities for the youth we serve; our friends and supporters, who take the time to support our important events that raise vital funds for our initiatives; our dedicated staff, who always go above and beyond and continue to serve as reliable role models for our young people. And of course, my family. Thank you to Sharlee for being the force behind this Foundation and truly taking Turn 2 to new heights. And finally, thank you to my parents and my wife, Hannah, for not only being there for me and our family, but for the youth we serve.

As we look to the future, we are moving full speed ahead in our mission to ensure countless more youth have access to not only opportunities but individuals who will root for them and help them achieve their greatest potential in life. All it takes is one moment, one person, to change the course of one's future, and becoming a part of the Turn 2 family can be that moment for so many young people.

Sincerely,

Derek Jeter

THE PLAYERS' TRIBUNE IS PROUD TO SUPPORT THE TURN 2 FOUNDATION

LETTER from the PRESIDENT

Dear friends,

In the 26 years since The Turn 2 Foundation was created, there have been countless moments that have demonstrated the lifechanging impact of our initiatives on the youth we serve. Every day, Turn 2's diverse mix of programming continues to open doors to brighter futures for so many young people.

Our Turn 2 Us program in partnership with NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital addresses mental health directly in elementary school classrooms, and over the past academic year alone, provided more than 2,400 New York City students, educators, and caregivers with access to vital resources. In Florida, the Derek Jeter Center at Phoenix House has continued to offer hope in a safe space for teens who are struggling with substance abuse through its tailored treatment plans and programs. Throughout the year, our Jeter's Leaders immersed themselves in invaluable experiences that provided the tools they need to pursue their ambitions – including paid internships at prestigious organizations, college tours, and much more – which resulted in our entire class of senior Leaders graduating high school and getting accepted into top colleges and universities.

Through it all, the most humbling moments for me are witnessing the spark that ignites within young people when they discover the strength to overcome challenges, grow with confidence, develop a passion for creating meaningful change, and realize their utmost potential.

This shined through during our 2022 Social Change Project over the summer in New Orleans, held in partnership with Goldman Sachs Community TeamWorks and HandsOn New Orleans. I had the pleasure of joining our Jeter's Leaders for the impactful initiative where we worked together to help beautify a beloved community space. As we spent the day landscaping, repainting tennis courts, refurbishing picnic tables and making more improvements to the area, I listened to the Jeter's Leaders as they shared words of encouragement with one another, like "you got this," "this is going to make such a difference," and "look how much we accomplished today." Later in the afternoon, the students created murals with leadership values that are important to them, featuring principles like respect, trust, positivity, communication, and role models.

Throughout the four-day initiative, I was in awe of these students. They were eager to devote their time to giving back to this local community, and they recognized they aren't just future leaders – they are leaders now, who are at the forefront of making the world a better place.

As you turn the page and read more about our incredible programs in this year's magazine, I hope you feel a sense of pride knowing that your support enables our Foundation to have a profound, transformational impact each day.

There is much more work to be done to cultivate an inclusive, equitable society, and I know that together, we will continue to inspire more young people to lead healthy, successful lives, and show them that, as youth, they can create positive change.

Sincerely,

Sharlee Jeter

TURN 2 HONORS THE LIFE AND LEGACY OF Gerald Williams with 2022 MVP Award

Major League Baseball outfielder Gerald Williams' impact on the field is undeniable, but his integrity and passion for creating positive change off the field are what truly set him apart.

During spring training with the New York Yankees in 1993, Williams became more than just a teammate to then-young shortstop Derek Jeter, when he invited the rookie from Kalamazoo to dinner and took him under his wing. Jeter was grateful to Williams for his act of kindness, and the two developed a strong bond that blossomed into a nearly 30-year friendship.

"Gerald was the definition of a good friend," said Derek Jeter. "He was always someone I could turn to for support or words of encouragement, and I reflect on the conversations we shared often."

Throughout his life, Williams supported local initiatives in New Orleans where he was raised and served as a mentor to countless individuals. When The Turn 2 Foundation was established in 1996 he was eager to join its mission, and was one of the first athletes to volunteer to participate in its initial fundraisers and events in New York, Kalamazoo and Tampa.

Williams also devoted his time to serving as a special guest speaker and instructor during several of Turn 2's Baseball Clinics. At each event, he shared important life lessons with local children, inspiring them to dream big, lead healthy lifestyles and reach their utmost potential.

