The Miami Marlins finished their fifth campaign, and 24th season overall, in third place in the National League East with a 79-82 record. It was the second straight season that Miami finished in third place, after not having done so since 2010. The Marlins went 47-41 in the first half before slipping to 32-41 in the second half. Miami went 40-40 at home, marking its third consecutive season with at least a .500 record at Marlins Park, and the 16th in Club history.

FISH BITES

The Marlins (79-82) finished in third place in the National League East for the second consecutive season, after not having done so since 2010. The Fish went 47-41 in the first half, the second-best pre-All Star winning percentage in Club history (.534), behind only a .581 (50-36) mark in 1997. Miami went just 32-41 (.438) after the Midsummer Classic, however, only the 16th best mark in Club history. Nonetheless, the Marlins improved by eight wins over their 2015 finish (71-91), and turned in the ninth-best winning percentage in Franchise history, tied with 2000 (also 79-82). Miami played just 161 games this season due to the cancellation of a September 25 home game against the Braves following the death of starting pitcher José Fernández.

HITTING

The Marlins finished the season ranked second in the National League with a team batting average of .263, bested only by a .275 mark by Colorado. It was the best ranking for the Club since leading the NL with a .272 average in 2005, and just the third time they finished in the top three (third in 2009 at .268). Since finishing in last place in the NL in 2013 (.231), the Marlins have showed steady improvement at the plate, finishing in seventh place in 2014 (.253) and in fourth place in 2015 (.260).

They ranked third in the NL with 1,460 hits, the sixth-most in Club history. However, they hit just 128 home runs, tied for the seventh-fewest in Club history and ranking second-to-last in the NL, ahead of only Atlanta (122). They also scored just 655 runs, the third-lowest in the NL. Miami had 42 triples, two off the Club record of 44 set in 1999 and 2003, and tied with 2006 for third place all-time.

PITCHING

Miami finished the season with a 4.05 ERA, just three points higher than its 2015 finish. That ranked sixth in the NL this season, best among non-playoff teams. The staff's .251 average against ranked fifth in the NL, as did its 1,379 strikeouts, which was a Club record by more than 100 (formerly 1,248 in 2009). The average against ranked third in Club history, behind 1997 (.250) and 2013 (.251). Its 152 home runs allowed tied the Mets for the fewest in the Majors, despite ranking just 16th in Club history.

The starting rotation registered 809 strikeouts, besting the former Club record of 801 set in 1997, and ranking sixth among NL rotations. It also posted its seventh-best average against, at .260, and allowed just 104 home runs, the fourth-lowest mark in the NL. The bullpen posted a 3.63 ERA, the fifth-best mark in the Club history and ninth in the NL. It also held opponents to a .237 average, fifth-best in the NL and second-best in Club history, behind only a .232 mark in 2011. Miami relievers punched out 570 batters this season, the second-best mark in the NL behind only the Dodgers (633), and a new Club record, besting 2007 (526). However, the bullpen had 29 blown saves, the most in Club history and second-most in the NL this year, behind only San Francisco (30).

FIELDING

One year after setting a new Club record with a .987 fielding percentage,the Marlins registered their fifth-best mark ever, at .985. They committed just 86 errors, the third-lowest total ever behind 2015 (77) and 2003 (76). Their fielding percentage ranked fourth in the NL, and they committed the fourth-fewest errors, behind only San Francisco (72), Washington (73), and the Dodgers (80).

A MILESTONE SEASON FOR ICHIRO

Ichiro Suzuki recorded his 3,000th Major League hit on August 7 at Coors Field, knocking a triple off the right field wall, to become the 30th player in Major League history to reach the plateau and tie Roberto Clemente for 29th on Major League Baseball's all-time hits list. He became just the fourth foreign-born player to reach the milestone, following Clemente, Rod Carew, and Rafael Palmeiro. He joined his former hitting coach, Paul Molitor, as the second player to reach the milestone with a triple. In research provided by STATS LLC, he is just the second player ever to reach 3,000 hits through his first 16 Major League seasons, following Pete Rose, who recorded 3,164 in his first 16 campaigns.

Also, according to Elias, of the 10 players to reach the 3,000-hit club in the last 20 years, seven had their milestone hit go at least two bases (doubles by Rickey Henderson and Rafael Palmeiro, a triple by Paul Molitor, and home runs by Wade Boggs, Derek Jeter and Alex Rodriguez). The previous eight 3,000th hits before Molitor in September 1996 were all singles. Only 18.5% of Ichiro's career hits have gone for extra bases, the lowest percentage by any of the 30 members of the 3,000-hit club. The next lowest rate belongs to Eddie Collins (20.2%).

For a more detailed look at the numerous milestones reached by Ichiro in 2016, see the box at the bottom of page two of this document. An additional packet with stats & breakdowns on Ichiro's career hits is attached to the e-mail containing Miami's 2016 Season Summary, and is also available for download at Marlinspressbox.com.

THE SADDEST ENDING

Unfortunately, the positive storylines of 2016 that were generated by Ichiro's march into history, the development of Miami's young 20-homer outfield, and the re-emergence of José Fernández as one of the game's most dominant pitchers was overshadowed by the tragic death of Fernández in a boating accident on September 25. It is with great respect that we look back on feats that José accomplished on the diamond in 2016.

KID K

José Fernández set a new Club record in 2016 with 253 strikeouts, which ranked third in the Majors (second in the NL), behind Max Scherzer (284) and Justin Verlander (254). Fernández, however, reached his total in just 29 starts and 182.1 innings, compared to 34 starts each for Scherzer (228.1 ip) and Verlander (227.2 ip). Fernández led the Majors with a strikeout-per-9.0 innings rate of 12.49, well ahead of Robbie Ray (11.25) and Scherzer (11.19). José's mark did not just set a new Club record, besting a mark he set in 2013 (9.75), but was also the fifth-highest mark by a starting pitcher in Major League history (since 1913), behind only Pedro Martinez in 1999 (13.22), Randy Johnson in 2001 (13.20), Kerry Wood in 1998 (12.58), and Johnson in 2000 (12.56). - STATS LLC

MAN OF THE HOUSE

Fernandez finished his career with 42 home starts, during which he went 29-2 (.935) with a 1.49 ERA. According to Elias, no pitcher in the history of the game produced a higher winning percentage or lower ERA over the first 42 home starts of his career.

