WELCOME TO OCTOBER—The Rays and Yankees continue their best-of-five AL Division Series this evening at Yankee Stadium with the Rays leading, 2-0...the Rays made the postseason for the sixth time in the last eight seasons (2019–pres.), one of seven clubs to record six appearances over that timeframe along with the Dodgers (8), Astros (7), Braves (7), Brewers (7), Yankees (7), and Padres (6)...despite being one of the majors' youngest two franchises alongside the Diamondbacks, the stretch of six postseason appearances in eight seasons represents a feat that has been accomplished by only 10 of the other 29 major league clubs: the Angels, Astros, Braves, Brewers, Cardinals, Dodgers, Guardians, Phillies, Red Sox, and Yankees...have been to the postseason 10 times in 29 seasons (34.5%)—in MLB history, only the Yankees, who have gone in 61 of 124 seasons (49.2%), have reached the postseason at a higher rate...marks the most berths within a franchise's first 29 years of play since the first World Series in 1903.

★ The Rays staked out a 2-0 ALDS lead with Monday's 5-2 win in Game 2...they plated four of five runs in the 5th inning, their most in a postseason frame since the opening inning during Game 2 of the 2021 ALDS vs. BOS (5)...the four runs surpassed their total from their previous five postseason games combined (3) dating back to Game 1 of the 2022 AL Wild Card Series at CLE.

★ It marked the Rays third postseason win without the benefit of a home run, joining Game 3 of the 2020 ALDS at HOU (5-2) and Game 2 of the 2008 World Series vs. PHI (4-2)...they are 3-14 all-time in such games compared to 27-22 with 1 HR or more...the Rays won a postseason game despite being out-homered (2-0) for the first time since Game 2 of the 2020 World Series at LAD in San Diego (W, 6-4; out-homered, 3-2), snapping a six-game losing streak in such contests.

★ The Rays are 7-9 in potential series-clinching games, including 5-9 in multi-game series...they are 3-6 in such games on the road, losing each of their last four potential clinchers away from home since their last win in the 2019 AL Wild Card Game at OAK (5-1)...the other victories came in the 2013 AL Wild Card Game at CLE (4-0) and Game 4 of the 2008 ALDS at CWS (6-2)...they have won each of the last three postseason series they had a potential clinching opportunity (2020 ALCS, ALDS, and ALWC).

★ The Rays are attempting to sweep a multi-game postseason series for the second time, joining the 2020 AL Wild Card Series vs. TOR (2-0)...they could become the seventh team in MLB history (4th AL team) to sweep the Yankees out of the postseason in a multi-game series and the first to do so before the ALCS...they would join the 2022 Astros (4-0, ALCS), 2012 Tigers (4-0, ALCS), 1980 Royals (3-0, ALCS), 1976 Reds (4-0, WS), 1963 Dodgers (4-0, WS), and 1922 Giants (4-0, WS).

★ Both times the Rays have advanced past the ALDS, they have gone on to make a World Series appearance after winning the ALCS in seven games (2020, 2008)...they are attempting to open a postseason run with three consecutive wins for the first time...this is the third time they have won their first two postseason games, joining the aforementioned runs to the Fall Classic in 2020 and 2008.

IN THE DRIVER'S SEAT—According to MLB.com's Sarah Langs, teams to take a 2-0 lead in a best-of-five postseason series have gone on to win the series 83 of 93 (89.2%) times...this includes 33 of 36 (91.7%) clubs when the home team wins Game 1 under the current 2-2-1 format...this is the third time the Rays have taken a 2-0 advantage in a best-of-five or best-of-seven series, joining the 2020 ALCS vs. HOU and 2008 ALDS vs. CWS...they went on to win both of those series, defeating the Astros in seven games and the White Sox in four.

★ The Rays have yet to trail at any point in this series...it's the fourth time they have recorded back-to-back postseason games without falling behind at any point, first since Games 2-3 of the 2020 ALDS against the Yankees...the other occurrences came in Games 1-2 of the 2020 AL Wild Card Series vs. TOR and Games 3-4 of the 2008 ALCS at BOS.

★ A third straight victory tonight would match the second-longest winning streak in Rays postseason history (also: 2008 ALCS Games 2-4 vs. BOS), trailing only a four-game streak from Game 5 of the 2020 ALDS vs. NYY through Game 3 of the 2020 ALCS at HOU.

PITCHER'S PARADISE—The Rays staff has held Yankees hitters to a 5-for-58 (.086) clip this series, including 2-for-44 (.045) against the 3-9 spots in the order...the five hits are tied with the 1906 Cubs for the fewest by any team through two postseason games...the 1906 Cubs also hold the record through three games (9H)...the Rays are the first AL team to yield five hits or fewer across any two-game span in the postseason since the 2021 Astros in Games 5 and 6 of the 2021 ALCS against the Red Sox (5H)...their nine baserunners (5H, 4BB) are tied with the 2016 Blue Jays and Giants for second fewest through two postseason games, trailing the 1939 Yankees (8)...the fewest baserunners allowed through three games is 16, done by the 2010 Phillies...the Rays staff has not allowed a baserunner in 12 of 18 innings this series and allowed no hits in 14 of 18 frames...the Yankees have had only 2 AB with RISP and 6 AB with runners on base...Rays pitchers are averaging 13.3 pitches per inning this series—the only club with a lower mark in the postseason since pitch counts were first tracked in 1988 is the 2022 Rays (13.1).

