Where the Stars of Tomorrow Shine Tonight

Welcome to Eldredge Park!

When we turned off our lights on August 2, 2018 the excitement began for this season. Our historic ballpark with our trademark "The Hill" has added "The Catch" and yes, it is on our hill behind home plate. Be sure to check it out. Our special ballpark now has a special statue to be cherished by all in Orleans and the lower cape community. Our historic ballpark also has the honor of hosting the CCBL All-star game on July 21. The town of Orleans is to be applauded by all residents and visitors for their continued dedication to working hand in hand with the Firebirds to ensure the field is baseball ready for all local baseball organizations from Nauset Regional, Legion, Babe Ruth teams, as well as organized adult baseball programs. Eldredge Park is a gem for all who play here. For your viewing enjoyment we have added a new wireless scoreboard with Pitch Speed, added height to 1st base protective nets, updated and improved ballpark sound system, and enhanced visibility for our announcers and scorers. Bring the kids, grandparents, neighbors, friends, and visitors to enjoy our family friendly, safe place to enjoy baseball with "the Stars of Tomorrow Shining Tonight". Enjoy "take me out to the ball game" by an energetic group of lively kids during the 7th inning stretch. Arrive as a visitor and take home the love and ex-

We, the players and coaches, promise to represent the great town of Orleans with pride, poise, class and hustle at all times.

We look forward to sharing a tremendous baseball experience with you this summer. When you visit Eldredge Park, please come by and say "hello," get autographs from the players, visit the Home Plate Shop, take home a souvenir and be prepared to watch some future major leaguers display their talents!

Thank you again for your continued support.

The Catch

There is a new addition to Eldredge Park this season – “The Catch” (a.k.a. “Catch”) by nationally recognized sculptor Gwen Marcus. Eldredge Park is the perfect setting for the work as it embodies a young child making a catch in the outfield or going for a foul ball behind home plate. The sculpture is a gift to the Firebirds by a generous anonymous donor. Nauset Regional Schools graciously and enthusiastically agreed to let Catch be installed on school property near the field.

About the Sculpture

Gwen Marcus has put a lot of herself into Catch which gives the sculpture life and strength. It is inspiring to look at for young players as well as for those who love baseball.

There is suspense surrounding the sculpture as Gwen has carefully positioned the ball teetering on the edge of the glove. It’s left to the imagination whether or not the boy ends up with the ball. The boy’s expression contributes to the suspense as he isn’t sure as well, but it is clear he is going to give it his best effort. Asked about the outcome, Gwen replies that she thinks he stretches a bit more and closes the glove at just the right time to make the play.

Catch is a composite of two young boys. The body was modeled on a little boy from New York City who loved baseball. He was very happy and enthusiastic about being involved with the sculpture. Working with a live model who was excited about baseball contributed greatly to the energy of the piece. The face was that of another young boy. Catch’s outfit was inspired by the players in the 1976 movie “The Bad News Bears” starring Walter Matthau and Tatum O’Neil.

The detail in the piece is incredible, from the boy’s shoe strings to the buttons on his jersey to his facial expression. A number of people who saw the statue after it was installed have commented on how impressed they are that she has given Catch’s eyes life. As you view him from various angles the shadowing changes to give him real pupils.

Although a limited edition, there are several other Catch statues by Gwen throughout the world including the Chi Mei Museum in Tainan, Taiwan; the Landmark Bank in Missouri; several private collections; and, most notably, Braves Field in Conway, Arkansas, a park for special needs kids and adults to be able to play baseball. People going to Braves Field love to have their picture taken with Catch, and the Firebirds hope you will have your picture with the Eldredge Catch as well.

How Catch Was Made

Using a live model she relies on her deep experience in drawing and anatomical observation to arrive a pose to be pleasing from all angles. Once she completes the life sized sculpture of Catch in clay, the “lost wax” process is used to create the piece in bronze. For more about how Catch was made please go to www.gwenmarcus.com/images/FAC%20article.pdf for an article by Peter Tripp, Editor-in-Chief of Fine Arts Connaisseur (July/August 2015). The article contains photos and commentary about the production of one of her sculptures.

About the Artist

During an interview Gwen Marcus said she wants her work to “be elevating and inspiring to the human spirit.” She certainly has succeeded to do so for baseball fans with Catch as it is the essence of baseball.

Her works can be found in museums and private collections worldwide. Gwen, who also paints with watercolors, grew up on Long Island. She comes from an artistic family as her mother was a ballet teacher and he father was a writer.