A MAY FOR THE AGES

With his win over the Pirates on May 31, Fernández completed the month of May with a 6-0 record, a 1.38 ERA, and a Club-record 56 strikeouts. He was the first starting pitcher to win six games in May since Kenny Rogers in 2005 and first Major League starter to win six games in a month since Jake Arrieta and Joe Kelly both did so in August 2015. Chris Hammond was the only other Marlins' starter to record six wins in a single month, as he did so in June 1993. According to Elias, Fernández was just the third starter since 1893 to go 6-0 with 50 strikeouts in May, joining Pedro Martinez in 1999 and Roger Clemens in 1997. Also from Elias, only three pitchers in the last 40 years matched or bettered Fernández in the pitching triple crown categories: Hideo Nomo in June 1995, Randy Johnson twice (April 2000 and April 2002), and Clayton Kershaw (June 2014).

GIVING AWAY NOTHING FOR FREE

On June 5 in Miami, Fernández struck out 14 Mets and did not issue a walk in seven shutout innings in the Marlins' 1-0 victory. Only three other pitchers since 1893 - the year that the pitching distance was set to 60' 6" - in a start of seven or fewer innings struck out at least 14 batters without issuing a walk or allowing a run: the Orioles' Mike Mussina at Boston in 2000 (15 SO, 7 IP), the Dodgers' Brad Penny in 2007 (14 SO, 7 IP) and the Rangers' Yu Darvish in 2013 (14 SO, 7 IP). - Elias

500 CLUB

On July 18 in Philadelphia, in his 65th career start, Fernández recorded 14 strikeouts, giving him 504 for his career. He became the third-fastest pitcher to reach 500 strikeouts as a starter since 1900, by games started, behind only Dwight Gooden, who reached the mark in his 61st career start, and Yu Darvish, who did it in 62 starts. He also became the fastest starting pitcher to 500 strikeouts, by inning, doing it in his 400th career inning, besting Darvish, who did it in 401.2 innings. - Elias

LUCKY #13

José Fernández struck out 14 Dodgers on September 9 at Marlins Park, tying his career high (fifth time, third time in 2016). He was one of 21 starting pitchers to record 13-or-more strikeouts this season, but was one of only two that did so more than once. Fernández had five such games this season, while Clayton Kershaw had three. In addition, Fernández was the only starting pitcher with multiple 14-strikeout games this year, and one of just 11 hurlers to reach that plateau.

DENIED A NINTH

On June 11 in Arizona, Fernández's streak of eight straight starts with a win was snapped by the Diamondbacks, leaving him tied with Chris Hammond (1993) as owners of the longest such streak in Club history. Fernández was tagged with his third loss of the season, thus also ending the Franchise's second-longest streak (tied) of consecutive decisions with a win. - STATS LLC.

Fernández went 8-0 with a 1.38 ERA and 78 strikeouts over his eight starts from April 28 to June 5, becoming just the third pitcher to go 8-0 with an ERA that low and that many strikeouts over an eight-start span (since the major leagues started keeping track of earned runs just over 100 years ago). Randy Johnson went 8-0 with a 1.10 ERA and 86 strikeouts over eight starts spanning the 1999 and 2000 seasons; and Clayton Kershaw went 8-0 with a 0.74 ERA and 80 strikeouts over an eight-start stretch in 2014. - Elias

DEEP THREE

On September 21 vs. Washington, Christian Yelich joined Giancarlo Stanton (27) and Marcell Ozuna (23) in reaching the 20-home run plateau this season. It marks the first time since 2010 that the Marlins had at least three players reach 20 homers; Dan Uggla (33), Stanton (22), and Hanley Ramirez (21) did it that year. It was the first time in Club history that the team's three primary outfielders all reached 20 home runs, and St. Louis was the only other Club to accomplish the feat this season. Prior to this year, the last time a Club had three players reach 20 home runs in a season as outfielders was 2008, when Ryan Braun (37), Mike Cameron (25), and Corey Hart (20) did it for the Brewers.

RARE CATCH

J.T. Realmuto had 268 hits, 52 doubles, and 21 home runs in his first two full seasons as a catcher (excluding stats from his 11 games in 2014). According to STATS LLC, he was just the fifth catcher in MLB history to reach those plateaus in his first two full seasons as a catcher, joining Johnny Bench from 1968-69 (311 hits-63 doubles-41 homers), Benito Santiago from 1987-88 (286-55-28), Kenji Johjima from 2006-07 (286-54-32), and Russell Martin from 2006-07 (275-58-29).

CLOSE ONLY COUNTS IN...

Miami suffered a 6-2 loss at Cleveland on September 2, snapping a stretch of 24 consecutive games (10-14) decided by three-or-less runs. It was the longest such streak in Franchise history and tied for the second-longest in ML history; three other teams played 24 consecutive games decided by three runs or fewer, the last was the 1998 Brewers. The ML record is 26 consecutive games, by the 1973 Montreal Expos. Miami's previous record was 12, done two times, and most recently from July 21-August 1, 2013. Miami's last game decided by more than three runs prior to that stretch was August 6, when it dropped a 12-6 decision to the Colorado Rockies at Coors Field. - STATS LLC

DOUBLE THE FUN

The Marlins had 11 players with 10-or-more doubles this season, tied with Pittsburgh for the second-most in the Majors. Atlanta, Colorado, and San Diego led the way, all tied with 12. Martín Prado and Christian Yelich led the pack for the Fish with 37 each; that is the most for Prado since he had a career-high 42 in 2012, and is already a career high for Yelich. Also, J.T. Realmuto hit his 31st double of the season on Saturday, his 30th as a catcher. Only Ivan Rodriguez (35 in 2003) and Charles Johnson (32 in 2001) have had more in Club history. - STATS LLC

A BUSY YEAR FOR ICHIRO

Ichiro Suzuki's pursuit of 3,000 hits in Major League Baseball and his unofficial quest to surpass Pete Rose's mark of 4,256 professional hits dominated much of the season storyline for Miami in 2016. Aside from becoming the 30th player to reach 3,000 hits on August 7 at Colorado and recording his 4,257th combined career hit between MLB and Japan on June 15 at San Diego, Ichiro's busy 2016 season also included the following highlights:

