Office of the Commissioner
MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL

ROBERT D. MANFRED, JR.
Commissioner of Baseball

To Our Fans:

Major League Baseball is delighted to welcome you to the fourth season of the MLB Draft League. In its first three years, the Draft League has created lasting memories for loyal fans and strengthened our game in its communities. I know that the six teams of the Draft League will again create an unforgettable summer for everyone involved.

The innovative format of the Draft League demonstrates our sport's unique player development model. The first half of the season will feature college prospects who are gaining visibility ahead of the MLB Draft in July. In the second half, fans will see players taking the first steps in their professional careers. Since its inaugural season in 2021, 231 players have signed with MLB organizations from the Draft League, with 133 being selected in the Draft and 98 signing as non-drafted free agents.

Utilizing technology originally developed for the Major Leagues, participants will benefit from resources that will help hone their skills and develop their careers – all under the tutelage of former Major League players as managers and coaches. The time that players spend in the Draft League will prepare them well for their upcoming careers in professional baseball, thrilling fans along the way.

None of this success would be possible without your support. Last year, we were very pleased to welcome over half a million fans to Draft League games, with nearly every team recording an increase in average attendance over 2022. This season, Draft League teams will again offer a superb fan experience, with a focus on high-caliber baseball on the field and fun in the stands.

Thank you for welcoming these athletes into your communities and helping strengthen our player development system. Through our partnership with Prep Baseball Report, we are proud to build on the great baseball traditions in this region. All of us at MLB look forward to the continued success of the Draft League this season and in the years ahead.

Sincerely,

Robert D. Manfred Jr.

MANAGER TIM BATTLE JR.

The State College Spikes will have a familiar face taking the reins on the field as Tim Battle Jr., who served as the Spikes' hitting coach in 2023, returns to Happy Valley as the club's new manager for the 2024 Major League Baseball Draft League season.

Under Battle's tutelage last season, several Spikes stood out among the MLB Draft League's year-end leaders. Infielder Braeden Blackford was second in the league in RBI's with 34 over the second half of the season, and earned MLB Draft League Player of the Month honors for July, while Carlos Contreras was just one behind in second half RBI's with 33. Josh Leslie also posted 63 hits in the second half under Battle, tied for most in the league.

After being selected in the third round of the 2003 MLB Draft by the New York Yankees, Battle received chilling news, as doctors diagnosed him with cancer, specifically B-cell lymphoma in his ribs. However, Battle overcame this adversity, and after six months of chemotherapy treatments, he returned to action and embarked on a 14-year professional career.

During his time in the pros, Battle made four stops in the Yankee organization for a total of six seasons, then played a further six seasons in American independent pro ball, including stints at two Pennsylvania stops in York and Washington. Battle added plenty of international experience as he played in Japan for the Kochi Fighting Dogs and in Canada with the Edmonton Capitals.

Battle now owns and operates Battlegroundz Baseball in his hometown of Atlanta, where he teaches and develops young players.

"I am honored to have the opportunity to come back to the Spikes this summer and help mentor the young men who are the future of baseball," said Battle. "I am grateful to Sean Campbell and the MLB Draft League as well as Scott Walker and the Spikes for having me back to Happy Valley. Of course, I could not do this without my family - Shontel, Brielle and Empress at home, my mom, my dad, and so many others who helped guide me to this position. I'm also looking forward to seeing all of the Spikes fans, because their support means so much to our players and staff as we cultivate the next generation of the game before our very eyes."

IKE THE SPIKE

Standing 6 feet, 2 inches (or so), and weighing in at a buck fifty, from the woods of Central PA, it's Ike the Spike!

Ike has been the ambassador for the Spikes all over Central PA since he first repelled down the backstop and greeted players and coaches from the State College Little League on May 6, 2006. With many deer friends across the region, Ike is a busy individual the whole year visiting school programs, charity functions, birthday parties and more events where people like to have fun!

Most of all, Ike looks forward to seeing all of his buddies at the ballpark for State College Spikes home games! Ike loves to dance and make people laugh for a few bucks, so if you see him, say hello – only opposing MLB Draft League teams need to “Fear the Deer” as far as Ike is concerned!

You can bring Ike out to your next party or function by contacting the Spikes at 814-272-1711, or by e-mailing frontoffice@statecollegespiques.com!
