

JULY 31

Braves teammates and USA Baseball alums Matt Olson and Travis d'Arnaud posted nearly identical stat lines in Atlanta's 6-2 win over Milwaukee, with both players hammering a pair of solo home runs. Olson's first multi-HR game of the season began in the fourth inning, as he cranked a 390-foot bomb to left center for Atlanta's first run of the game. d'Arnaud, who featured on the 2011 Professional Team, followed right after Olson with a 396-foot jack of his own into left that tied the game at 2-2. The pair would go back-to-back again in the eighth inning with the Braves leading 4-2; Olson, an alum of the 2010 16U National Team, led off with a 416-foot rocket into center. d'Arnaud again followed, nearly matching Olson's mark with a 412-foot blast into left center. The pair's final combined stat line in the win would be 4-for-7 with four homers, four RBIs, and four runs scored.

2018 Collegiate National Team alum Matt Wallner collected a pair of hits for the second time in his last three games and homered for the third time in his last five, helping the Twins cruise past the Mets 8-3 at Citi Field. Finishing 2-for-5, Wallner absolutely demolished his first hit 442 feet into center for a pair of RBIs, part of a five-run Minnesota third inning to take a 6-2 lead. He smacked a double into left for his second hit of the day in the fifth inning, later scoring on another double for the Twins' seventh run.

In his first game since being recalled to the majors, 2021 18U National Team alum Jackson Holliday mashed his first big league home run for a grand slam to help power the Orioles to a 10-4 win over the Blue Jays in Baltimore. With the bases loaded in the fifth inning and the Orioles leading 4-3, Holliday crushed his first hit back 439 feet into right to push Baltimore further ahead. He was aided in the win by 2019 Collegiate National Team alum Colton Cowser, who finished 2-for-5 with a pair of runs. Cowser cranked a solo home run 425 feet into right center in the second inning, helping Baltimore jump out to an early 3-0 lead. He collected his second hit on a single in the seventh inning, eventually rounding the bases to score the final run of the game.

JULY 30

2015 Collegiate National Alum Matt Thaiss drove in a career-best five runs to help the Angels overcome a four-run deficit and secure a 10-7 over the Rockies on Tuesday. Thaiss' first hit of the night came in the form of a two-RBI double in the bottom of the third inning. He followed it up with another two-RBI shot, this time a single to right field to put the Angels up 7-6 in the fourth frame. In his last at-bat, Thaiss delivered a single in the bottom of the eighth frame to notch his fifth RBI. He demonstrated his quickness as well by adding two stolen bases throughout the contest. Thaiss' performance was historic as he is now the first Angels catcher to drive in five runs while collecting two stolen bases in the same game. He also became the second catcher in major league history to achieve the feat since 1934.

Two-time USA Baseball alum Jarred Kelenic went yard in the Braves' 5-1 win over the Brewers on Tuesday, finishing 2-for-3 with a pair of runs scored. His first hit came in the third inning, a double slashed into right. Kelenic reached home for the first time that inning, part of a four-run frame for Atlanta. He added the fifth run of the game on a 369-foot rocket into left, his 12th home run of the season. Kelenic also reached the basepaths twice on walks, reaching a total of four times during the game.

JULY 29

Two-time USA Baseball alum Bobby Witt Jr. matched his season-high count of four hits on Monday night, going 4-for-5 at the plate to help the Royals down the White Sox 8-5. Leading MLB with a .347 batting average, Witt Jr. smacked a ground rule double in the third inning for his first hit of the night and would score the first Kansas City run on an error. He added singles in the fifth and seventh inning, though the Royals continued to lag behind the White Sox going into the eighth inning. There, down 5-4, Witt Jr. proved to be the hero for Kansas City as he unloaded for a grand slam on a ball that traveled 384 feet into left center. Witt Jr. has had an unbelievable month of July, batting .488 with an OBP of .505 and a 1.363 OPS.

2023 World Baseball Classic alum Pete Alonso was instrumental in the Mets' dominant 15-2 win over Minnesota on Monday at Citi Field. Alonso crossed the plate three times which was good for a game-high. The Tampa, Florida native cranked a solo homerun 409 feet to left field which would lock the score at one run each. His homer sparked a six-run inning in the bottom of the fourth frame for New York. In the six frame, Alonso nabbed a walk and would make his way around the base path to score his second run of the night while also putting the Mets up 10-1. His last hit came in the seventh with an RBI double in the seventh inning where he would later cross the plate for the third time in the contest. Alonso has notched a home run in back-to-back contests while also collecting a double in each of his last three contests. He now owns a .246 batting average and 100 hits in 2024.

JULY 28

Minnesota's Bailey Ober tallied a career-best 11 strikeouts to help the Twins collect a 5-0 shutout win over the Detroit Tigers on Sunday. Ober was immaculate through eight innings as he only yielded one hit on the night which came in the form of a single in the fourth inning. The 2014 College National Team alum only got stronger as the game went on, punching out the side in the eighth inning to wrap up his outing. Ober is now 3-0 with a 0.69 ERA in four starts against the Tigers this season. Ober has collected two wins in a row on the season while tossing at least seven frames in each contest.

For the third time in July, three-time USA Baseball alum Hunter Greene tossed seven scoreless innings before being relieved on the mound as the Reds narrowly lost to the Rays, 2-1. Greene held the Rays to just two hits, his second straight start to achieve that, and only let up a single walk as he struck out five batters. Over his last two games, Greene has allowed eight runners total over 14.0 shutout innings with 12 strikeouts. During the month of July, he pitched 27.0 innings and allowed nine hits, eight walks, and just a single run in four starts for a 0.33 ERA over that span.

2019 Professional Team alum Xavier Edwards made history on Monday as the second Marlin ever to hit for the cycle, though the feat wasn't enough as Miami lost 6-2 to the Brewers. Edwards actually finished the game having completed the cycle and drawn a walk, reaching the basepaths five different times. His day couldn't have started any better, with a lead-off solo homer in Edwards' first plate appearance that flew 374 feet into right. Walking in his second plate appearance, Edwards raked a double into left for his second hit and would lash a triple into center for his fourth plate appearance. That left only a single, which Edwards would hit in the ninth inning to complete the historic feat.