University and the Rhode Island School of design. She is a Fellow of and has served on the board of the National Sculpture Society. In her 40 years of sculpting Gwen has received numerous awards and honors for her works, among them the highly regarded Gold Medal from the Allied Artists of America. In addition, she was awarded the Gold Medal of Honor by Audubon Artist, Inc., as well as The Hudson Valley Art Association Gold Medal. She is a four-time recipient of the Gold Medal of Honor from the American Artists Professional League and has received the Centennial Medal of Honor and the Gold Medal of Honor (twice) from The Catharine Lorillard Wolfe Art Club. In March 2019, Gwen was the Artist in Residence at National Historic Landmark Brookgreen Gardens in South Carolina. Brookgreen Gardens combines figurative sculptures by American artists (including Gwen) in a beautiful outdoor garden setting.

Gwen’s dad was a baseball fan who took the kids to Yankees games. As a result Gwen and her younger sister became a Yankees fans. Her sister who had a career in dance is still a passionate Yankees fan. Gwen’s husband is a huge Mets fan and she now roots for the Mets. At games she loves the excitement and energy of the crowd. With the National Anthem, hot dogs, peanuts and an exciting game it is a wonderful American experience.

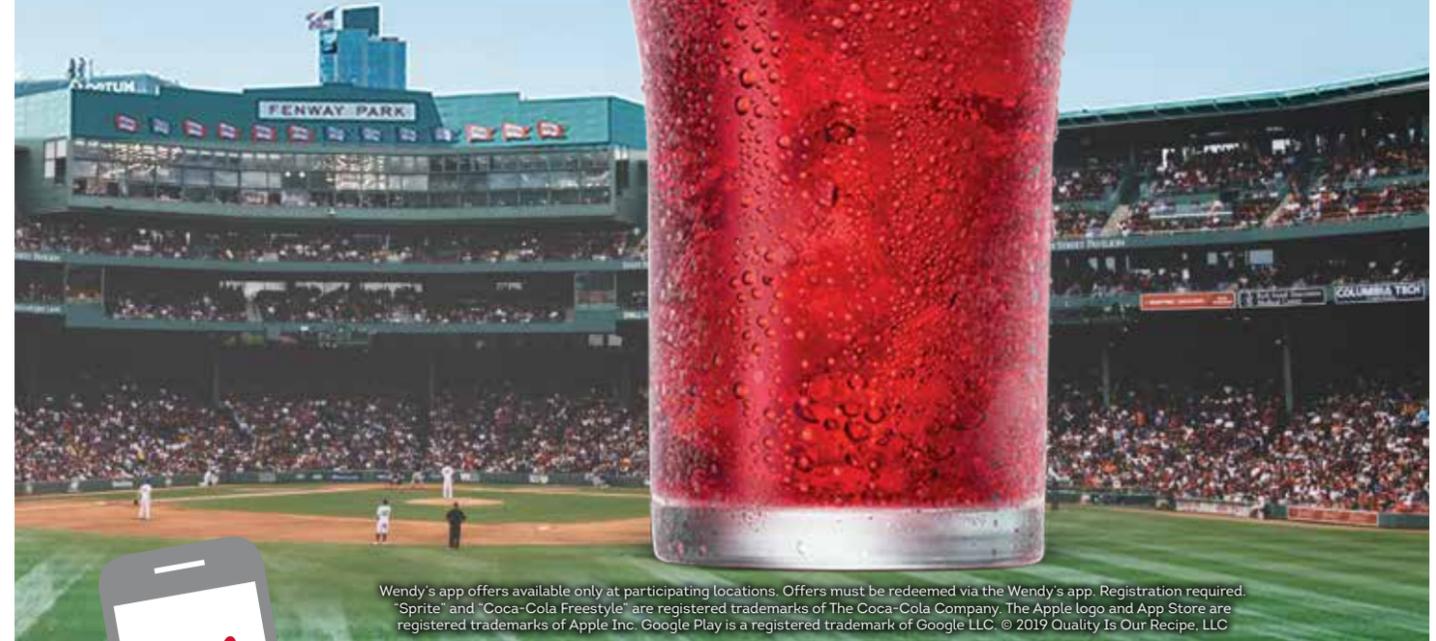

Given the investment of time, effort and emotion she put into the sculpture, she almost thinks of Catch as her child and she can’t help but smile when she looks at it. Gwen couldn’t be happier with the Firebirds acquiring her work as Eldredge Park is the perfect baseball field. ○

2018 CCBL SEASON REVIEW

WAREHAM GATEMEN SWEEP PLAYOFFS

The Wareham Gatemen, led by Manager Don Sneddon, swept through the playoffs without suffering a loss, ultimately claiming the Cape Cod Baseball League Championship with a 9-3 victory over Chatham at venerable Veteran's Field.

Wareham captured the Western Division regular season title with a 25-17-2 record while in the East Y-D earned the President's Trophy after posting a league-best 27-12-5 slate.

In the Eastern Division playoffs, Brewster knocked off Y-D for the second straight year while Chatham swept Harwich. The A's then defeated the Whitecaps, earning their first Championship berth since 2001.