- Finished the season with 3,030 career hits, 25th on the all-time list, according to Elias. He began the season tied with Barry Bonds for 35th place, at 2,935. Along the way this year he passed Frank Robinson (2,943), Willie Keeler (2,955), Sam Crawford (2,964), Sam Rice (2,985), Roberto Clemente (3,000), Al Kaline (3,007), Wade Boggs (3,010), Rafael Palmeiro (3,020), and Lou Brock (3,223). Ichiro will begin 2017 trailing Rod Carew (3,053) for 24th place.
- Finished the season with 4,307 combined career hits between MLB (3,030) and Japan (1,278).
- Had 26 multi-hit games in 2016, which tied Julio Franco (2004) for 11th-most in a single season by a player 42-or-older.
- Became first National League player 42-or-older to record four-or-more triples in a season since Honus Wagner (9) in 1916, and just fifth overall (sixth time). The others were Joe Start (4) in 1885, Jim O'Rourke (5) in 1893 and Cap Anson (4 & 5) in 1894-95. The last Major League player 42-or-older with four-plus triples was Luke Appling (4) in 1950.
- April 29: Recorded his 500th career stolen base at Milwaukee.
- May 21: Had four hits in four at-bats vs. Washington, a 3-2 win, becoming the oldest player to go 4x4 or better in a game since 45-year-old Pete Rose went 5x5 as the Reds' player/manager against the Giants on August 11, 1986.
- May 21-23: Recorded four, two, and four hits respectively in a three-game span, becoming the first Major Leaguer age 42 or older to collect 10 hits over a three-game span since Hall of Famer Cap Anson did it, also at 42, in August of 1894. He also tied a Club record for most hits in a three-game span, joining Hanley Ramirez (2010), Luis Castillo (2003), and Preston Wilson (2001). He became the only player in the Major Leagues since 1913 to have multiple four-hit games after the age of 42 years, 113 days. Pete Rose was the oldest to have one such game, when he tallied five hits at 45.119 on August 11, 1986 vs. San Francisco. The others older than Ichiro were Sam Rice (44.138 on July 8, 1934 vs. White Sox), Carlton Fisk (43.115 on May 10, 1991 at Toronto), Honus Wagner (43.109 on June 13, 1917 vs. New York Giants), Carl Yastrzemski (42.286 on June 4, 1982 at California) and Rickey Henderson (42.273 on September 24, 2001 at Colorado).
- June 3: Came off bench vs. the Mets as a pinch hitter in the seventh inning and ended up with two stolen bases. He was the oldest player since at least 1913 to steal two bases in a game after coming off the bench, and the fourth-oldest ever with two steals in a game. On June 16, 2005, Julio Franco stole two bases at 46 years, 297 days to become the oldest with two steals. Rickey Henderson had three such games, doing so on May 29, 2002 (43.155), September 7, 2001 (42.256) and Sept. 2, 2001 (42.251). Honus Wagner was the other, stealing two bases at age 43.109 on June 13, 1917.
- August 29: Stole his 508th career base at Citi Field against the Mets, his final steal of 2016; he finished the season six behind Barry Bonds and Willie Keeler (514) for 34th on the all-time stolen base list.
- September 6: In eighth inning against Philadelphia, he connected for his first home run of the season, the 114th of this career and the first as a pinch-hitter.
- September 13: Recorded 900th multi-hit game of his career at Atlanta. Among players in the modern era (since 1900), his 900 multi-hit games rank 15th all-time. Among players who debuted in the last 40 years (since 1977), only Derek Jeter (1,014), Paul Molitor (967), Tony Gwynn (951), and Eddie Murray (934) recorded more multi-hit games.

ROAD COMFORTS

The Marlins boasted a .275 team average on the road this season, the highest mark in the Majors. It was the second-highest mark in Club history, behind a .276 average in 2005. Miami hit 25 points higher on the road than at home (.250) this season. According to STATS LLC, that was the largest gap from road to home in the Majors this year, the largest gap in Franchise history, and the highest in the Majors since the Mets hit 28 points better on the road in 2014 (.252-.224). J.T. Realmuto led the way for Miami, batting an NL-best .352 on the road (second in MLB), third-best all-time in Club history, behind Jeff Conine (.357, 1994) and Hanley Ramirez (.353, 2009). Martín Prado also had a solid year on the road, ranking third in the NL (fourth in MLB) at .340.

40 FOR #44

RHP A.J. Ramos recorded his 40th save of the season on September 30 at Washington, becoming just the fifth closer in Club history to have 40-or-more saves in a single season. He joined Todd Jones (40 in 2005), Armando Benitez (47 in 2004), Antonio Alfonseca (45 in 2000), and Bryan Harvey (45 in 1993).

KYLE WITH A K

Kyle Barraclough notched one strikeout on August 29 at the Mets, making him the first Marlins' reliever ever to record 100 strikeouts in a season. The Marlins' previous high for a reliever was Robb Nen's 92 strikeouts in 1996.

Barraclough finished the season with 113 strikeouts, the most by a reliever in the National League and third-most in the Majors, behind only Dellin Betances (126) and Andrew Miller (123). His strikeout-per-9.0 innings rate of 14.00 also led the NL, and ranked fifth in the Majors. Since 1970, only four relievers recorded more strikeouts during their rookie season than Barraclough. Mark Eichhorn had 166 during his 1986 rookie season with Toronto, followed by Betances (135) in 2014 with the Yankees, Craig Kimbrel (127) in 2011 with Atlanta, and Steve Bedrosian (114) in 1982 with Atlanta. Pedro Martinez also had 113 in 1993 with the Dodgers. Among that group, only Betances (.149) had a lower average against the Barraclough (.176).

GO-AHEAD OF ME

Christian Yelich notched 34 go-ahead RBI on the season, which led the National League and tied Miguel Cabrera and Eric Hosmer for second in the Majors, behind Albert Pujols (35). According to STATS LLC, Yelich had the second-most go-ahead RBI in a season in Club history, behind Preston Wilson's mark of 35 in 2000.

ON A LATE-SEASON RUN

Dee Gordon stole 14 bases in September, the most in the Majors. He had a streak of four consecutive games with at least one steal snapped on the final day of the month; it tied for the longest streak of his career (fourth time), and tied with four others for the second-longest streak in the Majors this season, behind Jarrod Dyson (5). Only Billy Hamilton (19 in August & 16 in July) and Starling Marte (15 in July) had better months this season, while Jonathan Villar also had 14, in May. Gordon is just the sixth Marlins' player (ninth time) to reach 14-or-more steals in a calendar month, joining Luis Castillo (19 in May 2000; 16 in August 1999), Juan Pierre (17 in July 2005; 16 in June 2003; 14 in July 2003), Emilio Bonifacio (16 in July 2011), Chuck Carr (16 in September 1993), and Hanley Ramirez (14 in August 2007).