Kyle Schwarber smacked two home runs in the Phillies' 4-3 loss to the Guardians on Sunday at Citizens Bank Park. The two-time USA Baseball alum started his night off hot as he took advantage of a favorable 2-0 count and delivered a booming 398-foot homer in the leadoff spot to put the Phillies up by one run in the bottom of the first frame. Schwarber didn't take his foot off of the gas as he slapped a two-run shot over the right center wall to give his crew a 3-0 advantage. The former first rounder earned a walk in the seventh inning to round out his night at the plate. Schwarber now has two consecutive games under his belt with at least three RBIs. He has also homered in back-to-back contests.

Two-time USA Baseball alum Paul Goldschmidt crushed a walk-off home run to help the Cardinals overcome the Nationals in St. Louis, 4-3. Finishing 2-for-4, the veteran first baseman ripped a clutch 392-foot solo shot into left with the game tied 3-3 in the bottom of the ninth inning to electrify the home fans.

JULY 27

Two-time USA Baseball alum Kyle Schwarber finished 3-for-5 with a homer and three RBIs as the Phillies rolled to an 8-0 win over the Guardians, leading all players in hits and RBIs. Schwarber first struck in the fourth inning, mashing one of three Philadelphia long balls in the inning as he demolished a three-RBI blast 418 feet to center. As the Phillies cruised to an 8-0 lead behind homers from fellow USA Baseball alums Bryce Harper and Nick Castellanos, Schwarber added a double in the sixth inning before he slashed his second double of the game in the eighth inning.

Two-time USA Baseball alum Kevin Gausman pitched his second complete game of the season on Saturday, picking up his third straight win of the season as the Blue Jays took down the Rangers 7-3. Gausman tallied eight strikeouts, one more than the number of baserunners he allowed over the course of the game. While he allowed three runs in the first three innings, Gausman rallied to shut the Texas offense down over the final six, helping Toronto keep ahead.

2013 Collegiate National Team alum Matt Chapman led all players with three hits in the Giants' 4-1 win over the Rockies, finishing 3-for-4 with a solo home run and a pair of runs scored for San Francisco. Chapman put the first run of the game on the board in the bottom of the second inning, crushing a 390-foot blast into the left field stands. He would score again in the bottom of the eighth, raking a double into center to put himself in scoring position before reach home thanks to an error and a wild pitch.

2017 Collegiate National Team alum Jake McCarthy was a perfect 5-for-5 in the Diamondbacks' 9-5 win over the Pirates on Saturday, a new career high. First reaching base on an infield single in the first inning, McCarthy added another in the third inning before slashing a single into left in the fifth for his third hit of the night. He would also score his lone run in the fifth inning as well, reaching home on a sac fly. McCarthy notched his first RBI of the day in the sixth inning, raking a single through right to score Arizona's ninth and final run. He completed his personal mark in the eighth inning, this time sending a single into center for his fifth hit.

JULY 26

2019 18U alum Kyle Harrison posted a career and season-high 11 strikeouts to stymie the Rockies and help the Giants earn an 11-4 win, nearly tossing a hitless 6.2 innings. Allowing just a single hit and a run on a sac fly, Harrison struck out six of the final nine batters he faced and allowed San Francisco's offense to go to work. He retired the side on swings in the fifth inning, the highlight of a dominant outing and the first time with double-digit punchouts for Harrison this season.

For the second straight game, 2023 World Baseball Classic alum Brady Singer hurled seven scoreless innings before his relief as the Royals blanked the Cubs 6-0. Singer finished with five strikeouts to just four batters allowed on the basepaths, picking up his seventh win of the season. He's now allowed one or fewer earned run in six of his last seven starts, and sports a 2.82 ERA on the season.

2014 15U Alum Mark Vientos finished 2-for-3 with a homer and three RBIs in the Mets' 8-4 win over the Braves on Friday, his second long ball in three days. Vientos' homer was one of three smacked by New York in the third inning, a 378-foot blast into left center for two RBIs. He picked up his third RBI in the fourth inning, drawing a walk with the bases loaded to score New York's eighth and final run.

Two-time alums Masyn Winn and Paul Goldschmidt both went 2-for-5 with a homer as the Cardinals fell 10-8 to the Nationals in extra innings. Winn, who finished with three RBIs, cranked a two-run shot for St. Louis' first two runs of the game in the third inning that traveled 417 feet into center. Another two-time USA Baseball alum, Nolan Arenado, followed up with a three-run blast that went 352 feet into left for a 5-2 Cardinals lead. Winn raked an RBI single into left in the fourth inning for his second hit, putting St. Louis ahead by four early. Goldschmidt's homer came in the bottom of the 10th inning as his side trailed 10-6, a 376-foot blast into left center for a pair of runs scored. In total, the three alums combined to go 5-for-14 with three homers and eight RBIs, though it wouldn't be enough to power a St. Louis victory.

JULY 25

2005 Collegiate National Team alumni Max Scherzer commanded six strong innings for the Texas Rangers in their bout with the Chicago White Sox on Thursday. Scherzer picked up a win in his squad's close 2-1 win in Texas thanks to the ace's nine strikeouts. After allowing just three hits, one run, and one walk, Scherzer picked up just his second win of the season, moving his 2024 record to 2-3. After stymieing the White Sox, the long-time Mets ace passed the game off to the bullpen with a slim lead as the Rangers eventually emerged with a win. Scherzer's nine-punchout night also moved him past Justin Verlander and into the MLB's top-10 in career strikeouts.

2019 Collegiate National Team alum Colton Cowser helped Baltimore snap out of a three-game slump in Miami on Thursday, going deep and finishing with three RBIs and a pair of runs scored as the Orioles downed the Marlins 7-6 in extra innings. Drawing a walk in the second inning, Cowser scored his first run of the game after rounding the bases thanks to a pair of singles. His homer came in the following inning, a 406-foot bomb sent into center for three RBIs and a 5-0 Baltimore lead.

JULY 24

2010 16U alum Corey Seager swatted a season-high four hits as the Rangers downed the White Sox 10-2, improving to 12-4 over the team's last 16 outings. Finishing 4-for-5, Seager led the way offensively by scoring three runs and electrifying the home crowd with a 374-foot solo blast in the bottom of the first inning for the game's first run. With Texas trailing 2-1 in the fifth inning, Seager raked a double into right and scored the tying run on another double, one of two to come across home plate in the frame. He added a pair of singles to his line the rest of the way, rounding the bases for the final time in the eighth inning as part of a six-run Texas outburst to put the game away.