In the Western Division, Wareham swept Cotuit in Round one, while Falmouth took care of business in wining both games vs. Hyannis. The Gatemen then quickly dispatched the Commodores, setting up the Championship series vs. Chatham.

The Championship series MVP was earned by Wareham's Austin Shenton (Florida International), who went an astounding 12-23 (.571) with three home runs & twelve RBI to lead the Gatemen to their first CCBL Championship since 2012. ○

ELDREDGE PARK Home of the Firebirds

▲ The Hill at Eldredge Park

Welcome to historic Eldredge Park designated "the best summer collegiate park in the nation," in 2004 by Baseball America. This picturesque park has served the town of Orleans for over a century. Over this time, substantial work has been completed to maintain, improve and modernize the park, most recently through private donations and without cost to the local taxpayer. Today, Eldredge Park provides the town with a beautiful facility and ambiance once described by Philadelphia Inquirer Reporter Joe Parillo as "a Norman Rockwell painting come to life."

In 1913 a local gentleman named Louis Winslow "Win" Eldredge (1861-1944) acquired about 250 acres of land in central Orleans; he designated a portion as a park, in "consideration of my affection for and interest in the young people of Orleans and my desires to provide a playground for them."

Major steps were taken to modernize the park in 1966. The facility expanded to include a music band shell, tennis courts, picnic areas and other recreational facilities provided for in a master plan. Significantly, the field configuration was changed, moving home plate from near the existing left-field foul pole to its current location. The new park debuted on July 23, 1967 when it hosted the Cape Cod League Baseball All-Star game. One of the most distinctive elements of the park is the steep hill that runs all the way down the right side of the field. It was almost impossible to sit on comfortably until 1985 when Fred Perreault suggested terracing the entire hill, creating relatively level tiers for fans to place chair and blankets to watch the team. Now known as simply "The Hill" this iconic feature expanded capacity to around 6000 and created a unique setting that is the envy of community ball parks throughout the country.

In 2004, the Yawkey Foundation began making a series of $150,000 improvement grants to each of the CCBL teams. In 2009, the Firebirds and Y-D Red Sox became the last teams to receive grants. Staged in phases, and with the addition of community donations, Eldredge Park underwent $322,000 worth of improvements. Phase 1 was completed in 2010. It involved construction of state-of-the-art 46' long dugouts, complete with New England styled bead boarding; and knee high padded brick backstop. New safety netting that extended 180' down each foul line was added, and new foul poles and a flagpole in centerfield were erected. Phase 2 in 2011 focused on improving the playing surface. The entire infield was excavated to a level 5 feet underground, and then layered with new clay and sod. Phase 3 was completed prior to the 2013 season and included a new sprinkler system. Fred Perreault and John Martin also cleared out two overgrown groves, above the home plate area and adjacent to the right field foul pole, greatly enhancing the expansive, open feel of the park. Finally, bleachers were converted from wood to aluminum and new sets were added beyond the outfield fence.

Before the 2017 season the visitor's bullpen was expanded to accommodate two throwing lanes to match those in the home bullpen, and the safety netting along the pen was repositioned and raised to better protect fans and vehicles in the left field parking lot. In addition a 214-foot long, 8-foot high "batter's eye" screened fence was erected beyond centerfield to help batters see errant pitches for increased player safety.

The tradition of improvements has continued for 2019. We have a new scoreboard which is wireless that will support us for years to come. This new scoreboard has additional functions – a pitch speed indicator which can be seen from anywhere in the park and we can now enter the visiting team's name. Importantly, new higher netting (an additional five feet) was installed along the first base line to provide additional fan protection. In addition, the Bird's Nest window was upgraded; and the park sound system upgraded. Thanks to a generous fan the bronze statue, "The Catch", was acquired and now resides on the hill behind home plate. What a wonderful addition to capture the spirit of baseball.

Since it was established in 1913, Eldredge Park has served Orleans in many ways. The town has coupled a vision with an unparalleled commitment from the Firebirds, residents, local business owners and countless volunteers to build maintain and constantly improve the venue. George Mitrovich, a San Diego Civic Leader, summed up Eldredge Park in a 1998 letter to the Boston Globe, "some teams play in ballparks with lights, some without. Some play in forgettable surroundings and some, like the Cardinals [now Firebirds] in Orleans, play in a sylvan setting so transcendently beautiful one's breath is swept away." ○

coach Andy Lopez led you guys that year. What was unique about him?

The expectations and standards he set were very high. He approached every day the same way. The consistency is what's important. The atmosphere he created wasn't easy, but it was all by design, though we didn't understand it at the time. He is creating an atmosphere around practice and everyday life that is difficult. He's on you, it feels suffocating at times. But he's making it like this so that when the game happens, it's fun because he's not on you anymore. He had a saying, "Practices belong to me, games belong to you". When pressure mounts in a game, you revert back to your training. When I was in the World Series I fell back on my training. It allowed me to rise to the occasion.