Gordon finished the year with 30 steals in 79 games, making him just the sixth player since 1990 to have that many steals in 79 or fewer games, joining Trea Turner this season (33 steals, 73 games), Emilio Bonifacio for the Marlins in 2012 (30-64), Coco Crisp in 2010 (32-75), Vince Coleman in 1991 (37-72), and Alex Cole in 1990 (40-63).

THAT'S ONE RARE FEAT

Giancarlo Stanton's solo home run in the sixth inning on September 20 vs. Washington pushed across Miami's only run in a 1-0 victory over the Nationals. It marked just the 10th time in Club history that a solo home run was the difference in a 1-0 Miami win, and the third straight time the Nationals were victimized. The only other time it happened for the Marlins in the last 10 years was also on a blast by Stanton, on May 14, 2011 in D.C. Prior to that, it had not happened since Cody Ross did the damage to Washington on July 19, 2006 at Dolphin Stadium. Stanton is the only player in Club history to accomplish the feat twice.

TRIPLE 7'S

The Marlins scored exactly seven runs in each of their three games against Atlanta from September 12-14. It was just the fifth time in Club history that the team scored at least seven runs in each game of a series (min. three games), and the first time since July 25-27, 2003 vs. the Phillies. The Marlins also did it from June 27-29, 2003 at Boston, September 29-October 1, 2000 vs. Philadelphia, and June 4-6, 1999 vs. Tampa Bay. It was also the first time the Marlins had the same run total in each game of a series since being shutout by Milwaukee over three games in July 2013. - STATS LLC

MR. DEPENDABLE

Tom Koehler made 33 starts this season. According to STATS LLC, he became just the third Marlins' pitcher to reach the 30-start plateau in three straight seasons, joining Dontrelle Willis, who did it in four straight seasons from 2004-07, and Scott Olsen (2006-08). Ricky Nolasco is the only other pitcher in Club history to have at least three 30-start seasons (2008-09 and 2011-12).

SINGLES NIGHT

The Marlins closed out their game in Atlanta on September 12 with 16 consecutive singles, setting a new Franchise record for consecutive singles in one game. They proceeded to rattle off five more singles to open the game the next night. The 21 consecutive singles tied the Club record for a multiple-game span, which had previously been set from September 11-17, 1993 and again on Sept. 2-4, 2000. They were the first club with at least 21 straight singles since Milwaukee had 24 in a row from May 10-13 earlier this season.

HEAD ABOVE WATER

Wei-Yin Chen went 5-5 on the year, giving him a winning percentage of .500 or better in each of his first five Major League seasons. Among active MLB pitchers, that is tied with Hisashi Iwakuma (active) for the fourth-longest streak to start a career, behind CC Sabathia (13 from 2001-13), Clayton Kershaw (9, active), and Jered Weaver (9 from 2006-14). - STATS LLC

MARLINS PARK STILL PLAYING BIG

Marlins Park saw 123 home runs this season, an average of 1.53 per game. It marked the most in Marlins Park history, ahead of 113 in the inaugural season of 2012. The 2015 campaign saw 111 home runs, followed by 104 in 2014 and 84 in 2013. According to ESPN's Home Run Tracker, Marlins Park yielded the second-fewest homer in the Majors this season, ahead of only AT&T Park in San Francisco (119/1.47 per game).

DEALING

On September 9 vs. the Dodgers, Miami pitchers recorded 17 strikeouts, equaling a Club record for most strikeouts in a 9.0-inning game. The only other time the Marlins punched out 17 in a 9.0-inning affair was on July 21, 2002 vs. Montreal. The 17 strikeouts are the second-most in a game this season, as they tallied 18 in an 11.0-inning contest on July 18 at Philadelphia. The Club record for most strikeouts in a game of any length is 22, done over 12.0 innings on July 6, 2005 vs. Milwaukee.

FUN WITH TWO

Miami had 577 hits with two strikes on the season, which surpassed the Franchise record of 552 set in 2005. Miami's .199 average with two strikes was the second-highest mark in Club history, behind a .207 in 2005. The Fish led the National League in both hits and batting average with two strikes this season, and trailed only Boston (618/.209) for the Major League lead in each category. Martín Prado led the charge on that front, as his .281 (81x288) average with two strikes led the Majors and was the second-highest in Club history, behind Luis Castillo's record of .286 (74x259) in 2003.

THE ONE THAT GOT AWAY

Martín Prado committed an error in the eighth inning on June 30 at Atlanta, snapping a streak of 28 games by the Marlins infield without a miscue. According to research by STATS LLC, that was the longest such streak since at least 1913, ahead of a 25-game run by Baltimore from May 22-June 15 of last season, and 24-game stretches by Seattle (2012), San Francisco (2010), and Philadelphia (2004).

ALL-STAR FOURSOME

The 2016 National League All-Stars were announced on July 7, and the Marlins sent four representatives to the Midsummer Classic, tying a Franchise record. Right-handed pitchers José Fernández (second career ASG selection), A.J. Ramos (first) and Fernando Rodney (third) joined outfielder Marcell Ozuna (first) in San Diego as reserves. Ozuna ended up starting the game due to injuries. Miami also sent four representatives in 2004 (Carl Pavano, Armando Benitez, Mike Lowell, Miguel Cabrera) and 2005 (Luis Castillo, Paul Lo Duca, Dontrelle Willis, Cabrera). Only the Cubs are sending more players to the All-Star Game for the NL, with seven, while the Nationals are also sending four.

HEART AND HUSTLE

The Major League Baseball Players Alumni Association announced on July 19 that Marcell Ozuna was named the Marlins recipient of the 2016 Heart and Hustle Award. The Award honors active players from each team who demonstrate a passion for the game and best embodies the values, spirit and traditions of the game. The Award is voted on by former Major League players; the final winner will be announced on November 15 at the 17th annual Legends for Youth Dinner in New York City.

K TRAIN

From the sixth to eighth innings on July 25 against Philadelphia, Miami relievers recorded eight consecutive outs by strikeout. According to Stats LLC, the eight consecutive outs via strikeout were the most in a single game in Club history. Prior to last night, the most consecutive outs by strikeout was six, done 11 times, and most recently on July 2, 2015 vs. San Francisco.

30-30 CLUB

A.J. Ramos, recorded his 30th save of the season on July 18 to become just the fourth Marlins pitcher to have two 30-plus save seasons. Ramos had 32 saves last season. Steve Cishek (2013, 2014), Juan Carlos Oviedo (pitching as Leo Nuñez in 2010, 2011) and Robb Nen (1996, 1997) are the only other Marlins to have multiple seasons of 30+ saves. Additionally, Ramos earned a save in seven of 10 team games from July 5-19, marking the second time he accomplished the feat this season (also, April 24-May 5). Prior to this year, it had only happened twice in team history, done by Steve Cishek (July 20-29, 2014) and Antonio Alfonseca (June 30-July 13, 2000).