2023 World Baseball Classic alum Kyle Higashioka notched three hits at the plate for the third time this season, finishing 3-for-5 with a homer and three RBIs in the Padres' 12-3 win over the Nationals on Wednesday. Higashioka's first hit of the day came with the Padres holding a 4-3 lead in the top of the third inning, a double ripped into left to score a fifth run and advance a future one into position on third. His second hit was a two-RBI blast over the left field wall, a 386-footer that put San Diego up 11-3, and a single capped off Higashioka's night at the plate in the eighth inning.

San Francisco's Matt Chapman slapped a home run and went 2-for-3 at the plate to help the Giants down the Dodgers 8-3 on Wednesday at Dodger Stadium. Chapman, a 2013 Collegiate National Team alum, made an instant impact on the offensive side of the plate by smashing a solo home run that traveled 417 feet. With the game sitting at 2-1 in the eighth inning in favor of San Francisco, the Giants went on a six-run rally. Chapman started the affair as he reached the base path via a walk. He would later score to give his squad a 3-1 advantage. Later, in the same inning, Chapman stepped up to the dish and delivered an RBI single to center field to cap the score at 8-1. The former first rounder also added a walk in the first but was left stranded. The third baseman has scored a run in five of his last six games while also nabbing at least one walk in each game besides one in that span.

JULY 23

Three-time USA Baseball Paul Skenes was just two outs shy of a complete game as he and the Pirates fell, 2-1, to the Cardinals on Tuesday. Although Skenes suffered the first loss of his MLB career, the pitcher looked great on the bump. He registered a whopping eight strikeouts throughout 8.1 innings while only giving up four hits. The former first overall pick has been great all season and especially in his last five games as he has recorded at least eight strikeouts in each. On the season, Skenes now owns an impressive 1.93 ERA.

Skenes wasn't the only pitcher to prove his dominance on the bump as Twins' Simeon Woods Richardson put on a show against the Phillies. The two-time USA Baseball alum tossed six innings and recorded five punchouts throughout his shift. The former second rounder only gave up three hits and one walk, keeping the Phillies off of the board throughout his outing. In his last five appearances, Woods Richardson has tallied 24 strikeouts.

2023 World Baseball Classic alum Jeff Mcneil was instrumental at the plate in the Mets' 3-2 win over the Yankees on Tuesday at Yankee Stadium. Mcneil began his night by reaching first base on an infield single to third base. He would make his way around the bases and even the score at one run each thanks to a bases-loaded hit by pitch. Mcneil followed up the single with a two-run homer to center field in the top of the sixth inning which would put the Mets up 3-1. He added a walk in the eight frame to cap off his night. McNeil has been on a tear since the All-Star break as he has hit four home runs in five games while also boasting a .400 batting average in that span.

JULY 22

Back-to-back Collegiate National Team alumni and New York Yankees ace Carlos Rodon fired seven strong innings for the Bronx Bombers in their AL East clash with the Tampa Bay Rays. Rodon hurled a whopping 10 punchouts, a season-high for the 2012 and 2013 Collegiate National Team veteran. Rodon only allowed two hits, one run, and two walks on the way to his tenth win of the season. While he gave up a solo shot home run, the Yankees claimed a dominant 9-1 victory to open their series against the Rays.

Another former USA Baseball pitcher led his team to a victory on Monday. 2014 15U National Team alumni Hunter Greene threw seven frames of no-run baseball against the Atlanta Braves for Cincinnati. Greene punched out seven Braves in his start in Atlanta and only allowed two hits and three walks to nab his seventh win of his 2024 campaign. The Reds helped their ace out on offense and eventually emerged with a 4-1 win over the Braves.

Hunter Greene wasn't the only USA Baseball alumni to help Cincinnati's claim victory in Atlanta on Monday. Left fielder Will Benson played a critical role in the win by most notably smashing a third-inning solo home run to extend his team's lead to 2-0. By the end of the day the 2015 18U National Team alumni went 2-for-2 with a walk and using his wheels to steal not one, but two bases in his squad's 4-1 win.

After their 10-4 win over Arizona, Bobby Witt Jr. and his Kansas City Royals are 4-0 since the All-Star break, and it doesn't look like he, or his team, is stopping anytime soon. In fact, Witt nearly hit for the cycle in Monday's match against the Diamondbacks, and he nearly did it in just six innings. After tripling in the first, doubling in the third, and smashing a home run in the fourth, the 2018 18U National Team and 2023 World Baseball Classic alumni was just a single short of the heroic accomplishment. However, after getting hit by a pitch and out on a fly ball in his next two at-bats, the Kansas City slugger just missed out on the cycle in his team's big win over Arizona.

JULY 21

2010 Collegiate National Team alum George Springer went yard twice in a game for the second time this season to power the Blue Jays to a 5-4 win over the Tigers in Toronto, finishing 3-for-4 at the plate with three RBIs. Springer put the opening run on the board in his first at-bat, smashing a 404-foot solo shot into center during the bottom of the first inning. His power surge carried over to his second appearance at the plate, as Springer smacked a 392-foot, two-run blast once again into center for a 3-0 Toronto lead. Finding his side down 4-3 in the bottom of the fifth, Springer was again up to the task as he slashed a double into left and scored the tying run thanks to an RBI single in the next at-bat.

2015 15U National Team alum Justyn-Henry Malloy was the player who had given Detroit its 4-3 lead before Springer tied the game, demolishing a grand-slam in the top of the fifth inning. Down 3-0, Malloy crushed his sixth homer of the season 404 feet into center to hand the Tigers a brief 4-3 advantage.

2021 Collegiate National Team alum Drew Thorpe tossed six scoreless innings for the White Sox in a 4-1 loss to the Royals on Sunday, exiting with Chicago leading 1-0. While the White Sox were unable to hold onto the lead following Thorpe's exit, he was a bright spot in the loss with five strikeouts to three hits allowed. Thorpe is currently 3-1 this season in seven starts, having held opposing batters to three or fewer hits and two or fewer earned runs in six of those games.

JULY 20

2023 World Baseball Classic alum Brady Singer improved to 6-6 on the season, going seven innings on the mound to collect the win as the Royals topped the White Sox in Kansas City, 6-1. Singer recorded seven strikeouts during his shift, the second time in his last three outings that he's fanned seven hitters in a seven-inning start. Against Chicago, Singer limited the White Sox to just seven runners on the basepaths and kept them scoreless before his relief, allowing his offense to go to work.