Can you contrast Andy Lopez with Orleans Manager Kelly Nicholson, who you played for over two summers (2012-2013)?

It's funny, Kelly and Andy are friends, so I knew Kelly was watching me for Andy. He was Andy's eyes. There was no escape there. So I knew I had to bring it every day because I didn't want Kelly to go to Andy and say something, then I come back to Fall practice in Tucson and Andy has ammo to use against me.

Kelly wants to win, obviously. But he also finds a way to make it fun. Kelly is outstanding. I've been trying to get this job in the Cape for a few years now, and fortunately he's given me the opportunity. I can't thank him enough.

You played a big role (11 saves, 1.35 ERA) on the Firebirds 2013 Eastern Division

12, against guys as good as South Carolina.

I've never heard a crowd as loud that one. I recall specifically warming up in the bullpen, and our coach decides to come to me. There were a group of South Carolina fans that were just ruthless. During my last warmup pitch, this older guy, in his 70's, said something so brutal I can't repeat it. There was one specific thing he said right at the end and I thought to myself, "oh my gosh, where am I right now? How is the guy saying this to a 19-year old? What is going on?" Maybe it helped, because that became my motivation. I focused my thoughts on what he was saying, and I think it took away from everything that was going on. I was kinda like "screw that guy". I ended up striking out the guy to end the 8th.

ABCA Hall of Fame

You were part of Arizona's 2012 National Championship team, closing out the final game against South Carolina. What do you remember about that final game?

TD Ameritrade is a fantastic ballpark & I think there were 23,000 or so fans packed in there. South Carolina fans travel in crazy numbers (the Gamecocks won National Titles in 2010 & 2011). I remember our fans were tucked into one tiny section up there. Then all around you were unbelievable amounts of South Carolina fans in their team colors & logos.

I was lucky to have pitched in our first CWS game against Florida State, closing that game out. That experience really helped me relax in the final game. Yeah, it's a bigger stadium with more fans, but we played in the Pac-sion Championship team. What was that team like?

It was fun team, obviously talented. What was scary was how well we all got along. That was a special group, we were all buddies and had a blast.

Are you still in touch with some of those players?

I got the chance to see Greg Allen last year when I was living in Newport Beach. The Indians were playing the Angels. I got to watch him and say "what's up." He's such a good person, and when you see guys like succeed, you can't help but to have a big smile on your face.

Obviously Riley Moore (my catcher at Arizona and Orleans), he just got engaged. Jordan Lulpow just moved out to Del Mar in the San Diego area, and that's where I live now. Funny how things happen, I ran into Austin Davidson one time at a restaurant. And I'm really close with Geoff DeGroot, he just got married to Brooke, I was the best man at the wedding out in Florida. We're best friends to this day. He'll end up being my best man. We were roommates in 2013 when we lived with Nancy (Nickerson).

You guys lost the Championship series to Cotuit, but won a hard-fought, three-game playoff series against Harwich. What do you remember about that series?

The series had that feel. The fans were a little bit louder, a little crazy. It seemed to go back and forth, really competitive.

I remember they had some studs, future major leaguers. I remember Derek Fisher (1st round draft choice in 2014; Houston Astros) and how hard he played the game. Fisher and Ian Happ (1st round draft choice in 2015; Chicago Cubs) had an incredible presence in the batter's box. I like to think I had the best presence on the mound, but those guys made me push myself, really hard.

Your pitching coach in 2013 was Jason Brown, now of the Yankees. What was his approach in coaching the pitching staff that summer?

Brownie made it FUN. You can get a little nervous when you get to the Cape. You get there and think, man, the coach is going to try to change something.

The first thing Brownie said was, "I'm here for you. I've been around the game for a while, seen many players and personalities. If I see something I'll bring it up, but I'm not going to come in here and try to reinvent you."

I'm going to have the same conversation with our guys this year.

You suffered an elbow injury in your junior year, necessitating Tommy John surgery. Describe the feeling when you were hurt and the rehab process.

Arizona needed a starting pitcher slot filled, so I gave it a whirl. I'm starting against Utah Valley, in the first inning, I threw a curve ball and something felt weird. Something was off. I walked around the mound, and all of a sudden it felt like someone had a lighter and they were holding it by my elbow. "Ok, that's not good". I threw a few more pitches and it felt like nothing was there. I checked my velo afterwards and saw it had dropped 9 mph from pitch to pitch, and even lower.

I had the surgery that week, went through the grueling rehab process, day in and day out, trying to get my arm back. At the same time our team wasn't doing too well on the field. It was a very tough year and a half for me. I was never really able to get my mojo back mentally, when I was on the sidelines, to be there for my team as a leader. I apologize now for that time. I had the ability to be that guy who held us together, but I was weak, and wasn't that guy.