"Gerald was truly a selfless and caring individual who touched the lives of so many, and our family is incredibly grateful for the many years of friendship we shared," said Sharlee Jeter. "His character and positive spirit were unmatched, and he served as a tremendous role model to young people through his work with our Foundation and beyond."

In 2011, Williams joined Turn 2's Board of Directors, and in the years since served as a dedicated, active member. His voice on the Board reflected his passion for supporting young people, and his steady guidance and policy recommendations helped further the Foundation's mission to provide young people with opportunities to succeed.

"I feel so blessed to have had a friend like Gerald in my corner," said Derek Jeter. "From the first day we met, he was a beacon of light and I am so grateful to have known him, and for the youth we serve to have had the opportunity to be inspired by him as well." ■

The Turn 2 Foundation is proud to honor Gerald Williams with the 2022 MVP Award. Gerald demonstrated an unwavering commitment to the values of Turn 2, and we are proud to honor and carry forth his legacy.

26th ANNUAL

TURN 2 FOUNDATION DINNER

TURN 2 FOUNDATION'S STAR-STUDED 26TH ANNUAL DINNER RAISES $2 MILLION TO SUPPORT YOUTH DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMS

Hundreds of celebrities, athletes, friends and supporters joined The Turn 2 Foundation for an unforgettable evening to celebrate its 26th Annual Dinner at The Glasshouse on October 26, which raised more than $2 million to support Turn 2's mission of fostering leadership development, academic excellence and healthy lifestyles among young people.

The evening began with a star-studded red carpet featuring celebrity guests from the worlds of sports and entertainment, including Tiki Barber, Traci Johnson, James Murray, Nate Bursleson, CC Sabathia, Amber Sabathia, Misty Copeland, Harry Carson, Stefanie Dolson, DJ Premier, Dr. Sampson Davis, Tino Martinez, Darius Miles, Melba Wilson, John Franco, Randy Wilkins, Joe Torre, John Starks and Jay Williams.

Hoda Kotb, co-anchor of NBC News' TODAY and co-host of TODAY with Hoda & Jenna, returned as emcee, kicking off the program by highlighting Turn 2's work to create positive change through its signature initiatives for youth across the country.

"For the last 26 years, Turn 2 has had an incredible impact on so many young people, and as we look ahead to the future, it is so important that we continue advancing our mission to support youth and provide them with the tools they need to succeed," said Derek Jeter. "The ongoing support of our partners, sponsors, donors and friends has not only helped Turn 2 become what it is today, but ensured that we can truly bolster our programs and reach hundreds more young people."

During the evening, Turn 2 honored the late Gerald Williams, Major League Baseball outfielder, with the 2022 MVP Award for the profound impact he had on countless young people across the country through his work both on and off the field. In addition to supporting local initiatives in New Orleans, where he was raised, Williams served as a dedicated member on Turn 2's Board of Directors and devoted his time to inspiring children to dream big during the Foundation's Baseball Clinics. Williams' wife, Liliana, accepted the award on his behalf during a moving presentation that paid tribute to his life and legacy.

"We are so grateful to Gerald for serving as an extraordinary role model to young people through his work with our Foundation and beyond, and we are even more grateful for the many years of friendship we shared," Sharlee Jeter expressed during the recognition.

Following a delicious dinner, the 2022 graduates of the Jeter’s Leaders program took the stage, as they were recognized for their achievements and commitment to academic excellence, community service, leadership and social change.

“Inspiring youth to rise above negative influences, lead healthy lifestyles and serve as leaders is at the core of Turn 2’s mission. Each of our programs motivate young people to channel their passion and determination into greatness, and recognize the endless possibilities that lie ahead for their future,” said Sharlee.

Throughout the program, guests bid on unique memorabilia and experiences during live and silent auctions, and later in the evening, enjoyed an insightful conversation presented by The Players’ Tribune. Moderated by former NBA player and television analyst Jay Williams, the program featured a conversation with Derek Jeter and Misty Copeland, the first African American female principal ballet dancer with the American Ballet Theatre, where they reflected on what greatness means to them, what motivated them to achieve success, and how to inspire future generations to pursue their dreams and reach their utmost potential.