Brent Rooker smacked his 22nd home run of the season to help push Oakland over the Angels in a dominant 8-2 win on Saturday at the Oakland Coliseum. Rooker's first at-bat consisted of the three-run shot that traveled 445 feet to left field, putting his squad up 3-0 early. The 2019 Professional Team alum added a single in the bottom of the fourth inning where he would later cross the plate for the second time of the night. In the seventh inning, Rooker was intentionally walked, marking the third time he would make his way to the base path. In his last three games, Rooker has recorded eight RBIs. The former first rounder has also tallied 10 hits in his last five outings.

2019 Collegiate National Team alum Alec Burleson went 3-for-4 with three RBIs in the Cardinals' 9-5 win over the Braves in the second game of a doubleheader on Saturday, his third game over the last nine where he collected three RBIs. Burleson notched his first hit and RBI of the evening on a sac fly in the top of the first inning, then raked an RBI single through right in the following inning as St. Louis built a 4-1 lead early. Burleson's final hit came at a big time in the top of the ninth inning, with Atlanta having cut the lead to just one run going into the final six outs. Driving another single into right, Burleson added another run to the Cardinals' lead to help his squad pull away for the win.

JULY 19

2023 World Baseball Classic alum Jeff McNeil went deep twice in a game for the first time this season, but was unable to prevent the Mets from dropping a 6-4 contest to the Marlins in Miami. Finishing 3-for-4 with four RBIs and three runs scored, McNeil cranked a solo home run 401 feet into center for his first hit of the day in the top of the fifth inning, trying to lead the Mets back from a 4-0 deficit. McNeil cranked his second homer in the following inning, this time putting two runs on the board to cut the lead to 5-4 after launching a 385 foot blast to right center. McNeil's final hit came in the eighth inning, as he reached on an infield single. He would reach scoring position on third base as New York still trailed 5-4, but was left stranded and unable to make it home for the tying run.

Opposite of McNeil, Jake Burger cranked a homer and collected two RBIs to push the Marlins over the Mets, 6-4, on Friday. With the Marlins up 2-0 in the bottom of the third frame, Burger slashed an RBI double and rounded the bases in the next at-bat to extend the lead to four runs. The 2016 Collegiate National Team alum tacked on another run with a solo shot over the center field wall which is good for his eleventh on the season. In his last four games, Burger has been on a hot streak at the plate by registering eight hits and six RBIs in that span. The former first rounder has also scored five runs in his last three games.

Kansas City teammates Michael Wacha and Bobby Witt Jr. helped lead the Royals to a 7-1 win over the White Sox on Friday, with Wacha showing out on the mound and Witt Jr. posting a perfect line at the plate. Wacha, a 2011 Collegiate National Team alum, picked up his seventh win of the season after going seven scoreless innings, striking out seven Chicago batters and letting just five reach the basepaths. Meanwhile, Witt Jr. finished 3-for-3 with a homer and two RBIs, scoring twice as well in the win. The two-time USA Baseball alum put the opening run on the board with a 399-foot solo blast

Brent Rooker and his perfect day at the plate helped the Athletics cruise to an 18-3 victory over the Phillies on Sunday. With Oakland down 1-0 in the top of the fourth inning, Rooker crushed a two-run homer that traveled 450 feet to allow Oakland to take a 2-1 lead. The 2019 Professional Team alum continued his dominance at the dish with another two-run shot to center field which would move the score to 6-1. Rooker, a Germantown, Tennessee product, slapped a sacrifice fly in the top of the seventh frame, registering the Athletics a seven-run lead. He also added a walk to his line in the contest. Rooker finished the game going 2-for-2 with two homers, five RBIs, and two runs scored.

2011 Professional Team alum Travis d'Arnaud cranked two home runs and drove in four runs to elevate the Braves over the Padres in a 6-3 win. D'Arnaud earned his way to the base path via a walk and would steal second in the top of the fifth inning. He took advantage of the opportunity and crossed the plate to move the score to 2-1 in favor of Atlanta. The former first rounder got his bat started in the sixth frame where he delivered a booming three-run shot to center field to garner the Braves a four-run advantage. In the eighth frame, d'Arnaud tacked on another run courtesy of a solo homer to put the finishing touches on the game and let Atlanta walk away with a 6-3 win. In his last four games, d'Arnaud has registered seven RBIs while recording multiple-hit games in two of the contests in that span.

Four-time USA Baseball alum Pete Crow-Armstrong had one of his best days of the season at the dish as he crushed two homers to lift the Cubs over the Cardinals 8-3. With his team down 2-0 in the top of the third inning, Crow-Armstrong started off hot and delivered a solo home run to cut the Cardinals lead to just one run. Crow-Armstrong continued his strong story with a second home run which would register the Cubs a 4-2 lead. The former first round pick found his way to first base on a walk in the seventh inning and demonstrated his elusiveness on the base path by collecting his 17th stolen base of the season. Crow-Armstrong's performance was historic as he became the first player in Cubs history to slap two home runs in the No. 9 spot since 2019.

Yankees' Trent Grisham crushed a home run and had a perfect 3-for-3 day at the plate in New York's 6-5 loss to the Orioles on Sunday at Oriole Park. Grisham, an alum of the 2014 18U National Team, made his mark on the game early with an RBI single in the top of the second to put the first run of the game on the board. The Orioles took a 2-1 lead after the fourth frame, but Grisham answered with a solo shot to right field to even the score at two runs each. The Bureson, Texas native earned a walk in the top of the ninth and was driven home which notched his second run scored of the game. He also added a single in the sixth inning.

Bryan Reynolds and the Pittsburgh Pirates won their fourth straight game, topping the Chicago White Sox, 9-4, at Guaranteed Rate Field on Sunday. With the Pirates down one run early, Reynolds found his way to the bases after being hit by a pitch. He took advantage of the free pass and scored to even the score at one run each. The 2014 Collegiate National Team alum notched another free pass with a walk in the seventh frame and made his way home to move the score to 6-3 in favor of the Pirates. The outfielder put the game out of reach with a solo home run in the eighth inning to give the Pirates a five-run advantage. He also added a single in the fifth frame. In 2024, Reynolds owns a .284 batting average with 18 home runs.

JULY 13

2018 18U National Team alum Corbin Carroll registered a game-high six RBIs, helping the Diamondbacks roll past the Blue Jays, 12-1, on Saturday at Chase Field. The Seattle, Washington native increased Arizona's one-run lead with a sacrifice fly in the bottom of the second inning to register his first RBI of the day. Carroll, last year's NL rookie of the year, added a walk in the fourth frame where he would later find home to move the score to 5-1. In his next at-bat, Carroll demonstrated his power with a three-run shot over the left field wall to notch Arizona a seven-run lead going into the eighth frame. He wasn't done at the plate just yet as he smacked a two-run homer in the next inning to push the game out of reach at 12-1.