It took me transferring to Cal-State Northridge and playing for Greg Moore, who's still there, to help me get out of that slump, take on the role that I always enjoyed, the one that was always behind our guys, pushing them, showing them someone cares about them, and wants them to be better.

How did Coach Moore change your mindset?

He cared enough to sit down with me and tell me to "stop playing blame games, woe is me, and to take responsibility for what happened. There's no time for that. You're continually getting worse, stop it right now, look at it in the face, ask why it happened,

"I can't wait to see the level of competition and watching the matchups between the best talent in the country, 'big on big' moments as I call them."

get in the moment and ask how you're going to get better right now." He's the greatest thing that has happened to me in the baseball world.

In retrospect, what did you learn about proper arm care?

I realized I never took care of myself, that's what it came down to. I was able to be good because of my mindset in knowing that I was good. I didn't put in the work on pre-throw. I never went to see the trainer. Shoot, if you saw me on bands it would be a miracle. My process wasn't there, and that's why I got hurt, why everything went downhill. After getting hurt I realized I had nothing to fall back on, my foundation wasn't there.

Once I was able to take responsibility for that, I could play a leadership role and help the guys stay out of that trap.

▲ CCBL Deputy Commissioner Peter Hall, Kelly Nicholson, Sue Horton, and Matt Troupe holding the CCBL Manny Robello 10th Man Award.

Walking around the (University of) San Diego campus, I often ask myself "what environment am I trying to create around me, in my bubble, that circle? Who can I grab and bring into that circle to

We need 27 outs to win. If you can help me get just one, I'm all in.

What are you looking most forward to coming back to Orleans?

On the field, I can't wait to see the level of competition and watching the matchups between the best talent in the country, "big on big" moments as I call them. I'm just a baseball junkie and I love the competition. That part gets me going.

I'm also excited about helping our guys, the opportunity to help them get just the slightest bit better. My goal is to send them back to their programs a little better than when they arrived in Orleans. That's my goal anyway. And then vice-versa, learning stuff from the players. These guys are so good, and everyone is an individual, and they do something different and better than the rest. Maybe I see a guy throw a pitch that moves in a way I've never seen before. Now I can ask him, "hey how do you make that happen?" being able to have that conversation to help us both get better.

And I can't wait to see all the people in Orleans. They are so great and treated us so well. I think it's natural, not just because we were ballplayers. The people are genuine and I'm excited to get back in that special atmosphere Orleans exudes. ○

Baseball Clubs of Cape Cod: 20 YEARS OF BASEBALL AND FRIENDSHIP

By Candace Hammond

For the men who began playing baseball together in the later 1990s, it was never just a game. It's always been much more. It's cerebral, it's camaraderie, it's a source of pure joy. Loving baseball doesn't have an expiration date, and neither does playing it. Just because you're over 40, or even in your 70s, doesn't mean you lose the feeling that comes from hitting, catching, and being part of a team.

That love of the game was the motivation of four men, Vince Gulotta, Rick Marvin, Frank Poranski and Doug Mason who started an 18 and Over League 20 years ago. Frank Poranski, who was the PA announcer for the Cardinals/Firebirds for 15 years, recalls having a conversation with long-time player, Paul Niles, both bored by and uninterested in softball, deciding to get some other men together to play baseball.

According to Doug Mason, now an umpire in the 18-35 league, it was in the spring of 1998 when he and Vince Gulotta met up for some pick-up games at Brooks Park in Harwich on Wednesday nights. Twelve or thirteen baseball enthusiasts would gather and play in those games. If there were not enough players to make two teams of nine they would "shut down" one of the out-field positions. If you hit the ball to that part of the field, you were out. They eventually learned there was another similar group playing on Sundays in Orleans and joined forces. The following spring, the initial four teams Baseball Club of Cape Cod (BCCC) was born, replete with vintage-style 1970s t-shirts for uniforms.

The four teams, Provincetown, Eastham, Orleans, and Harwich had the lower and outer Cape covered. Doug Mason was the coach for Provincetown, Rick Marvin, Eastham, Frank Poranski, Orleans, and Vince Gulotta, Harwich. In those early days, it was for anyone 18 and older, with 15-20 men per team. But the rules were pretty loose, and if there was a position to be filled someone's kid would jump in, and on occasion, history has it, Vince's wife, Kathie Gulotta, sometimes stepped in at second base.

The wonderful thing about this league, Rick Marvin happily recalls, is that everyone who wanted to play did – regardless of expertise or experience. They had folks who had never, ever played, and they had accomplished athletes, but they made it work. It was as fair as they could make it, and it was fun, lots and lots of fun. Marvin is still very involved with the Orleans Firebirds, leading the kids in "Take Me Out To The Ballgame" during the seventh inning stretch and selling 50/50 raffle tickets during the games.