★ Rays pitchers threw 15 consecutive scoreless innings in postseason play between the 7th frame in Game 2 of the 2023 AL Wild Card Series vs. TEX and the 4th inning in Monday's Game 2, the second-longest streak in team history behind a streak of 16 straight innings in the 2022 AL Wild Card at CLE.

★ Drew Rasmussen (8.0IP, OR) and Freddy Peralta (4.2IP, 1R) became the second pair of Rays pitchers to record back-to-back starts of 4.0 IP or more with one or zero runs allowed in a single postseason...they joined Blake Snell and Charlie Morton in Games 1 and 2 of the 2020 ALCS vs. HOU.

★ Bryan Baker joined KC Lucas Erceg in 2024 and MIN Jhoan Duran in 2023 as the only AL pitchers since 2016 to record saves in each of his club's first two postseason games...only three pitchers (4x) have tallied saves in each of their team's first three postseason games since the statistic was introduced in 1969: COL Manny Corpas (2007), ATL Mark Wohlers (1996), and Dennis Eckersley in 1996 with the Cardinals and 1988 with the Athletics.

★ Baker is already the third Ray to record multiple saves in a single postseason, joining Diego Castillo (3) and Pete Fairbanks (3) in 2020...he is the first AL hurler and fourth pitcher overall to earn saves in each of his first two postseason appearances with a franchise without yielding a baserunner, joining CHC Wade Davis (2017), STL Jason Irsinghausen (2002), and ATL Alejandro Peña (1991).

★ In Monday's Game 2, Ian Seymour retired nine of his 10 BF out of the bullpen, becoming the second southpaw in MLB history to record 3.0 IP or more in relief and yield one or zero baserunners in his postseason debut, joining DET Jose Alvarez in Game 3 of the 2013 ALDS vs. OAK (3.0IP, OBR)...he was the 17th pitcher overall to turn the trick and the third to do so with 4 SO or more, joining HOU Miguel Ulloa earlier this postseason in Game 1 of the AL Wild Card Series vs. CWS (3.0IP, H, 4SO) and PHI Roy Halladay during his no-hitter in Game 1 of the 2010 NLDS vs. CIN (9.0IP, BB, 8SO).

★ Cam Booser induced a bases-loaded fly out in the 5th inning on Monday to maintain a 1-1 tie...he became the eighth Rays pitcher to earn the win in his postseason debut, first since Alex Cobb in the 2013 AL Wild Card Game at CLE, and the second to do so in relief, joining Joaquin Benoit in Game 3 of the 2010 ALDS at TEX.

AGENTS OF CHAOS—The Rays have put the ball in play during 54 of their 70 PA (77.1%) this postseason and recorded an 83.5 pct. contact rate...the former mark is the highest by any club through two postseason games since the 2016 Rangers (77.8%) and is seventh highest by an AL team over such a span in the Wild Card era (since 1995), per TruMedia (see table on the right)...they have struck out only nine times, joining the 2025 Blue Jays (7) as the only clubs since 2011 to punch out fewer than 10 times through their first two postseason contests...their 4 SO in Game 2 tied their second fewest in a postseason contest behind Game 3 of the 2008 World Series vs. PHI (3).

★ The Yankees four errors in Game 2 were the most by any team against the Rays in postseason history...during the regular season, Rays opponents committed 60 errors, tied for fifth most in the AL.

★ The Rays 3 SB in Game 2 marked their most in a postseason contest since Game 4 of the 2008 World Series at PHI (4)...between the regular season and postseason, the Rays have gone 16-4 in games they steal three bases or more this year, winning 11 of their last 12 such games (July 22–pres.).

★ The Rays are just 1-for-18 (.056) with RISP this series after batting a majors-best .284 with RISP during the regular season...however, they have reached base safely 20 times in the series (incl. reaching on errors) compared to nine times for the Yankees.

CASH CONSIDERATIONS—Kevin Cash guided the Rays to the postseason for the sixth time, extending his franchise record (2nd: Joe Maddon, 4)...this season, he surpassed Maddon (2) for the most AL East Division titles in team history...Cash has managed 36 career postseason games, going 17-19...his six postseason appearances are tied for fifth most among active managers to CIN Terry Francona (12), LAD Dave Roberts (11), NYY Aaron Boone (8), and CHC Craig Counsell (7), and his franchise-leading 17 postseason wins are fifth most behind Roberts (71), Francona (44), A.J. Hinch (36), and Boone (27).

★ Cash was 48 years, 301 days old on the day of Saturday's Game 1—according to Elias, only one skipper in major league history has been younger on the date they began their sixth postseason run: NYG John McGraw, who was 48 years, 181 days old when his Giants club opened the 1921 World Series against the Yankees...the next youngest manager is BAL Earl Weaver (49.050) in 1979.

NEW YORK, NEW YORK—The Rays and Yankees are matched up for the second time in the postseason, joining the Rays 3-2 series win during the 2020 ALDS in San Diego (Oct. 5-9)...they won the regular-season series over the Yankees for the fourth time in the past seven seasons (2020–pres.), taking seven of 13 contests...they won six of the first eight meetings and went 1-4 in the last six...Rays pitchers collected 135 strikeouts against Yankees hitters during the regular season, their most vs. any opponent, and their 28.5 pct. strikeout rate against the Pinstripes was their highest in franchise history...the Rays four postseason wins vs. NYY are their third most over any opponent, trailing the Astros (6) and Red Sox (6).