Miami's Jake Burger had himself a stellar night at the dish, notching a game-best four hits and four RBIs in the Marlins 10-6 loss to Cincinnati on Saturday. With the Marlins down 1-0 in the top of the third frame, Burger took matters into his own hands and gained the lead with his two-run bomb to left field. The Reds regained a one-run lead in the next inning, but Burger had an answer as he delivered a two-RBI single to take a 5-4 lead. In his next at-bat, the former first rounder found his way to the base path with a single to right field and would later make his way across the plate to move the score to 7-6 in favor of the Reds. Burger would add a single in the top of the eighth but ultimately be left stranded. Despite the loss, Burger has been a bright spot for the Marlins at the plate. His four hits and four RBIs on the night pushed him to 63 hits and 35 RBIs in the 2024 season.

2019 Collegiate National Team alum Alec Bureson had himself a 3-for-4 day at the plate in the Cardinals' 11-3 win over the Cubs at Busch Stadium, going long early. Bureson smacked a single into left to begin his day, scoring the second St. Louis run of the day on a throwing error. As the Cardinals piled up runs in the first inning, Bureson stepped up for the second time now up 6-1 and delivered a three-RBI blast over the left field wall, capping off a nine-run explosion in just a half-inning for St. Louis. He'd later add his third hit in the bottom of the third inning, a double slashed into right.

The Phillies rolled to an 11-5 win over the Athletics behind the combined efforts of USA Baseball alumni Bryce Harper, Trea Turner, and Nick Castellanos as all three players went long on Saturday. Castellanos was the first to do so, crushing a 423-foot shot over the center field wall to give Philadelphia its first two runs of the day in the second inning. It was Turner's time in the fourth inning, as the three-time alum decked his own two-run blast to left center for a 6-2 Phillies' lead. After Oakland had reduced the lead to a pair of runs heading into the bottom of the seventh, Harper over for Philadelphia and plated three runs in quick succession. The two-time alum first cranked a solo home run 378 feet in the seventh inning, then raked a two-RBI double into left during the following frame. Castellanos followed suit as he delivered two more Philadelphia runs on his own double through left, bringing the lead to 11-4 in the bottom of the eighth. All three players combined for six hits, nine RBIs, and five runs in the win.

On the opposite side of the Phillies' offense explosion, 2019 Professional alum Brent Rooker had a solid day for the Athletics as he finished 3-for-5 with a solo home run and a pair of runs scored. Rooker began his day with a double sent into left to leadoff the second inning, later scoring the opening run as he arrived home on another double. He added his second hit of the day on an infield single to begin the fourth inning, and then crushed a 416-foot missile into center during the seventh inning to try and spark an Oakland comeback.

JULY 12

Mark Vientos and the New York Mets narrowly edged the Rockies, 7-6, to tally their fourth straight win on Friday. With the Mets down two runs early, Vientos provided a spark at the plate by cranking a solo shot over the center field wall to cut the deficit to one run. The 2014 15U National Team alum pushed another run home with a double to left field, moving the score to 4-2 in favor of the Mets. Vientos added a walk in the seventh inning as well. In his last three games, Vientos has registered three doubles while tallying four RBIs.

2011 18U National Team alum Jesse Winker registered his 11th home run of the season in the Washington Nationals 5-2 over the Brewers. The Buffalo, New York product cracked an RBI double in the top of the first frame to notch the first run of the contest to put his crew up 1-0. The Nationals rolled its way to a 3-2 headed into the fifth inning but Winker wasn't satisfied as he tacked on another run with a 403-foot homer to push the lead to two runs. Winker finished his night going 2-for-4 at the dish with a homer, two RBIs and a run scored. The former first rounder owns a .264 batting average with 43 RBIs in the current season.

2010 16U National Team alum Corey Seager's fine run of form continued as the Rangers fell on Friday to the Astros, 6-3. Seager finished 2-for-4 with a homer and three RBIs, his fifth game over the last eight with a pair of hits and his third long ball in that span. His first hit on Friday was a two-RBI blast to put the Rangers on the board for the first time, a 344-foot rocket into left to pull Texas to within a run, 3-2. Seager's second hit came in the seventh inning, as he raked an RBI single into right for the Rangers' third and final run of the night.

Teammates Bobby Witt Jr. and MJ Melendez posted nearly identical statlines in the Royals' 6-1 win over the Red Sox on Friday night, as the two USA Baseball alums went 2-for-4 with solo home runs. Melendez, an alum of the 2016 18U National Team, would score Kansas City's second run of the game in the second inning after initially reaching the bases on an error. Witt Jr., a two-time USA Baseball alum, put his name on the scoresheet with the Royals leading 4-1 in the fourth inning, mashing a 429-foot moonshot into center for his second hit of the night. Melendez sent his homer into the stands in the eighth inning for the final run of the night, a 392-footer into right center.

Detroit's Justyn-Henry Malloy smacked his first career triple in the Tigers 4-3 loss to the Dodgers on Friday at Comerica Park. Malloy reached base quickly as he slashed a single to left field in the bottom of the first inning and would later score to put Detroit up by two runs. Malloy, a 2015 15U National Team alum, followed up the single with an RBI triple which would tack on another run for the Tigers. He also added a walk in the top of the fourth to round out his day.

JULY 11

Three-time USA Baseball alum Paul Skenes continued his incredible rookie season on Thursday with seven innings of near-perfect pitching in the Pirates' 1-0 win over the Brewers in Milwaukee. Tying his season-high with 11 strikeouts, Skenes was untouchable during his shift on the mound as he carried a no-hitter all the way until his relief following the seventh inning. He was nearly perfect, with a lone walk being his only blemish of the day as Skenes picked up his sixth victory of the season. Through 11 starts in his rookie campaign, Skenes sports a 6-0 record with a 1.90 ERA and 89 strikeouts.

2009 14U National Team alum J.P. Crawford slashed a season-high three hits in the Mariners' 11-0 rout of the Angels in Anaheim as Seattle won its third straight game. Crawford did everything offensively, finishing 3-for-4 at the plate with a homer, three RBIs, and three runs scored. Crawford began the game by leading off with a ground rule double, proceeding to score on a single for the game's opening run. He clubbed a 384-foot blast into right during the fourth inning, scoring a pair of runs as the Mariners took a 7-0 lead. Crawford did the rest of his damage in the sixth inning, first raking an RBI single into left that scored Seattle's eighth run before rounding the basepaths on another Mariners' home run as the team went up 11-0.