By 2004, as some of the guys were reaching their 50s, playing with 18 and 20-year-olds was starting to not be much fun, so they started an over-35 league. The league had become very popular, and that popularity allowed for the league to expand and grow. the game so well. "It's the smell of the grass, the feel of the dirt, the scratch of the uniform, the sound of the bat on the ball, it all evokes a splash of feeling that coalesces the depths of life experiences into a single solitary rush that feeds the brain, the spirit, and the soul. And that's on an ordinary night."

People choosing to play a sport well into middle age and beyond. do it for so many reasons. Doug Mason talks about how meeting so many different men from across the Cape has changed his life. "I met guys who knew my uncle, when he played professional baseball, to my landscaper and plumber," he says. "So many friendships have been formed. I love seeing the guys in the grocery store and seeing them at a Firebird's game. It drives my wife crazy when I see someone from the

Orleans is indeed fortunate to welcome Coach Nicholson back for his 19th summer here — his 15th as Field Manager, the longest tenure for an Orleans skipper in the “modern era” (1963-present).

Kelly (or Coach K as he’s known in the pitching fraternity) is a native of Corona, California where he won numerous scholar-athlete awards in both baseball and basketball while in high school. He was a four-year letterwinner and two-time all-conference pick during his pitching career at Loyola Marymount University.

After earning his bachelor’s degree in business administration from LMU, he began his career teaching mathematics at Loyola High School of Los Angeles, while completing his master’s degree in education from LMU. He was the head coach of the Loyola HS Cubs for eleven seasons, where he led the team to seven playoff appearances and a league title. Kelly then spent three seasons as Loyola Marymount’s pitching coach, and each year the Lions won the WCC title and went to the NCAA regionals. In the summer of 2000, Kelly worked with the Team USA pitching staff in its early preparation for international play. Kelly joined Orleans as the pitching coach in 2001. In 2002, Coach K’s staff had a 2.11 ERA (the best ever by Cardinals pitchers) and in 2004 it led the CCBL with a 2.37. His 2003 championship pitching staff was lights out, with a 2.36 ERA and a league-leading 397 Ks in 401 IP. All told, Kelly’s pitching staffs have led the CCBL in ERA an astounding 7 times.

It’s no surprise to anyone who knows him that Kelly enjoys the respect, affection and admiration of his players, fellow coaches and colleagues here and around the league and in the wider baseball community; he’s a favorite around town, having made countless friends over the years. Orleans fans know they’ll see a first class team on the field every summer with Kelly at the helm.

Kelly established his “ABC” or Academy of Baseball and Character, where young players “learn to play the game the right way.” We can attest to that. Orleans welcomes a true gentleman and a terrific leader back for his 19th summer. Kelly is engaged to Donna Barney and resides in Playa del Rey, CA. ○ league when we are out because she knows it will be 30 minutes of baseball talk. Playing with the guys and then hearing them on the radio, Joe Rosetti on WCOD, and Frank Poranski announcing Nauset Football games was a great experience.”

All of the men queried for this piece have nothing but extremely fond memories of their time playing baseball together, and the league continues to be robust, and the men who started the league have an unbreakable bond. Last year, when Vince Gulotta passed away, a few even wore their team jerseys to his memorial service.

Mason says, “Cape Cod and baseball go together like lobster and butter,” and that certainly seems to be true. For these men, many of whom began playing as children, it’s a lifelong love affair. For many, once they reach adulthood they put away their gloves and cleats, and perhaps, save the occasional game of catch they don’t play past their teens. Because of the BCCC, they get to play again. As we become adults and take on all the trappings of career and parenthood, we don’t get many opportunities to revisit that which brought us such joy in our youth. Friendship, brotherhood and being part of a team doesn’t have to have an expiration date. What this league has given its members is much more than playing a game. It’s been 20 years of connection and community. And yes, a whole lot of fun. ○

Ryan returns for his third summer in Orleans, his second as an assistant coach. In 2017, he served as our MLB Scout Liaison, providing daily game and

Eldredge Park

A Ballpark and Historic Icon

There's nothing quite like Eldredge Park on a summer evening when the best college baseball players in the country are competing on the professional quality field under the lights. Sitting on the hill, taking in the spectacle, and predicting which players on the field will wear Major League Baseball uniforms in the future has become a favorite pastime for Cape residents and visitors alike.

A lesser known fact about the Park is that it is also a significant historical icon and that it has been added to the Orleans Historical Properties Survey and is now on file with the Massachusetts Historical Commission. The Park operated a livery stable and invested in stocks.