“I view greatness as a mindset, and that’s how you should go about your life on a daily basis,” shared Derek. “It’s about finding things you’re passionate about, it’s working hard - if you have that mindset day in and day out, then you can achieve your goals.” This year’s event went out with a bang, as iconic, multi-platinum, GRAMMY Award-winning artists Joey Fatone of *NSYNC and Wanyá Morris of Boyz II Men presented AFTR PRTY. Guests were blown away by the performances, which also featured surprise guests including lead vocalist of Creed Scott Stapp, Impractical Jokers’ James Murray, and hip-hop artist Rob Base.

Turn 2 is grateful to all who supported and joined the 26th Annual Dinner, which will help the Foundation to expand its initiatives and provide more youth with opportunities to succeed and leave their mark on this world. ■

A Beacon of Hope at the Derek Jeter Center at Phoenix House Florida

In the 14 years since the Derek Jeter Center at Phoenix House Florida was established, its tailored programs and treatment plans have helped thousands of youth transform their lives and create paths to brighter futures.

Over the years, The Turn 2 Foundation contributed more than $1.6 million to the Center. This support led to its renovation in 2017, which enabled the facility to double its treatment capacity, catapulting its services to provide essential resources to families throughout Florida and help more young people struggling with substance abuse regain control of their lives.

“As a foundation that is rooted in motivating youth to turn away from drugs and alcohol, we are proud to partner with Phoenix House Florida and support its mission of providing substance abuse treatment to teens,” said Derek Jeter. “This Center has offered vital support for so many young people over the years, and continues to have a profound, life-changing impact on this community.”

In subsequent years, youth have experienced heightened uncertainty and increased levels of stress due to the COVID-19 pandemic, which had a devastating impact on their mental health. These challenges, coupled with the rise in the opioid epidemic - which are substances teens are likely to experiment with after abusing marijuana and alcohol - pose immense pressure on young people.

Keeping youth sober with a well-rounded support system is a priority for the Derek Jeter Center, which has remained at the forefront of ensuring young people in Florida have access to vital treatment and mental health services.

“Providing resources that are centered on overcoming peer pressure, substance abuse, and mental health challenges is more important than ever. The Derek Jeter Center at Phoenix House Florida does incredible work to meet the changing needs of young people and their families, ensuring they are fully supported,” said Sharlee Jeter.

With its highly trained and compassionate staff, the Derek Jeter Center helps vulnerable teens cope with peer pressure by providing

“At the Derek Jeter Center, we are committed to helping adolescents and teens who suffer from addiction and dependency, as well as co-occurring mental health conditions. Through the generous support of The Turn 2 Foundation, this has allowed us to help thousands of youth regain control of their lives and pave the way for a brighter future.”

early intervention services and treatment that give them the tools to make healthy decisions. The Center provides both intensive outpatient and outpatient treatment to youth nine or more hours weekly, with sessions taking place after school hours from one to four days each week.

Services are individualized to best meet the needs of each patient, and include assessments, individual, group and family counseling, drug and alcohol screenings, psycho-educational therapy and life-skills training sessions that emphasize how to lead healthy, sober lives. In addition to treating the individual, the Derek Jeter Center also puts a focus on family involvement to help parents and guardians understand the vital role they play in their teens' recovery.

The Derek Jeter Center continually works to refine and improve treatment services which incorporate a wide range of techniques and programs for substance abuse care. Currently, Phoenix House Florida is developing Dialectical Behavior Therapy as a more intensive addiction recovery program at the Derek Jeter Center to serve young adults ages 18-24 years old. Its main objective is to teach young people how to live in the moment, develop healthy ways to cope with stress, regulate their emotions, and improve their relationships with others.