Three-time USA Baseball alum Hunter Greene threw a season-high 10 strikeouts as the Reds cruised past the Rockies in Cincinnati, 8-1. Greene threw six innings during his sixth win of the season, holding Colorado's lineup to just two hits and a single run during his shift for his third straight outing of one or fewer runs allowed. He opened the game in dominant fashion, striking out all six of the first Colorado batters to begin the game and holding the Rockies scoreless until Cincinnati had built a 4-0 advantage.

Joining Skenes and Greene as another three-time USA Baseball alum to enjoy success on the mound Thursday was Tanner Houck, who picked up his eighth win of the season as the Red Sox rolled to a 7-0 victory over the Athletics. Houck was excellent over six shutout innings, fanning six Oakland batters while surrendering only two hits. Exiting with Boston up 7-0, Houck recorded five of his punchouts over the course of the second through fifth innings. Having made 19 starts so far this season, Houck sports an impressive 2.54 ERA.

JULY 10

Three-time USA Baseball alum Patrick Bailey had a day at the plate in the Giants' 10-6 loss to the Blue Jays, finishing 2-for-2 with a solo home run, three runs scored, and three walks. The first of Bailey's free passes came in the bottom of the first inning, and he would be able to round the bases and score his first run thanks to a single. Bailey walked again in his second plate-appearance, swatted an infield single in his third, and then drew his third and final walk in the sixth inning. Bailey homered with San Francisco trailing 10-4 in the ninth inning, a 406-foot blast into the center field stands. While he and teammate Matt Chapman, a 2013 Collegiate National Team alum, went deep in the ninth inning, the Giants' comeback fell short.

Mickey Moniak and the Los Angeles Angels went on a four-run rally in the fourth frame to cruise to a 7-2 victory over the Rangers on Wednesday at Angel Stadium. Moniak, a two-time USA Baseball alum, opened his night with a three-run homer in the bottom of the second inning which would put the Angels up 4-0. The Encinitas, California product added a single to center field in the eighth inning but would ultimately be left stranded on base. Moniak has now registered five RBIs in his last three games.

JULY 9

Three-time USA Baseball alum Trea Turner went nuclear at the plate, cranking a grand slam in the Phillies' 10-1 win over the Dodgers on Tuesday at Citizens Bank Park. The Boynton Beach, Florida product started hot at the plate with solid contact on singles in both the first and third inning. His most impactful play came in the fourth inning. With the Phillies up by four runs, Turner slammed a ball 356 feet to register his sixth grand slam of his career. In his last four games, Turner now has nine RBIs while also tallying three homeruns in that span.

18U National Team alum Will Benson went 2-for-4 in the Reds' 12-6 win over the Rockies on Tuesday, finishing with three RBIs and scoring a pair of runs. Benson's day began with a 383-foot home run in the bottom of the second inning, a three-RBI blast to put Cincinnati up 5-0 early. With the Reds holding a 7-4 lead in the seventh inning, Benson raked a double into right that would turn into another run for the Reds on a throwing error. Benson himself would score on another Cincinnati homer, with the advantage now 11-4.

JULY 8

2019 Collegiate National Team alum Andrew Abbott picked up the win on the bump, tossing seven scoreless innings while only giving up three hits to secure the Reds a 6-0 win over the Rockies. The Lynchburg, Virginia native mowed down the Rockies' offense, punching out eight batters throughout his time on the mound. The win marks Abbott's ninth victory of the season which is tied for eighth best in the MLB. Abbott now owns a 3.06 ERA and has tallied 25 strikeouts in his last five appearances.

Corey Seager and Wyatt Langford posted identical statlines in the Rangers' 9-4 win over the Angels on Monday, the fourth straight win for Texas. Langford and Seager both finished 2-for-5 at the plate, smacked home runs, and finished with a pair of hits and RBIs on the night. Seager, an alum of the 2010 16U National Team, opened the game with a bang thanks to a monster 457-foot home run in the top of the first that put the Rangers up 2-0. Langford grabbed his first hit in the fourth inning as the Rangers now trailed 3-2, raking a double into left before reaching third and scoring the tying run on a balk. Seager would be at the double in the seventh inning after Texas raced out to a 7-3 lead, scoring as Langford capped off the win by crushing a homer 409 feet into left for the final two runs scored by the Rangers.

The Twins' duo of Matt Wallner and Brooks Lee combined for four RBIs to propel Minnesota over the White Sox 8-6 in an extra-inning affair on Monday at Guaranteed Rate Field. Lee, a 2021 Collegiate National Team alum, began the scoring rally when he delivered an RBI single in the top of the seventh to cut the White Sox lead to just two runs. Wallner quickly followed suit, driving himself and Lee home with a two-run shot which would tie the game at five runs each. With both teams locked at six runs in the ninth, the game would find itself going into an extra inning. As both teams battled, the contest went into an eleventh inning. Lee stepped up to the plate and played hero, slapping an RBI single to put his team up and ultimately secure the win. Lee now has registered a hit in each of his first six games in the big leagues.

Alec Burleson and Paul Goldschmidt were another pair of alumni that helped power their team to victory on Monday, leading the Cardinals to a 6-0 win over the Nationals by combining for two homers, four RBIs, and three runs. Goldschmidt blasted a solo shot 415 feet into left center in the fourth inning as St. Louis went up 2-0, and the two-time USA Baseball alum added a single in the sixth for his second hit on the day. It was Burleson's time to go long in the eighth inning, with the 2019 Collegiate National Team alum cranking a 406-footer into right center for a 3-0 lead. Goldschmidt reached on an error in the same frame, the Cardinals' fourth run on a double. Burleson completed the win in the ninth inning, raking a single through right for a pair of RBIs.

JULY 7

2017 World Baseball Classic alum Christian Yelich fueled the Brewers' offense with a two-run homer, helping push Milwaukee past the Dodgers 9-2. After a scoreless three innings, Yelich broke the seal with his booming home run shot over the center field wall to put his squad up by two runs. The Thousand Oaks, California native tabbed another hit in the eighth frame with an infield single and made his way around the base path to push the score to 7-2. Yelich rounded out his night with an RBI double where he would later find home for a third time. The former first rounder finished his night going 3-for-4 with a home run with three RBIs while adding a walk as well. Yelich now owns a .329 batting average on the season while reaching over 80 hits on the season.