In 1913, Win donated land, "of such dimensions as the Committee may wish" from the land he acquired in 1907 to the Town of Orleans for use as a public playground. He also donated $500 to grade and arrange the park. Win was a baseball enthusiast, and donated the land "in consid-stands as a monument to the rich history of baseball in our Town as well as to several threads in our heritage for the past one hundred and six years. Our ballpark is only one year younger than another Massachusetts baseball shrine, Fenway Park, home to the Red Sox since 1912.

In 1907, Lewis Winslow "Win" Eldredge, an Orleans resident, acquired approximately 250 acres of land in the center of Town. The land was previously owned by C.W. Doane, and was used for woodcutting and agriculture. Win eration of my affection for and interest in the young people of Orleans and my desire to provide a playground for them. In 1914, the Town appropriated $1500 for grading and construction, and in 1915, construction of the baseball field commenced. The original baseball field was situated slightly south of the present field, and faced to the northwest. The area around the park was heavily wooded with little development to the north, south, and west, and Eldredge Parkway was not yet in existence.

HISTORIAN'S CORNER

In 1927, the Town initiated a policy to improve the baseball field, and upgrades and renovations were made in 1928, and the Cape Cod Baseball League first played on the field in that year. Prior to 1928, the Orleans team played on a field near the intersection of Rt. 28 and 6A in northern Orleans. In 1929, the field was referred to as Eldredge Park for the first time in its Annual Reports, and the name persisted from then on. Improvements to the park continued throughout the mid-twentieth century, and the field was used both by the Cape Cod Baseball League and the Orleans Junior-Senior High School.

Eldredge Park saw many renovations and improvements in the latter half of the twentieth century. In 1966, the Town appropriated $10,000 for "the purpose of rehabilitating the recreational facilities at Eldredge Field. An additional $20,000 was raised to complete the project including the construction of the bandstand, tennis courts, and picnic area. In 1966, the historical marker was dedicated on the property to honor Lewis "Win" Eldredge's contributions to the Town. In 1967, the baseball diamond was moved slightly northward and re-oriented to face southwest instead of northwest due to the direct sunlight that hindered the afternoon games played at the time. The 1967 CCBL All-Star Game was the scene of the dedication of the "New Eldredge Park," described by a Philadelphia sportswriter as "A Norman Rockwell painting come to life."

Around 1970, the Charles F. Moore Jr. Field House and Bandstand were constructed. By 1971, Eldredge Parkway was under construction, and the area around the Park was cleared and built up with parking lots and school facilities. Improvements continued in the late twentieth century with stadium lights in 1979, the press box in 1982, and terraced lawn seating in 1985. A Yawkey Foundation Grant in 2009 allowed for continued improvements, and the development of this Town and Cape Cod treasure continues as a labor of love for the Lower Cape community.

When you are at the Park enjoying your next game, remember the 106 year journey that has created the jewel that you see before you. It is an integral part of Orleans' heritage and evidence of the Town's commitment to classic baseball. ○

FIREBIRDS OBITUARIES

Murray Bernard

FEBRUARY 27, 1925 –
JUNE 13, 2018

Longtime Orleans Firebirds volunteer Murray Bernard passed away just as last year's Firebirds season was beginning. Born in Bayonne, New Jersey, Murray grew up in the home over his father's tailor shop. He served in the US Navy during World War II, and then became a successful office furniture salesman in the metro New York area. His many interests included gardening, collecting antiques, studying history (particularly the Civil War), current events, and sports. An exemplary volunteer, Murray served his community in many capacities over the years, and we were privileged to enjoy his friendship and humor. In his ninth decade, he'd joke that he no longer bought green bananas. Murray asked that memorial donations be made to the Firebirds. ○

Barbara Creeden Ellsworth, "Mrs. E"

MAY 11, 1929 –
OCTOBER 31, 2018

The incomparable, inimitable, indomitable, and irreplaceable Mrs. E passed away just one month shy of her induction into the CCBL Hall of Fame. Born in Danvers and raised on the North Shore, she moved to West Yarmouth in the early 70s with her family, and devoted four decades of service to the league. Over the years, she was team president, vice president, housing coordinator and general manager for the Y-D Red Sox, coordinator for many league events, and a host parent for the Red Sox and Harwich Mariners, mentoring well over 150 ball-players. Her wit and wisdom are legendary, and we hope her answering machine greeting still applies: "Mrs. E can't come to the phone right now. She's taking batting practice! Please leave a message after the tone..." ○

Joan M. Demaree

SEPTEMBER 9, 1939 –
FEBRUARY 17, 2019

Born in Salt Lake City, Joan grew up in both Idaho and Utah. She met her husband, Jim, when he was stationed in Utah with the US Air Force, and Jim's post-service career meant living in many different locations while they raised their family. Joan later had a successful real estate career in Connecticut while remaining fully involved in the lives of her children and grandchildren. Joan and Jim finally retired to Orleans in 2005, enjoying all that life here offers, including enthusiastic and constant support of the Orleans Firebirds. Joan's family has graciously requested that memorial donations be made to the team. ○