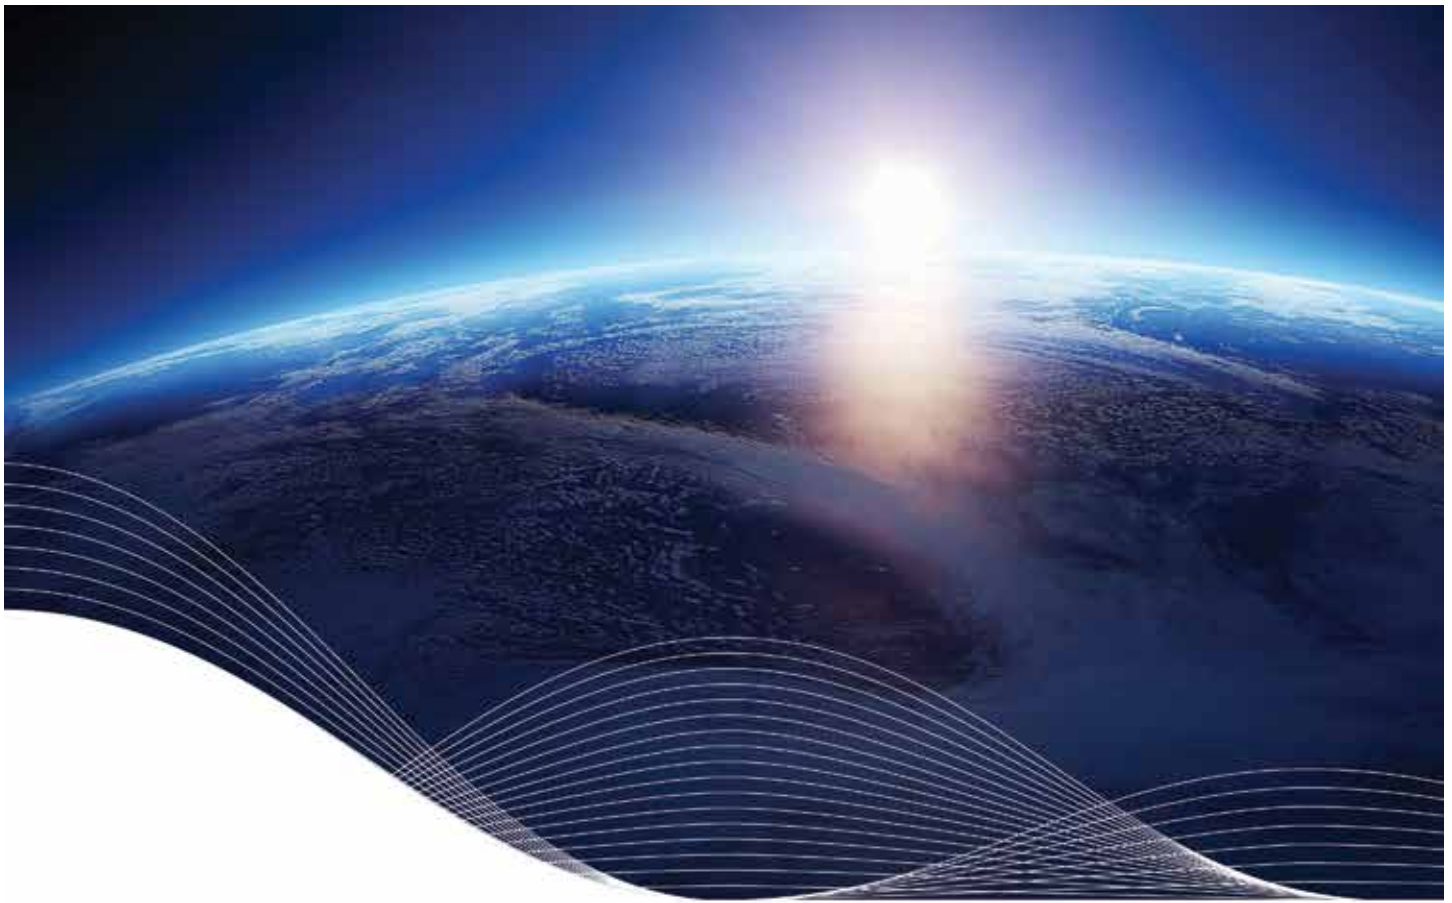

To advance the Center's mission of providing vital resources and support to vulnerable populations of youth, in October Phoenix House Florida hosted its inaugural fundraising event "Rise with Phoenix," at the Bryan Glazer Family JCC. The event raised critical funds to support the Derek Jeter Center's mission to serve more young adults in need of addiction recovery options, and included live entertainment, a live auction, a raffle and more.

As young people continue to navigate increasingly complex challenges, the Derek Jeter Center is a beacon of hope for the West Florida community, helping youth recognize their potential while serving as a safe space on their journey to pursue healthy, successful lives. ■ representing New Orleans, to inspire youth and highlight the city's rich culture.

Following the community service project, The Turn 2 Foundation and its Jeter's Leaders presented a $10,000 donation to the Friends of Joe W. Brown Park to support its mission of improving the beauty, cleanliness and safety of the park.

"It's so important for youth to recognize their ability to create social change and have access to the tools they need to take action," said Derek Jeter. "The Social Change Project provides our Jeter's Leaders with an opportunity to give back, but it's their passion, drive and enthusiasm that make the real difference. I am so inspired by their commitment to this year's project, and I am very proud of what they were able to achieve."