Two-time USA Baseball alum Bobby Witt Jr. marked his seventh straight game with a hit by going deep against the Rockies, finishing 3-for-5 in the Royals' 10-1 rout of the Rockies on Sunday. It was the third game in the last seven where Witt Jr. had tallied at least three hits, beginning with an infield single during the top of the third inning. He added another single in the eighth inning and would score as Royals took a 7-1 lead in the inning. Capping off the win, Witt Jr. crushed a three-RBI blast in the final inning that went 386 feet into left field to put Kansas City at 10 runs.

The Rangers' duo of Corey Seager and Wyatt Langford combined for six hits and four RBIs in Texas' dominant 13-2 win over the Tampa Bay Rays on Sunday at Globe Life Field. Seager and Langford provided a one-two-punch to register the Rangers first run, seeing Langford drive in Seager in the bottom of the first inning. In the fourth frame, Langford singled to left field and crossed the plate in the next two at-bats. Seager followed him up with a three-run shot over the right field wall to finalize a six-run inning. Langford, a 2022 Collegiate National Team alum, scored again after reaching first base on an infield single. Seager, a 2010 16U National Team alum, tallied home run number 16 in the contest while Langford registered his 37th RBI.

JULY 6

2010 Collegiate National Team alum Tyler Anderson put together his most complete performance of the season on Saturday, going eight innings on the mound for the second time this season in the Angels' 7-0 win over the Cubs. Anderson was stellar on his way to being awarded the win, posting a season and career-high 10 strikeouts as he showcased terrific command on the mound. Fanning two or more Chicago hitters in three of his innings, including an opening frame where he retired three on swings, Anderson limited the Cubs to just three hits as the Los Angeles offense went to work.

Three-time USA Baseball alum Hunter Greene hurled seven innings for the fourth time this season, doing everything he could on the mound as the Reds ultimately fell to the Tigers by a score of 5-3. Greene posted seven punchouts and held Detroit to three hits, exiting his shift with Cincinnati leading 2-0 going into the eighth inning. Greene's outing marked the first time since May where he's gone seven frames, with Saturday's highlight coming in the third inning as Greene went three up, three down by catching all three Detroit batters on whiffs.

The Athletics' duo of Brent Rooker and Shea Langeliers combined for seven RBIs to help Oakland roll to a 19-8 victory over the Orioles on Saturday at the Oakland Coliseum. Rooker, a 2019 Professional Team alum, started his day at the plate early, cranking a three-run homer which put the A's up by three runs. Rooker continued his efficient batting with a single in the second inning and would later be pushed home by Langeliers and his two-RBI single, moving the score to 6-0. The duo continued their strategic attack in the third with Rooker slapping another single and Langeliers cranking a 413 foot homer which would take the score to 12-0 in favor of Oakland. With the game out of reach, Rooker drove another run in on a sacrifice fly to register his fourth RBI in the contest. Rooker finished 3-for-4 at the dish with a homer, four RBIs and three runs scored of his own. Langeliers, a 2018 Collegiate National Team alum, added a home run, three RBIs while crossing the plate two times himself.

JULY 5

A trio of USA Baseball alums helped the Pirates cruise to a 14-2 over the Mets in Pittsburgh, both at the plate and on the mound. Bryan Reynolds led the way with a monster effort offensively, with the 2014 Collegiate National Team alum demolishing a pair of homers as part of a 4-for-5 outing. With the score sitting at 2-2 in the fifth inning, Reynolds cranked a two-run home run 399 feet into right center to give Pittsburgh its first lead of the day. He was back at it again in his next at-bat in the seventh inning, this time demolishing a 413-footer for a grand slam after the Pirates had loaded the bases. Reynolds would also single twice, now hitting .339 over his last 30 games. 2009 Collegiate National Team alum Yasmani Grandal also went long for the Pirates, playing a big role late as he doubled to get aboard before Reynolds' grand slam and added a 413-foot solo shot in the eighth as Pittsburgh pulled away for good.

Meanwhile, three-time USA Baseball alum Paul Skenes racked up eight strikeouts as he moved to 5-0 on the mound in his rookie season, becoming the first player in MLB history to retire seven or more batters in nine of his first 10 career starts. Going seven innings for the Pirates, Skenes held the Mets to a pair of runs on four hits and got better as the game went on, recording five of his eight punchouts in his last three innings of work as the Pittsburgh offense got hot.

Dodgers' catcher Will Smith went nuclear with his perfect 3-for-3 performance at the dish, propelling the Dodgers over the Brewers 8-5. Not only was Smith perfect, each of his three hits were solo-shot home runs. His most timely homer however occurred in the bottom of the seventh. With the Dodgers down one, Smith crushed a bomb to left field to even the score which would allow Los Angeles to run away with the game. The Louisville, Kentucky native now owns 14 homers on the season with 53 RBIs.

Three-time USA Baseball alum Trea Turner hit two bombs in the Phillies' 8-6 victory over Atlanta. With the Phillies up only 1-0 after three innings, Turner provided some cushion with his two-run homer that traveled a whopping 425 feet. He wasn't done putting up runs just yet as he delivered another two-run shot shortly after in the sixth frame to put the Phillies up 5-2. Turner has been on a mean streak lately as he owns four multi-hit contests in his last five games while tallying four home runs and 10 RBIs in that span.

The Tigers' Riley Greene cranked a homer and finished a triple shy of hitting for the cycle in Detroit's 5-4 win over the Reds. The former first round pick began his night at the dish with a double in the top of the first and followed it with a single to right field in the third frame. In the top of the seventh, Greene tacked on a run with his solo homer to right field, pushing the score to 5-2 in favor of the Tigers. He added a walk to his statline in the fifth as well. The Orlando, Florida native finished his day going 3-for-4 with a home run, which is good for a team-best 17 homers on the year.

Five-time USA Baseball alum Alex Bregman slapped a three-run homer to help the Astros hold off the Twins, 13-12, on Friday at Target Field. Bregman started his night reaching base via two walks in both the fifth and sixth inning respectively. His bat began to get hot in the eighth frame as he hit an infield single, allowing him to reach base for the third time on the night. With the Astros up 10-5 in the top of the ninth inning, Bregman delivered a three-run shot over the left field wall to put his squad up by eight runs and push the game out of reach. In his 2024 campaign, Bregman now owns 10 home runs while adding 40 RBIs to his resume along the way.