SOLO JOBS

On June 20 vs. Colorado, the Marlins (3) and Rockies (5) hit eight combined home runs, the most ever at Marlins Park. The previous record was seven, done on May 23, 2014 against the Brewers. What's more, every home run that night was a solo shot, which tied the National League record for most solo home runs in a game. Additionally, according to STATS LLC, it marked the most solo home runs to account for all scoring in a single game in Major League history. The previous record was five (seven times), last done by the Mariners (3) and Angels (2) on May 4, 2015.

LUCKY #7

On June 13 at San Diego, the Marlins posted a seven-run inning for the third time since June 9 in Minnesota. According to STATS LLC, it was the first time in Club history that Miami had three innings with seven-plus runs within a seven-day span. It was also the first time that any team accomplished the feat since Colorado did it from August 27-September 2, 2012. On June 9 in Minnesota and June 10 in Arizona, Miami scored seven times in the seventh inning in both games to propel themselves to wins. According to STATS LLC, Miami was the first team since the Yankees (vs. Seattle) on September 4 & 5, 2007, to score seven or more times in the seventh inning of consecutive games, and according to Elias, it was the first time in MLB history that a team scored exactly seven runs in the seventh inning of consecutive games.

RARE TRIPLE-DOUBLE

On May 21 vs. Washington, Miami turned three double plays, tying a season high (also, April 24 at San Francisco). It was not a run-of-the-mill occurrence, however, according to Elias. Catcher J.T. Realmuto had a hand in all three twin killings, tying a National League single-game record by a catcher. He was the first to do so since Henry Blanco for the Cubs on July 22, 2006 at Washington. Additionally, it marked the first time since that 2006 contest that a team turned three double plays in a game, all involving the catcher and none involving the first baseman.

RAY BATTER

Marcell Ozuna loves taking part in the Citrus Series, as he had a multi-hit game in all four meetings with the Rays in 2016, going 9x16 (.563) with two doubles, a home run, and three RBI. He has now recorded a hit in all 17 career games against Tampa Bay, batting .413 (26x63) with six doubles, two home runs, and eight RBI. His 17-game streak is the second-longest active run by any player to start their career against a single opponent, trailing only Daniel Murphy's 19-game run against the Mets. Ozuna's streak is the second-longest ever by a Marlins player against a single opponent to start a career; Luis Castillo owns the longest such streak, as he hit in his first 23 games against the Rays from June 4, 1999-June 21, 2003. - Elias

HITTING EVERYTHING

Over the four-game series against the Rays from May 23-26, Miami erupted for 50 hits. It marked just the third time in Franchise history the Marlins have recorded at-least 50 hits in four consecutive games against an opponent. The club record was done from July 3-6, 2008, when the Fish recorded 57 hits against Colorado. The only other occurrence was when the Marlins tallied 55 hits against Cincinnati from July 19-22, 2007. - STATS LLC

TWO OF 10

On May 17, Marcell Ozuna went 0x3 against Philadelphia to snap a 16-game hitting streak. With two hits on May 29 at Atlanta, Ozuna extended his next hitting streak to 11 games, where it would end. That made him the fifth Marlins hitter in Club history to record two hitting streaks of 10+ games with exactly one game between streaks. Hanley Ramirez was the last, as he had a 14-game streak and 10-game streak in 2010-11. Alex Gonzalez had streaks of 17 and 11 in 2005; Juan Pierre 11 and 14 in 2003; and Cliff Floyd 10 and 18 in 2001. Furthermore, Ozuna has recorded seven hitting streaks of 10+ games in his career, marking the fifth-most in Club history behind Hanley Ramirez (13), Luis Castillo (9), Mike Lowell (9) and Miguel Cabrera (8). - STATS LLC

THERE'S A BEAR ON THE LOOSE

Marcell Ozuna had his 36-game streak of reaching base safely snapped on May 30. It was the longest streak of his career and the fourth-longest in Majors this season, behind Freddie Freeman (46), Jayson Werth (46), and DJ LeMahieu (38). Ozuna's streak was the longest by a Marlins' player since Logan Morrison reached in 42 straight from August 7-September 23, 2010. Luis Castillo owns the longest streak, reaching in 46 straight from April 25-June 21, 2002.

JUST WHAT THE DOCTOR ORDERED

The Marlins offense averaged just 2.9 runs per game from May 30 through June 8, tied with the Mets for the second-lowest mark in the Majors over that span, ahead of only Atlanta (2.7). On June 9 in Minneapolis, however, the Fish stopped swimming against the current, splashing a then-season-high 18 hits on the board. The Marlins did not draw a walk, marking the third time in Club history that they had 18+ hits and zero walks, the others being June 11, 1993 vs. Pittsburgh (21 hits) and June 18, 1996 at San Francisco (18 hits). They were the first team to accomplish the feat since Colorado (19 hits) on September 3, 2015 vs. San Francisco. Miami also had six straight hits with one out in the seventh inning, marking their most consecutive hits since setting the franchise record with nine straight on July 11, 2015 vs. Cincinnati (second inning). Lastly, Chris Johnson (home run) and Miguel Rojas (single) had back-to-back pinch hits in the seventh inning, marking the first time the Fish had back-to-back pinch hits since Brian Barden (single) and Wes Helms (single) on May 5, 2010 vs. the Giants. - STATS LLC

CLUB RECORDS SENT SPINNING

A trio of Club pitching records were broken or tied on June 5 against the Mets. José Fernández won his eighth consecutive start, tying Chris Hammond (1993) for the longest such streak in franchise history. Before he officially matched that feat, Fernández struck out 14 batters, marking his 14th career game with 10-plus strikeouts, surpassing Ricky Nolasco for the most in Club history. Fernández would finish his career with 18 such games. Lastly, when A.J. Ramos wrapped up a perfect ninth inning for his 18th straight save to start the season, he matched Juan Carlos Oviedo (2011) for the longest streak of saves to open a season in Club history.