"Young people aren't just future leaders, we are leaders now," said Kalamazoo Jeter's Leader Whitney – a powerful statement that shined through during The Turn 2 Foundation's 2022 Social Change Project in August, as high school students from the Jeter's Leaders program ventured from their West Michigan and New York homes to New Orleans to create positive change in the local community.

As part of the four-day initiative, the Jeter's Leaders, Turn 2 Foundation President Sharlee Jeter, volunteers from HandsOn New Orleans and members of Goldman Sachs Community TeamWorks worked together to revitalize the Joe W. Brown Park and Recreation Center, a special space for local residents to connect and lead healthy lifestyles.

"Turn 2's mission has always been focused on teaching young people that they have the power to create positive change, and the Social Change Project allows our Jeter's Leaders to immerse themselves in service and make a real, meaningful difference," said Sharlee Jeter. "The impact truly extends beyond the confines of this event, with our students leaving inspired to give back to their local communities and make the world a better place."

The group spent the day repainting tennis courts, refurbishing picnic tables, restriping parking lots, landscaping and gardening. The students also expressed their passion for social change by creating murals that featured leadership values and images

Turn 2 coordinated the community service project with HandsOn, an organization committed to engaging, empowering and transforming New Orleans communities through volunteer services. The Foundation first worked with HandsOn at its 2010 Social Change Project in New Orleans. The service project was also in partnership with Goldman Sachs Community TeamWorks, the firm's volunteer program through which the people of Goldman Sachs contribute their ideas and expertise to drive tangible progress in communities where they work and live.

"We are thrilled to have partnered with The Turn 2 Foundation as part of its 2022 Social Change Project," said Chris Cameron, executive director of HandsOn New Orleans. "Turn 2's mission to empower youth to create positive change aligns perfectly with HandsOn New Orleans' commitment to engaging and transforming our community through volunteer service, and we were proud to be a part of this impactful initiative."

In addition to the service project, the Jeter's Leaders participated in various team-building activities and experienced a special tour of New Orleans with Cajun Encounters, where they explored sights and learned about the city's history. The students also convened to discuss topics to present at the 2023 Jeter's Leaders Leadership Conference - a national conference that will bring together youth leaders from across the country for discussions about social change.

As the Jeter's Leaders departed New Orleans, they felt pride in their accomplishments and a renewed responsibility to serve as role models for their peers.

"I'm so proud that my fellow Jeter's Leaders and I made a positive difference in New Orleans," said New York Jeter's Leader Tristian. "I'm eager to apply what I've learned through this experience to continue serving my own community and grow as a leader." ■

STARS TEE OFF IN THE BAHAMAS FOR GOLF TOURNAMENT BENEFITTING THE TURN 2 FOUNDATION

Dozens of celebrities and athletes brought their A-game to The Bahamas this year, as the 2022 Derek Jeter Celebrity Invitational made its debut at Baha Mar. From a competitive golf tournament at Baha Mar's Jack Nicklaus signature design Royal Blue Golf Course, to exclusive events and performances, the star-studded event featured memorable festivities at The Bahamas' newest luxury resort destination and contributed more than $1 million to The Turn 2 Foundation.

Among the many celebrity guests who joined to support Turn 2's mission were sports legends Ahmad Rashad, Ken Griffey Jr., Tino Martinez, Jorge Posada, CC Sabathia, Tiki Barber and Natalie Gulbis; as well as some of the biggest names in entertainment, including Pitbull, Anthony Anderson, D-Nice, Joey Fatone, and Angie Martinez.

"The support we received from this year's event will enable Turn 2 to provide more young people with opportunities to excel in their academics, lead healthy lifestyles, ignite positive change in their communities and develop into future leaders," said Derek Jeter. "The success of the 2022 DJCI would not be possible without our outstanding network of supporters, and I'm so grateful to everyone for believing in Turn 2's mission."

Held in partnership with Baha Mar, ICON International, Warner Brothers Discovery and JP Sports + Entertainment, the festivities began on Thursday, April 28, with an exclusive welcome reception at the luxe Marcus at Baha Mar Fish + Chop House. With the ocean as a dazzling backdrop, Hall of Fame radio personality, author and actress Angie Martinez emceed the intimate evening as guests danced to music by award-winning and legendary artist, DJ, and philanthropist D-Nice.