John Randall Mayo

NOVEMBER 30, 1939 –
FEBRUARY 24, 2019

Born in Hyannis and brought up on the landmark Mayo's Duck Farm in East Orleans, John attended Orleans schools and graduated from Tilton Academy (NH). An outstanding athlete, John was known as a wily lefty with a wicked curveball; he also played first base. John began playing for the Orleans town team in 1956 while still in high school; he was on the mound when Orleans beat Cotuit for the 1957 Cape League championship, and he was named to the All Star team chosen by the Boston Record newspaper. John also played on the US Navy team during his service with the US Marine Corps. An avid supporter of local sports teams, a scholarship in his name has been established at Nauset High School. ○

Henri Millhollan

FEBRUARY 26, 1953 –
MARCH 5, 2019

Born in Brooklyn and raised in Connecticut, Henri moved to Manhattan after college but soon relocated permanently to Orleans. He first worked in the restaurant business and later as a successful real estate broker, establishing his own company, Realty By The Sea, in 2006. Henri was a loyal supporter of the Orleans Firebirds and came to our rescue more than once when we needed help finding accommodations for our coaches. A true cosmopolitan, Henri enjoyed travel, food, wine, music, reading, friends and family, and a life well lived. ○

Brad Linden

MAY 14, 1952 –
MARCH 26, 2019

New Jersey native Brad Linden played first base for UConn, and the Orleans Cardinals in 1971. In 33 games, he had 92 AB, a .250 BA with 1 HR, 2 doubles, 11 RBI, and 14 runs scored. He returned in 1972 for an all-star season, earning league MVP honors by appearing in 39 games with 148 AB, 28 runs, 55 hits, .372 BA (2nd in the league), 10 HR (1st in the league), and 35 RBI; he hit .444 in the playoffs. After graduation, Brad played for the Kingston Eagles for a season before building a career in telecommunications, making his home in Roswell, Georgia. ○

2018 Bird Feeders

After every home game, the team is treated to a meal that has been prepared by various host families, committee members, local businesses and organizations, plus other friends. The program begun by Kathy Udall as "sandwich suppers" has expanded its gastronomical boundaries to include everything from pasta dinners to barbecues to sushi, and it really helps the players – whose appetites may exceed their food budgets. It's a big undertaking to feed a group of hungry ballplayers, coaches and bat kids. We thank those volunteers for their generous efforts.

Be MORE THAN A FAN, become a 'Birds benefactor

The Firebirds represent a win-win investment for everyone!

FLOCK TO ICONIC ELDREDGE PARK AND WATCH THE 'BIRDS PLAY BASEBALL

More than 40,000 fans attended Firebirds games last year. The Firebirds organization always appreciates your continued, enthusiastic support.

It costs us more than $300,000 a year to operate our team and to enhance 105-year-old Eldredge Park as one of the top collegiate summer baseball venues in America. The Firebirds receive 96% of the needed $300,000 from Annual Fan Club Memberships, our Homeplate Retail Shop, our Youth Baseball Clinics, our game advertisers and generous contributions by our fans at games. All funds are raised through the Orleans Athletic Association, a 501 (c) (3) non-profit organization, by a year-round volunteer staff. The generous outpouring of fan and community support has enabled the team to be financially stable.

The Firebirds receive indirect funding of about $11,000 from MLB thru the CCBL. Unlike most CCBL teams the Firebirds receive no revenue from concessions opting to have this operated by Nauset Schools.

As with all organizations, The Firebirds every year are faced with increased operating costs in almost every aspect of operations as well as always having the responsibility to maintain, replace, and improve every aspect of our operations. Our Fan Club, started in 2011 has become our major fund-raising vehicle and continues to grow in membership. We have reached out beyond Orleans to Eastham, Wellfleet, Truro and Provincetown residents, as well as to our many summer visitors to join our donor team and assist us so we can continue to provide this wholesome, family orientated activity. Attendance at a Firebirds game is the best Cape Cod summer entertainment bargain available and the team continues to be the highlight of many vacations as well as a major source of local pride. Thank you for your annual support of the Fan Club and don't forget to display your Fan Club sticker.

The Firebirds have had many benefactors throughout the years who become engaged as needs have arisen, like our lights, dugouts, and field improvements. We have several special projects that are in planning stages so if you would like to help us or find out more about these special projects, please reach out to members of our executive committee who are listed on page 4 of this yearbook to discuss our upcoming projects. We depend on your generous support for our survival. Please consider a financial donation to the team so this community treasure can continue to provide pleasure and entertainment for years to come.

We also deeply appreciate the many businesses that advertise in this yearbook and take out various sponsorships that support the team and its players. Those businesses understand how the Firebirds contribute vitally to our local economy and we encourage you to visit their establishments and utilize their services. ○