PINCH GRANNY

Justin Bour hit a pinch-hit grand slam in the Marlins' seven-run seventh inning on June 10 at Arizona. It was the third of seven pinch-hit slams in the Majors this season, all by National League clubs. Additionally, it was the sixth pinch-hit grand slam in Club history, the first since Jeremy Hermida hit one in his first career at-bat on August 31, 2005 vs. St. Louis. Bour now has two career pinch-hit homers, both off of Tyler Clippard (other, Sept. 16, 2015 vs. the Mets). - Elias

GOING DEEP FOR A WIN

On June 13 at San Diego, Wei-Yin Chen became the first pitcher in Club history to allow four home runs in a game and still come away with a victory. According to STATS LLC, he was the second pitcher in the Majors at the time to do that this season, joining Aaron Sanchez for the Blue Jays, who did it just 24 hours earlier against the Orioles. It was just the eighth time it has happened since 2012. It would end up happening three other times before the end of the year.

KEEP SWINGING

In Dee Gordon's at-bat in the eighth inning on April 12, he faced 16 pitches from Mets' reliever Jim Henderson, marking the most pitches seen in one at-bat by a Marlins hitter in Club history. In the at-bat, Gordon fouled off 11 consecutive pitches before hitting the 16th pitch to left field for a single. It was the longest plate appearance by an MLB player since Justin Turner drew a 16-pitch walk for the Los Angeles Dodgers off of Cincinnati's Johnny Cueto on May 26, 2014. - STATS LLC

GETTING HIS STEPS IN

Christian Yelich reached base safely via hit, walk or hit by pitch in each of his first 23 games played this season. His streak of 23 games was the second-longest active streak in MLB to start the season; Joe Mauer led with a 28-game streak. Yelich's streak ranks third in Club history, behind a 34-game streak by Logan Morrison to begin the 2011 season and Hanley Ramirez's 29-game streak to open the 2008 season.

SWEEP INFO

From April 25-28 the Marlins completed their first-ever series sweep in Los Angeles, and just their fifth sweep of the Dodgers overall. Miami, which had never swept a four-game set against the Dodgers, had last blanked them in a three-game series in Florida from September 6-8, 1999. The Fish have a trio of three-game sweeps and a two-game sweep in series history. It was the Marlins' first four-game sweep against any opponent since May 13-16, 2010 vs. the Mets, and their first four-game sweep on the road since Aug. 31-Sept. 2, 2004 at Shea Stadium against the Mets.

OPENING DAY ROSTER

The Miami Marlins on April 3 announced their 2016 Opening Day 25-man roster, breaking camp with 12 pitchers, two catchers, seven infielders and four outfielders. The roster breakdown is as follows: PITCHERS: LHP Craig Breslow, LHP Wei-Yin Chen, LHP Adam Conley, RHP Jarred Cosart, RHP José Fernández, RHP Edwin Jackson, RHP Tom Koehler, RHP Dustin McGowan, RHP Bryan Morris, LHP Chris Narveson, RHP David Phelps and RHP A.J. Ramos. CATCHERS: Jeff Mathis and J.T. Realmuto. INFIELDERS: Justin Bour, Derek Dietrich, Dee Gordon, Adeiny Hechavarria, Chris Johnson, Martín Prado and Miguel Rojas. OUTFIELDERS: Marcell Ozuna, Giancarlo Stanton, Ichiro Suzuki and Christian Yelich. Bour, Conley, Dietrich, Realmuto, and Rojas are all on an Opening Day roster for the first time.

Took loss in first start of 2016, surrendering five runs on five hits (one home run) and one walk while striking out 13 over 5.2 innings against Detroit on April 6 at Marlins Park. The only other pitcher in Marlins' history to reach double-digits in strikeouts in his first start of a season is Mark Redman (10 in 2003). - Elias

Loss snapped home unbeaten streak of 26 starts that saw him go 17-0. His unbeaten streak made him one of six pitchers to have recorded 26 consecutive home starts without a loss at any point of their Major League careers. - Elias Earned 20th career home win on May 9 vs. Milwaukee. With win, improved to 20-1 with 1.65 ERA at Marlins Park. According to Elias, the only other pitcher in the live-ball era to win 20 of his first 30 home starts with an ERA below 2.00 was Dwight Gooden (22-4, 1.84).

With his 11 strikeouts against Washington on May 15, cracked 400 total strikeouts in 55th Major League game. The only active pitcher who reached 400 strikeouts in fewer games than Fernández was Yu Darvish, who got there in his 50th game (Elias).

He finished May 6-0 with 56 strikeouts and a 1.38 ERA (39.0/6). According to Elias, only three pitchers in the last 40 years matched or bettered Fernandez in each of the three pitching triple crown categories in a calendar month: Hideo Nomo in June 1995; Randy Johnson in April 2000 and April 2002; and Clayton Kershaw in June 2014.

He was just the second pitcher in Club history to win six games in a month, joining Chris Hammond (June, 1993). He also set a Club record for the most strikeouts in a calendar month, surpassing Ricky Nolasco (51 in August, 2008).

According to Elias, he was the first starting pitcher to win six games in May since Kenny Rogers in 2005, and the first to win six games in any month since Jake Arrieta and Joe Kelly, both in August, 2015. Also from Elias, he was just the third starter since 1893 to go 6-0 with 50 strikeouts in May, joining Pedro Martinez in 1999 and Roger Clemens in 1997.

In his June 5 start vs. the Mets, he struck out a career-high tying 14 batters, while limiting the Mets to no runs on four hits and no walks. Marked 14th career 10+ strikeout game, passing Ricky Nolasco for most in Club history.

In his start on June 11 at Arizona, had an eight-game winning streak snapped. It was the longest of his career and the longest by a Marlins' starter since Dontrelle Willis won eight straight from May 25-July 13, 2003. It fell one shy of tying the Club record.

Additionally, the eight wins came in consecutive starts, equaling a Club record done by Chris Hammond in 1993. It was the longest consecutive-start win streak in the Majors since Chris Sale won 10 straight starts from October 2, 2015-May 19, 2016.

In research provided by Elias, Fernández was 8-0 with a 1.38 ERA and 78 strikeouts over eight starts from April 28-June 5, becoming just third pitcher to go 8-0 with an ERA that low and that many strikeouts over an eight-start span.

Had a 25.0 scoreless inning streak at home broken on June 26 vs. the Cubs in the third inning. The streak started in the fifth inning of his start on May 21 vs. Washington.

In his first start after the All-Star break, July 18 at Philadelphia, Fernández became the fastest starting pitcher to 500 strikeouts by innings, doing so in his 400th career inning.

Earned his 13th win of the season on August 24 vs. the Royals, setting a new single-season career high for wins. He went 7.0 shutout innings, allowing six hits and two walks, while striking out nine.