During the reception, Derek Jeter and Sharlee Jeter presented a $25,000 donation from Turn 2 to the Baha Mar Foundation, supporting its mission of serving the local community through youth development and healthy lifestyles initiatives. Since its opening in 2017, Baha Mar has supported a wide array of causes pertaining to community, culture and conservation throughout The Bahamas.

"The Baha Mar Foundation does incredible work to support the local community through youth development opportunities, cultural support, and other enriching programs," said Sharlee Jeter. "We are so proud to support their efforts and look forward to expanding our partnership in the years to come.”

“We were thrilled to be a partner and the host destination for the Derek Jeter Celebrity Invitational this spring,” said Graeme Davis, president of Baha Mar. “Derek Jeter’s Turn 2 Foundation aligns perfectly with Baha Mar’s mission to continue raising awareness and funds that support the community by building a stronger future for our youth.”

The next morning, celebrity and amateur teams teed off at the sprawling 18-hole Royal Blue Golf Course for round one of the tournament, with Larry Walker landing in first place. That afternoon, celebrity guests went head-to-head in a competitive shoot-out at Royal Blue, complete with comedic introductions by Anthony Anderson. CC Sabathia won the competition with his precise shot that was declared closest to the pin.

The competition and beautiful Bahamian weather heated up as the tournament continued Saturday, April 30, and after a day spent on the course, Ken Griffey Jr. and Tino Martinez earned the coveted DJCI championship title.

Later that evening at Baha Mar’s Performing Arts & Convention Center, VIPs walked the red carpet and attended the signature DJCI Gala, which immediately featured a special performance by a local Bahamas Junkanoo band that had the crowd dancing into the ballroom. After enjoying a delicious meal, guests turned their attention to the stage, where Angie Martinez emceed the program that highlighted Turn 2’s impact on young people across the country. Later, Joey Fatone joined Angie on stage to host an exciting live auction that raised over $100,000 for the Foundation. Closing out the spectacular evening, GRAMMY Award-winning artist Pitbull delivered an electrifying performance that had guests filling the dance floor.

On Sunday, May 1, DJCI concluded with an 18-hole celebrity tournament at Royal Blue.

Since DJCI launched in Las Vegas in 2015, it has contributed more than $8 million to The Turn 2 Foundation, helping to support its signature programs which equip hundreds of young people with resources to lead healthy lifestyles, excel academically, and positively impact their communities through social change. ■

Turn 2 Us: Helping Youth Achieve Mental Wellness

Since its inception, The Turn 2 Foundation's mental health promotion program created in partnership with NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital, Turn 2 Us, has been working to address mental health directly in the classroom with thousands of elementary school students, school staff, parents and caregivers in Washington Heights, through a comprehensive range of services before, during, and after school hours.

Prior to the COVID-19 pandemic, the CDC found that one in five children had a mental disorder, but only 20% of those children received care from a mental health provider – an alarming statistic that highlights mental health support for youth has been critically needed for years.

The past three years have demonstrated that Turn 2 Us' mission is more important than ever before, as mental health issues continue to be exacerbated by challenges surrounding the pandemic. In 2020, the Ann & Robert H. Lurie Children's Hospital of Chicago conducted a survey to 1,000 parents around the country, where 71 percent of parents said the pandemic took a toll on their child's mental health, and 69 percent said the pandemic was the worst thing to happen to their child.

Turn 2 Us has continued to provide vital resources to students, staff, and caregivers throughout the pandemic, and over the past academic year, served more than 2,400 individuals through in-person and virtual workshops geared toward mindfulness exercises, social media and internet safety, healthy lifestyles practices that promote mental well-being and academic success, and more. The program also held staff development workshops for teachers, administrators, and other school staff, while increasing awareness of the critical need for mental health support in households through tailored workshops for caregivers.

While the world rebuilds and returns to normalcy, the impacts of social distancing, virtual learning, and uncertainty have had negative, long-term impacts on countless young people and their mental wellbeing. Turn 2 Us is committed to ensuring more students have access to resources that will guide them through challenges, educate them on ways to effectively communicate, and most importantly, to reach out for support when they need it. ■

Jeter's Leaders Look Toward a Bright Future in College

As the Jeter's Leaders stepped off the bus and entered their first campus visit during The Turn 2 Foundation's Spring into College Tour, a rush of excitement filled the group, with chatter spanning from interests in majors to an eagerness to explore the area. This moment marked the beginning of a new chapter for the students, as they learned about various course offerings and programs, participated in teambuilding activities, engaged with Jeter's Leaders alumni, and toured campuses during visits to Connecticut College, DePaul University, Harold Washington College, Northwestern University, Quinnipiac University, University of Chicago, University of Connecticut and University of Hartford.