JULY 4

Bobby Witt Jr. went 3-for-4 with a solo home run in the Kansas City Royals' 10-8 loss to Tampa Bay on Thursday at Kauffman Stadium. With the Royals down 5-1 in the bottom of the third, Witt slapped a sacrifice fly to right field which would push a run across the plate and cut the deficit to three runs. Witt, a two-time USA Baseball alum, kept his strong performance at the dish alive with a home run to left field in the bottom of the ninth. Witt added a double in the fifth frame and a single in the sixth but would ultimately be left stranded. The Colleyville, Texas native now has 14 homers on the season and a .319 batting average which is good for second in league standings.

Matt Chapman went yard for the third time in his last six games on Thursday as the Giants picked up a 4-2 win over the Braves in Atlanta, putting the winning run on the board and adding another for insurance to help San Francisco seal the result. Chapman's homer in the fourth inning, a 413 foot blast into center, was the third run of the inning for San Francisco after the Giants had entered down 2-0. The 2013 Collegiate National Team alum added another run in the sixth inning, raking an RBI double into right for his second hit and the Giants' fourth score of the day.

2018 Collegiate National Team alum Andre Pallante went a season-high seven innings in the Cardinals' 3-2 win over the Pirates in extra innings. Entering the game having been awarded the win in three of his last four starts, Pallante continued his solid run of form with five strikeouts for the third straight game. He limited Pittsburgh to four hits and a walk, exiting having allowed just one run on the day.

JULY 3

Riley Greene and the Detroit Tigers enjoyed a dominant 9-2 win over the Minnesota Twins on Wednesday at Target Field. After a scoreless first two innings, Greene reached base on an infield single and would later be pushed home on a grand slam to put his squad up 4-0. The 2018 18U National Team alum wanted in on the home run action, cranking a two-run homer of his own in the top of the fifth to put the Tigers up by six runs. Greene added a triple in the first frame, finishing one double shy of hitting for the cycle. The former first rounder finished his night going 3-for-4 with two RBIs and two runs scored.

2019 Professional Team alum Brent Rooker crushed a home run that traveled 389 feet in the Oakland A's 5-0 victory over the Los Angeles Angels. With the A's up 3-0 headed into the sixth frame, Rooker added to the lead with a homer, notching home run number 17 on the season. The Germantown, Tennessee native added singles in both the third and seventh inning as well. In his last five games, Rooker has tallied seven hits to go along with four RBIs.

Alec Bohm smacked a home run to left center, helping the Phillies roll to a 5-3 win over the Chicago Cubs. The 2019 Professional Team alum began his night with a two-run shot over the left center wall to put the Phillies up 3-2 in the top of the sixth. Bohm continued his efforts at the plate with a single in the eighth. Bohm reached second on a passed ball and scored in the ensuing at-bat to put the Phillies up by two runs. In the 2024 season, Bohm owns a .299 batting average with 70 RBIs.

Kansas City's Michael Wacha hurled six strong frames, propelling the Royals in their 4-2 win over the Tampa Bay Rays on Wednesday at Kauffman Stadium. After giving up one run in the top of the first inning, Wacha locked in and registered eight punchouts over the next five frames. In his six frames of action, Wacha only gave up two hits to keep the Rays off of the scoreboard. Wacha, a 2011 Collegiate National Team alum, has 28 strikeouts in his last five appearances on the bump.

JULY 2

Trea Turner mashed a pair of 400-foot homers to lift the Phillies over the Cubs at Wrigley Field, finishing 3-for-5 with four RBIs and a pair of runs scored in a 6-4 Philadelphia win. Turner decked his first homer 422 feet into center during the third inning, a solo effort to give the Phillies a 3-0 advantage. Turner went yard for the second time in the fifth inning, again going deep to left center with a 439-foot moonshot for a 5-1 lead. Already having decked a pair of home runs in a game for the first time this season, Turner wasn't finished. The three-time USA Baseball alum raked an RBI single into right in the seventh inning for Philadelphia's sixth and final run on the day.

2017 18U alum Nolan Gorman went long in the Cardinals' 7-4 win over the Pirates on Tuesday, crushing his second career grand slam. With St. Louis leading 2-0 in the fourth inning, Gorman cranked a 415-foot rocket into the left center stands at PNC Park that gave his side a 6-0 advantage. He finished the game 2-for-4, adding a single through center in the sixth inning.

JULY I

Christian Yelich went 2-for-5, notching two runs scored and a stolen base in the Milwaukee Brewers 8-7 loss to the Colorado Rockies on Monday at Coors Field. After going to 3-0, Yelich reached base with a single to right field in the top of the fourth, later making his way around the base path to cut the deficit to just one. The 2017 World Baseball Classic alum smacked a triple in his next at-bat in the eighth inning which allowed him to sneak home in the ensuing at-bat. The two squads were locked at seven runs after the ninth, pushing the game into an extra inning where the Brewers would eventually fall just short. Yelich now owns a .323 batting average on the season while collecting 19 stolen bases along the way.

The Nationals' Jesse Winker nabbed a clutch RBI in the bottom of the eighth inning in his squads' 9-7 extra-inning loss to the New York Mets. The Nationals tallied two runs in the third inning, jumping out quickly to a two-run lead. The Mets fired back with three runs of their own in the sixth frame, displaying that the contest would be a battle between the two for the win. With tension high, the Nationals called on Winker to sub in as a designated hitter in the bottom of the eighth which proved beneficial as he found his way to first base via a walk. At first, the 2011 18U National Team alum demonstrated his speed as he crossed all of the bases to tie the game at three runs. With the game knotted at three, the game went into a tenth frame. The Mets rattled off six runs and it was all up to the Nationals to respond at the plate. Winker took note of that, making his way to the dish and delivering a RBI double to cut the lead to five. The Nationals pulled within two runs but ultimately it was the Mets that walked away with the win. Winker has now registered 38 RBIs in the 2024 season.

2014 15U National Team alum Mark Vientos was on the other side of the Mets and Nationals tenth inning game, helping his squad top the Nationals with a crucial RBI. With the Mets down by two runs, Vientos slashed an RBI single to left field to cut the deficit to just one. After a fielding error in the next at-bat, Vientos found his way home to put his squad up 3-2 in the top of the sixth. Vientos added a double in the top of the fourth to complete his night. In his last three games, Vientos has notched five total hits while adding five RBIs in that span.