The nine strikeouts in that start gave him a total of 213 this season, a new Franchise single-season record. He surpassed Ryan Dempster, who had 209 in 2000.

In his final start, September 20 vs. Washington, Fernández tied his career high with 8.0 shutout innings. He struck out 13, his ninth double-digit strikeout game of the season.

The nine double-digit strikeout games were tied for second most in the Majors, behind Max Scherzer (13).

Ended the season with an MLB-best 12.49 K/9. It is the fifth-highest rate for a starter since 1913.

- Andrew Cashner joined Miami on July 29 in a trade with San Diego and went 1-4 with a 5.98 ERA (52.2 ip/35 er) in 12 appearances (11 starts) with the Marlins to finish the season.
- Combined to go 5-11, 5.25 (132.0/77) in 28 outings (27 starts) between San Diego and Miami. He was 4-7, 4.76 (79.1/42) in 16 starts for the Padres before the trade.
- Made his debut with Miami on July 31 vs. St. Louis, pitched 6.0 innings and allowed two runs (one earned) on four hits (one home run), while striking out two. He took a no-decision in the 5-4 walkoff victory for the Marlins.
- Held opponents to a .238 batting average in July, ranking tied for 18th among NL starters, his lowest in any month since a .185 mark in July 2015.
- Also struck out 33 batters in July, the third-highest total in a single month of his career, behind 36 in April 2015 and 35 in September 2015.
- Posted a 7.64 strikeouts/9 innings ratio for the season, the second-highest of his career (8.04 in 2015) since becoming a starter in 2013.
- His lone relief appearance came on August 8 vs. San Francisco, when he was pressed into service to face one batter in the decisive 14th inning of an 8-7 loss.
- Earned his first win with the Marlins on September 7 vs. Philadelphia. He shut out the Phillies through 5.1 innings, allowing four hits and two walks while matching a season-high with nine strikeouts in a 6-0 victory.
- Surpassed the 600-strikeout plateau on September 23 in a start on September 23 when he struck out six Atlanta batters in 5.0 innings at Marlins Park. Cashner allowed three hits and three walks (one intentional), taking a no-decision in a 3-2 Miami loss. He finished the night with 605 career strikeouts.
- Allowed five home runs combined in the final two months of the season, which tied for the fourth-lowest total among National League starters (min. 10 starts) and tied for the sixth-fewest in the Majors.
- Induced a career-high 19 double plays, including nine after joining Miami. He tied for eighth in the NL in double plays induced for the season, and his 11 double plays after the All-Star break tied for the sixth-most in the NL. His 1.41 double plays/9 innings ratio in the second half ranked fourth in the NL, while his 1.30 mark for the season ranked sixth.
- Received 4.24 runs of support per 9.0 innings as a starter this year, which ranked 45th among 54 qualified NL starters. He had a 3.61 run support average in his 11 starts with Miami.

- Wei-Yin Chen finished his fifth season, first with the Marlins, with a 5-5 record and a 4.96 ERA (123.1 ip/68 er). He missed two months with a left elbow sprain, spending July 25-September 19 on the Disabled List.
- Made first career Opening Day start this year for Miami. With start, became just second Taiwan-born pitcher in Major League history to make Opening Day start. Chien-Ming Wang was first, opening 2008 campaign for the Yankees.
- Earned first win with Marlins on April 25 at Los Angeles, holding Dodgers to two runs, six hits (two home runs) while walking one with four strikeouts in 6.2 innings.
- Struck out a career-high tying 12 batters (also, July 29, 2012 vs. Oakland) on May 11 vs. Milwaukee. It marked his third-straight win, a season-long streak. Allowed two runs and six hits while walking two over 6.1 innings.
- His start on May 28 at Atlanta was the 127th of his career, breaking a tie with Wang for the most games started by a Taiwanese pitcher in MLB history. He and Wang are the only Taiwanese pitchers to eclipse 100 starts in MLB history.
- Set a career-low for hits allowed on June 2 vs. Pittsburgh. Held the Pirates to one hit and allowed two runs while walking three and striking out five.
- Earned 50th career win in start on June 13 at San Diego, despite giving up career-high four home runs. Went 6.0 innings, allowing four runs and seven hits with a walk and seven strikeouts. The four HR allowed were most since Chris Volstad gave up four on June 14, 2011 at Philadelphia. Was first pitcher in Club history to allow four homers and earn win.
- His 51st career win, and fifth of the season, came on July 5 at the Mets. He allowed one run on three hits (one home run) and one walk, while striking out five in 7.0 innings of work.
- His 51 career wins are second-most among his eight countrymen to have also pitched in MLB, behind Chien-Ming Wang's 68. The others were Hong-Chih Kuo (13), Chin-Hui Tsao (5), C.C. Lee (1), Fu-Te Ni (0), Chia-Jen Lo (0), and Wei-Chung Wang (0).
- Since debut in 2012, ranks tied for 11th among all Major League left-handed starters in wins (51), 11th in starts (139) and 10th in innings pitched (830.0).
- Led the Marlins' starting rotation and ranks second among National League left-handed starting pitchers with a 1.75 bb/9 (123.1 ip/24 bb), behind only Clayton Kershaw (0.66). Chen walked two-or-fewer batters in 20 of his 22 starts, including each of his last 11.
- Did not allow a walk in seven starts. Among National League left-handed starters, that is tied with second-most such starts with Jon Lester. Clayton Kershaw has 11.
- Over his three-start span of July 20-September 24, he did not walk a batter. The three starts without a mark was the longest of his career.
- Held opponents to .200 (17x85) average with RISP; ranked tied for fifth among National League starters (min. 80 opp. AB).