"I'm grateful I was able to bond with my fellow Leaders and learn more about what I want to study through this opportunity," said Naomi, a Kalamazoo Jeter's Leader. "By participating in these college tours, I was able determine how I can navigate the application process and envision myself in a college setting."

During their visit to DePaul University, the Kalamazoo Jeter's Leaders toured the Lincoln Park campus, learned about the University's Driehaus College of Business - one of the 10 oldest business schools in the U.S. - and gained exposure to its various academic programs. They then ventured to Northwestern University's Evanston campus - currently home to Jeter's Leaders alumnus Anthony Tyus - where they learned about the University's highly ranked Kellogg business program, its medical program, and journalism curriculum.

The New York Jeter's Leaders experienced a guided tour of the University of Connecticut, where they learned about areas of study and traditions, and had the opportunity to visit the renowned Gampel Pavilion, which is home to the University's basketball teams. During a tour at Connecticut College, Jeter's Leaders alumnus Ajani Patterson and collegiate athlete and Founder of Thriving Not Surviving Allie Tillinghast offered an inside look into college life, with visits to Conn College's new state-of-the-art library and outdoor botany center. At Quinnipiac University, Jeter's Leaders alumnus Derek Hernandez discussed the ins-and-outs of life at the University - offering an informative session on diversity, in addition to tours of dorm rooms and dining quarters - and during a visit to the University of Hartford, the Jeter's Leaders learned about its mechanical engineering program and STEM-based courses.

"This tour was extremely valuable to prepare for my college experience," said Aryaman, a Kalamazoo Jeter's Leader. "It helped me realize the possibilities that lie ahead for the future."

Bright Future in College (cont'd)

"This initiative helped me decide what college is the right fit for me and get to know my peers on a deeper level," said Anayah, a New York Jeter's Leader. "It was also exciting to speak with alumni who shared their insights. I'm looking forward to this next adventure!"

The Turn 2 Foundation's College Tours are a highly anticipated initiative each year for the Jeter's Leaders, providing students with opportunities to explore new cities, gain exposure to various opportunities for their futures, and ultimately determine their dream school. For the past 16 consecutive years, 100% of Jeter's Leaders have graduated high school and earned acceptance into college. Graduates of the program have attended more than 75 colleges across the country, from Ivy Leagues, to Historically Black Colleges and Universities, to acclaimed state universities and leading research institutions.

"I'm really proud of how much we've all grown over the past few years," said Evan, a New York Jeter's Leader. "The sky is the limit and I'm excited for all that's ahead!" ■

JETER'S LEADERS EXPERIENCE AN "EVENING OF DISCOVERY"

The Jeter's Leaders experienced a night they'll always remember as part of Movado and the Movado Group Foundation's Evening of Discovery at David Geffen Hall in Lincoln Center on December 4.

During the extraordinary evening, the high school students were blown away by an incredible orchestral tribute to the Notorious B.I.G. The Jeter's Leaders also enjoyed an exclusive pre-performance panel discussion with Shanta Thake, chief artistic officer at Lincoln Center, and Celeste Hubbard-Breen, president of Hecho Studios, which was moderated by Kristi Davidson, director of corporate responsibility at Movado Group. The discussion focused on the power of the arts to communicate, with the speakers sharing how they have used different art mediums throughout their careers to tell stories, and the impact those communications have had on culture and social justice issues. The evening continued with a powerful presentation led by Dr. Christopher Emdin, professor of hip-hop and African American studies at Columbia University, leaving the students inspired to become the best version of themselves. At the end of the festivities, the Jeter's Leaders received holiday gift bags, which included signature watches provided by Movado.

"Arts and culture provide our Jeter's Leaders with such a rich, relevant and integral connection to the academic goals fostered by The Turn 2 Foundation," said Derek Jeter. "Thank you to Movado for providing our students with special opportunities like this to explore, experience and engage in innovative programs and initiatives that help promote personal growth and development."

Movado's Evening of Discovery is part of Turn 2's 16-year partnership with Movado to provide the Jeter's Leaders with opportunities that will motivate them to become well-rounded, cultured individuals, including career days, paid internships, and more.

"We are thrilled to be a part of this wonderful partnership with Derek Jeter's Turn 2 Foundation for the 12th consecutive year - my team and I look forward to this event every holiday season," said Efraim Grinberg, Chairman and CEO, Movado Group. "It gives Movado great pleasure to provide these incredible students with experiences that enrich their lives and help inspire innovation, productive communication and creativity through the cultural arts."

The Turn 2 Foundation is grateful to Movado for its long-standing partnership and commitment to supporting young people. ■

THE TURN 2 FOUNDATION PAYS TRIBUTE TO MOVADO'S MARY LEACH

Mary Leach led a remarkable career as global chief marketing officer at Movado Group for more than two decades - and if asked what she was most passionate about in her role, she'd speak to her work empowering youth to learn and grow through the arts, while exposing them to the vast career opportunities at Movado.

Leach's passion for providing new, enriching experiences for young people led her to play an important role in forming a new partnership between Movado Group and Turn 2 in 2006. The collaboration has since flourished into a multi-faceted 16-year relationship offering a diverse mix of impactful programs for the youth the Foundation serves, from annual events introducing hundreds of students to arts and culture, to paid internship opportunities within Movado, and more.

"Mary was an inspirational force, and her passion as a champion for young people shined through in every event and initiative that she carefully curated for our students. In addition to implementing programs that centered on arts and culture, Mary ensured our Jeter's Leaders had opportunities to learn about business, marketing, design and more career paths within Movado, motivating them to determine their future career goals," said Sharlee Jeter. "We are deeply saddened by Mary's passing, and will cherish the wonderful memories we shared with her as we continue to honor her legacy through our Foundation's programs."

A fervent advocate for the arts, Leach spearheaded the coordination of several initiatives that exposed Turn 2's Jeter's Leaders to new experiences and encouraged their growth and success, including Movado's Evening of Discovery. The annual event features powerful performances, insightful panel discussions and more, and was arranged by Leach to introduce students to the cultural arts. Leach also contributed to the Foundation's fundraising events, and celebrated each class of graduating Jeter's Leaders by arranging for the company to gift Movado watches to the bright young students. Additionally, Leach organized impactful career days and was instrumental in her company's internship program, which has provided paid internships for Jeter's Leaders over the past 12 years.

The Turn 2 Foundation is grateful to Leach for devoting her time to giving back and serving as an incredible role model to the young people Turn 2 serves - demonstrating that with perseverance, there is no limit to what they can achieve. The Foundation will continue to honor her memory and carry forth her legacy through its programs that inspire young people to expand their horizons and accomplish their dreams. ■

THANK YOU TO OUR PARTNERS & SPONSORS

Thank you to our amazing partners and sponsors for your continued dedication to Turn 2's mission over the years. Because of your generosity and commitment, we've been able to make a tremendous difference in the lives of countless young people.

Through your support, over the past year we provided critical resources and guidance for youth during some of the most challenging moments in our country, motivating them to remain focused on pursuing their goals and creating positive change; our Turn 2 Us program in partnership with NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital offered vital mental health resources for more than 2,400 students, staff, and caregivers; 100% of our Jeter's Leaders graduated high school and were accepted into top colleges and universities throughout the country; we held an impactful Social Change Project where our Leaders ventured to New Orleans to restore the Joe W. Brown Park and Recreation Center alongside HandsOn New Orleans and Goldman Sachs Community TeamWorks, in addition to learning about the city's rich history and culture; our friends, supporters and many of you joined us in The Bahamas for a successful Derek Jeter Celebrity Invitational, where we proudly donated $25,000 to support the local community through The Baha Mar Foundation; and the Derek Jeter Center at Phoenix House in Florida continued helping youth overcome struggles with substance abuse. These are just some of the amazing milestones we achieved this past year, and we are so grateful for your ongoing support. The Turn 2 Foundation looks forward to furthering our important mission and building generations of future leaders who will continue to break barriers.

B FLORAL IS PROUD TO SUPPORT THE TURN 2FOUNDATION

The Turn 2 Foundation was established in 1996 to motivate young people to turn away from drugs and alcohol and “Turn 2” healthy lifestyles.

In the more than two decades since, Turn 2 has devoted its resources to helping these young people reach their full potential by fostering leadership development, academic excellence, positive behavior and social change.

During its 26-year history, Turn 2 has given back more than $34 million, funding its signature programs as well as organizations that support its mission.