- Adam Conley completed his first full season in the Major Leagues with an 8-6 record and a 3.85 ERA (133.1 ip/57 er), which ranked second on the team among qualified starters, behind only José Fernández's 2.86 (182.1/58) mark.
- Struck out a career-high nine batters on April 13 against the Mets. He delivered 6.0 scoreless innings with four hits and a walk, taking a no-decision in a 2-1 defeat. He matched that strikeout mark three other times this season (also June 1 vs. Pittsburgh, June 28 at Detroit, July 17 at St. Louis).
- Combined to strike out 17 in two starts from April 13-19, which marked the most strikeouts by a Marlins left-handed starter in consecutive appearances since Dontrelle Willis struck out 18 from September 10-15, 2006. Conley accomplished the feat a second time this season, from June 1-7. - Stats LLC
- Earned first win after no-hitting Milwaukee over 7.2 frames on April 29 at Miller Park. Walked four and struck out seven in longest start by Marlins starter this season. In research provided by Elias, Conley, who left the game with a 5-0 lead after throwing 116 pitches, is first pitcher in Major League history to be removed from a start with a lead after pitching at least 7.2 innings without allowing a hit. The previous all-time record had been established just three weeks before, when Dodgers rookie Ross Stripling pitched 7.1 hitless innings in his Major League debut on April 8 at San Francisco.
- Earned second win of season on May 5 vs. Arizona. Allowed two hits and a walk with six strikeouts in 5.1 innings. Did not allow a hit until the fourth, running hitless innings streak to 11.1. It marked the longest such streak by starter in Majors this season, and longest by a starter in Club history. It ranks as second-longest overall, behind Armando Benitez's 14.0 hitless innings from May 4-June 4, 2004.
- In addition, he tied the Marlins record for fewest hits allowed (2) in a two-start stretch, equaling the accomplishment of Al Leiter in May 1996.
- Walked one batter or fewer in 10 of his first 18 starts this season and 16 of his first 29 career starts. That was the second-most such games by a Marlins starting pitcher through 29 career starts, behind Brian Meadows (18). Conley finished the year with 12 starts allowing no more than one walk, going 5-2, 2.49 (68.2/19) in those outings.
- Struck out 37 batters across six starts in June, setting a new career high for strikeouts in a month, surpassing 30 in September 2015.
- Produced an 8.37 strikeouts/9 innings rate for the season, which ranked second on the team, behind José Fernández (12.49) and 20th among NL starters.
- Posted three wins and a 1.82 ERA (29.2/6) in five July starts, both career bests in a calendar month for his career (min. 1 GS). His July ERA ranked second among NL left-handed starters, behind Madison Bumgarner (1.75). He ranked seventh among all NL starters (12th in the Majors). His three July wins also marked the longest winning streak of his career.
- Pitched 6.0 scoreless innings on July 3 against Atlanta at Fort Bragg, N.C., to earn his career-high fifth win, surpassing his total of four wins a year ago, his rookie season. Conley allowed four hits and a walk with two strikeouts in a 5-2 victory.
- Compiled a 1.32 WHIP across 10 starts from June 17-August 7. It was the sixth-lowest WHIP in the National League among left-handed starters in that time (min 51.1 ip), behind Madison Bumgarner (0.96), Tyler Anderson (1.23), Jaime Garcia (1.25), Robbie Ray (1.27), and Jon Lester (1.31). Conley was 5-2, 3.18 (56.2/20) during that stretch.
- Held opponents scoreless six times and has nine scoreless starts in his career, which trails only José Fernández (11) for the most such starts through the first 36 career starts by a Marlins pitcher.
- Recorded a 0.88 home runs/9 innings ratio that ranked 11th in the NL and second among NL left-handed starters, behind only Clayton Kershaw (0.48).
- Spent time on the 15-day disabled list from August 14-September 25 (left third finger tendonitis). It was the first DL stint of his Major League career.

- Completed his fourth full Major League season with a team-high 33 starts, becoming the third pitcher in Marlins history to make at least 30 starts in three consecutive seasons, joining Dontrelle Willis (four seasons, 2004-07) and Scott Olsen (three seasons, 2006-08).
- Is also one of three pitchers in Franchise history to throw at least 170.0 innings in three consecutive seasons, along with Dontrelle Willis (four seasons, 2004-07) and Scott Olsen (three seasons, 2006-08). Koehler and Willis (four seasons, 2004-07) are the only two Marlins pitchers with three-or-more straight seasons of at least 170.0 innings and 130 strikeouts.
- Finished the year with 147 strikeouts, the second-most of his career, behind 153 in 2014. His 7.49 strikeouts/9 innings rate was the highest of his career as a full-time starter, ahead of a 7.20 mark in 2014. Koehler ranked third on the team in that category and 21st among National League starters.
- Pitched a season-high 8.0 innings in his July 21 start vs. Philadelphia, tying his career high (fifth time). It was the first time he hit that mark since September 9, 2015 vs. Milwaukee. It was one of four starts of at least 8.0 innings by Miami starts (Adam Conley, 8.0 ip, June 22 vs. Atlanta; José Ureña, 8.2, September 11 vs. the Dodgers; José Fernández, 8.0, September 20 vs. Washington).
- Had a career-best streak of seven quality starts from July 21-August 25, going 3-1 with a 2.00 ERA (45.0 ip/10 er) during that stretch. His ERA during that stretch ranked second in the National League, behind only Kyle Hendricks (1.98).
- Allowed a combined 12 hits across four starts from July 21-August 9. It was the fewest hits he had allowed in a four-start span (previously 14 from April 15-May 2, 2014). He was 3-0, 0.67 (27.0/2) during that stretch.
- Earned his 35th career win on August 9 vs. San Francisco. He shut out the Giants on two hits and three walks with six strikeouts across 7.0 innings in a game Miami won, 2-0. Koehler is 11th on the Marlins' all-time wins list, two behind Pat Rapp for 10th.
- Became the 10th pitcher in Marlins history to record 500 strikeouts, reaching that mark on August 14 at home vs. Chicago-AL. He gave up three runs, six hits (one home run) and a walk with five strikeouts in a 5-4 Miami victory. However, the outing snapped a career-high streak of four starts allowing one earned run or fewer.
- Issued three-or-fewer walks in 17 consecutive starts from June 24-September 21, the longest such streak of his career. He tied José Fernández for second-longest such streak on the team, behind Wei-Yin Chen, who did not walk more than three batters in any of his 22 starts.
- Tied a career-high with five road victories, matching his total from 2015. He went 5-6, 4.48 (96.1/48) in 18 away starts compared to 4-7, 4.15 (80.1/37) in 15 starts at Marlins Park.
- Posted a career-best .243 (75x309) opponent batting average after the All-Star break, ahead of his .270 (92x341) OBA in the second half of 2015. His 2016 mark led the team and ranked 17th among NL starters (min. 10 starts).
- Ended the season on a season-high five-decision losing streak that covered his final eight starts, beginning August 25 vs. Kansas City. He went 0-5, 6.21 (37.2/26) during that stretch despite a 9.08 strikeouts/9 innings ratio. It is the third-longest such streak of his career.
- According to Fangraphs, Koehler threw his slider a career-high 23.7 percent of the time this season compared to a career average of 16.0 percent. His fastball usage of 46.7 percent was the lowest of his career (55.3 percent career average).
- Received a career-high 4.74 run support average, ahead of a 4.66 average in 2014. That mark ranked third among Marlins starters.
